BRITISH PLANE DOWN NEAR NIS

Reported Forced Down By Signals From Yugoslav Combat Aircraft

NO CASUALTIES REPORTED TO ALLIED HEADQUARTERS

ROME, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A British airplane was forced down yesterday near Nis, Yugoslavia, reports from both Belgrade and allied headquarters at Caserta said today.

Allied headquarters said in a statement that advices received from Belgrade indicated there were no casualties and said "it is believed the craft landed as a result of signals from Yugoslav combat aircraft."

The reports were in conflict as to the type of plane. Allied headquarters said the craft was believed to be a courier plane flying between Bari, Italy, and Bucharest, via Belgrade, Yugoslavia. British courier planes have been using this route for months.

A dispatch from Belgrade, however, said that a brief newspaper account of the incident had described the craft as a combat plane.

The British war office and air ministry said in London they had no information on the subject, but it was recalled that Marshal Tito had repeatedly made vehement protests against flights of "foreign planes" over his territory.

Nis is approximately 40 miles west of the Bulgarian border, on the crow-flight line between Bari and Bucharest, and is on the other side of Yugoslavia from the district where two U. S. army transport planes were

39 TO BE BURIED IN SINGLE GRAVE

Tons Of Blasted Granite Will Cover Plane Crash Victims

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The 39 victims of the crash of an American overseas airliner will be buried under tons of granite blasted from the face of a rugged precipice where they met their death, airline officials said today.

An engineer of the U. S. army air transport command and 25 Newfoundland civilians, carrying 300 pounds of dynamite, set out for the scene of the crash to touch off the explosion which will cover the ashes of the plane and its passengers.

The explosion, scheduled late today or tomorrow, will erase the ugly black scar burned Thursday into the side of the mountain by the flaming plane. Lieut. Carlton W. Hardin of Breckenridge, Tex., planned to set off the blast.

Funeral services will be held, probably tomorrow afternoon, from a plane circling the site of the worst tragedy in the history of commercial aviation. A Protestant minister, a Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi are expected to conduct services aboard the plane.

Capt. Stephen T. Moyer, of Chicago, Catholic chaplain of the ATC base at Harmon Field, near here, said a requiem mass this morning for the victims. He will officiate from the plane tomorrow, along with Capt. Richard E. Pritchard, Protestant chaplain from Fort Pepperrell, and a Jewish rabbi to be flown from New York.

An acre plot of ground surrounding the jutting cliff, within sight of the broad runways of Harmon Field, will be set aside as the cemetery.

Officials of the airline said in New York that they would do all in their power to comply with the wishes of the next of kin in regard to the funeral arrangements.

A special plane will fly flowers to Harmon Field from New York. Floral crosses and Stars of David will be taken overland to the scene of the crash, and other flowers will be dropped from a plane over the site.

The aerial funeral services will be similar to those conducted over the wreckage of a Belgian Sabena airliner which crashed near the Gander airport Sept. 18 causing the deaths of 27 persons.

EARL CARROLL IS KIDNAPED, ROBBED

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Earl Carroll, balding producer of girl shows in Hollywood and on Broadway, was kidnaped and robbed today by a well-dressed young gunman as he entered his luxurious home before dawn, but was released unharmed several miles away, almost in the heart of downtown Hollywood.

Soon after, police in San Bernardino forced Carroll's custom-built car to the curb after firing four shots, and arrested its occupant, booking him as Lawrence Striplin, 26, on suspicion of grand theft and armed robbery.

Police Capt. James W. Ellis said Striplin admitted the robbery but said he had no idea whose home he was entering.

Dreamboat Near Mediterranean On Single Hop From Honolulu

In Radio Contact With Foggia Airbase In Southern Italy

CAIRO, Sunday, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Pascusan Dreamboat radioed at 2:20 a. m. eastern Mediterranean time today (7:20 p. m. E. S. T., Saturday) that it was flying through an electrical storm and asked for weather conditions over the Mediterranean between Greece and Cairo, the U. S. army air transport command reported.

ROME, Sunday, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Nearing the Mediterranean on its Honolulu-to-Cairo non-stop flight, the Pascusan Dreamboat was in radio contact with Foggia airbase in southern Italy at 1:25 a. m., Greenwich mean time today (8:25 p. m. EST, Saturday), Ciampino airport outside Rome reported.

When it flew over France, the U. S. army plane reported that it was flying at 16,000 feet, but did not furnish ground watchers an exact geographical "fix." At 10:55 p. m., GMT, the officer said, the Dreamboat was believed to have reached a spot southeast of Lyon.

The Orly field control tower advised the B-29 that a low pressure area was building up in the Adriatic sea and advised the pilot to steer a course just west of Geneva, Switzerland, in crossing the Alps.

The Dreamboat reported to Orly field that it had set an estimated time of arrival over Foggia airport in southeastern Italy at 12:30 a. m., GMT, Sunday (7:30 p. m., EST, Saturday).

The plane, despite uncharted weather in the extreme north above the Hudson Bay, had averaged around 250 miles an hour since its takeoff from among the palms of Hawaii.

DIVORCEE'S BODY FOUND SLASHED

Tufts Of Hair Pulled Out As Victim Battles With Assailant

DETROIT, Oct. 5—(AP)—The beaten and slashed body of Mrs. Josephine Tracy Rose, 38, a divorcee, was found today in the basement laundry room of the apartment building in which she lived.

Her slack-clad body lay in a pool of blood, an outstretched hand clutching a few short hairs that police said may have come from her slayer's head.

There was no immediate evidence of any rape attempt, officers added.

A janitor and a number of tenants in the building were taken to police headquarters for questioning but homicide squad officials said they were not suspects.

Mrs. Rose's only son, Ralph, 21, arrived from Ann Arbor where he is a University of Michigan student to find police in the Rose apartment. He broke down in tears as he identified his mother's battered body.

Her crushed forehead, bloody footprints on the laundry floor and tufts of hair all out the room led officers to surmise that Mrs. Rose had put up a battle with her assailant.

The slayer apparently used both a

Ship Strike Parleys Fizzle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Ship strike negotiations blew up tonight in an exchange of recriminations with no prospect of peace over the weekend.

The talks were called off until Monday at 2 P. M., EST, and there were no indications of a quick agreement then.

Unions blamed the operators, operators blamed the unions, and both assailed the government.

The disputants had spent all afternoon working over a government plan which Warren said was designed to "completely settle" the walkout of A. F. L. deck officers and C. I. O. engineroom officers on the east and gulf coasts. It would have left the strike still in effect against private operators in the Pacific.

Warren said his proposition was that the terms of settlement finally worked out by the unions and the east and gulf coast operators should become effective upon agreement by the west coast operators or upon an order from the maritime commission putting them into effect on its west coast ships.

The barrage of statements that concluded the session included these:

1. By the C. I. O. Marine Engineers Beneficial Association — an accusation that the commission had reversed a commitment to order such terms into effect on its west coast ships, and that the east and gulf coast operators had "reneged" on an agreement to negotiate on that basis.

2. By the commission—an announcement that it will authorize its agents to put into effect any agreement ac-

PORTER DEFENDS PRICE CEILINGS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Price Administrator Paul Porter told the meat-hungry nation today the issue is steak or stabilization.

Defending his price ceilings, he served new notice that "we shall maintain legal controls in the areas where shortages would produce runaway prices so long as we have the legal power to do so."

Porter also said, however, that he is "as upset as anyone" by the meat shortage "and I can assure you we are working on it."

At the White House, too, Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary, told reporters the whole matter was discussed at a cabinet meeting yesterday but "all I can say is that no angle has been overlooked."

Porter, in his weekly broadcast, reported in connection with the meat shortage "a dangerous public psychology that could result in nullifying all the gains that have been made" in the battle against inflation.

He said he sees signs of such reaction among the people and that "there has been no crisis in the past five years of our fight for stabilization in which the danger of losing the battle against inflation was more serious."

Calling attention to "favorable economic factors" such as mounting production and prospects of dropping unit costs, Porter said that he never had been more confident since the new OPA law was passed that the stabilization fight can be won.

He described impatience with price controls as "understandable," but called on the people not to let "petty irritations or group selfishness" undermine policies which he said are

RED RIVER VALLEY STATION SITE FIXED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—The Louisiana State University board of supervisors, after a day-long session of heated discussion, today fixed the site of a Red river valley agricultural experiment station in the Bossier-Caddo area, contingent on the ability of interested parties in the area to obtain additional frontage of the site on highway 71.

The board also adopted a resolution rejecting all bids received to date on the Bienville hotel property in New Orleans and placing the property on sale at a public auction at the university in Baton Rouge at 10 o'clock November 10. The resolution stipulated that no sum less than $750,000 would be accepted at the auction. The highest bid that had been received for the property in previous advertisements for sale had been about $655,000.

In other actions at the afternoon session the board approved the expenditure of $200,000 to expand the home economics buildings on the L. S. U. campus, and the expenditure of $25,500 to purchase equipment for food preservation.

The board was advised that President W. B. Hatcher of the university had been informed by the state civil service commission that contemplated pay raises for university employees in the lower wage brackets would cost the university about $25,000 addition per year.

The site finally selected is known as the Curtis property, located on highway 71 about seven miles from Shreveport. At present some 528 acres are available at this site.

CIVIC CAMPAIGN STARTS OCT. 14

Community Chest, Sponsor Of Many Local Groups, To Solicit Funds

The annual campaign of the Twin City Community Chest will get under way on Monday, October 14, and it is the hope of the executive directors that the campaign may be completed in two weeks. Committees have been appointed and the organization of the drive perfected, and publicity will open during the current week.

The budgets of the ten participating social agencies have been approved and the overall goal for the drive has been set up on thoroughly business-like lines. The goal in its entirety, and the requests by the different agencies individually, are certified to the people of Monroe and West Monroe on the integrity of a considerable number of the cities' most outstanding business men and women as being the absolute minimum that will enable these ten agencies to meet the demands on them for service during 1947.

The Community Chest is not a hand-out organization, nor are its agencies as a whole engaged merely in giving something away free. What its agencies give more than anything else is opportunity to people to help themselves, an opportunity not available otherwise.

The days ahead when those most able to give will be called on to pledge the most they feel they can afford, will make or break this year's Community Chest drive. What happens then largely will determine local community responsibility in many years to come. This is the first postwar year and the future, as well as the present, patterns are being drawn now. The gifts to the chest are recognized as a necessary public expense, subject to tax deduction.

The funds raised will be applied to the budgets of Boy Scouts of America, Colored Community Welfare, Ouachita Parish Girl Scouts, Monroe Maternity Clinic, Red Shield Boys Club, Salvation Army, Social Service Exchange, Y. W. C. A., Twin Cities P.-T. A. Schools' Lunch Program, and West Monroe Welfare. The work of these agencies is well known in the Twin Cities. Everybody benefits when community resources keep diseases down, keep health and welfare up, and keep children, the aged and the physically handicapped protected. The welfare of the community is protected through a single campaign, and the slogan of the national drive is "Everybody Benefits—Everybody Gives."

In a recent address, Thomas W.

MOTHER TORTURED WITH RAZOR, FIRE

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—(AP)—Her clothing torn to shreds, a 24-year-old mother of two children told police today she was seized by a man near her home, bound with rope and then tortured with a razor and a lighted cigarette.

The victim, Mrs. Thelma Breen, was treated at a hospital where physicians said eight stitches were required to close a cut on her right breast. The woman suffered also from cigarette burns. Mrs. Breen, who is expecting another child, told police her assailant fled when her moans attracted neighbors.

The cast of the next Little Theatre play is an exceptionally skilled one and here they are and the reasons for their selection: ANNIE SUE MILLER, student majoring in speech for four years in Northwestern State College and skilled in dramatics; BID CAUSEY, graduate of L. S. U., familiar with radio technique and an overseas graduate of L. S. U., familiar with radio technique and an overseas GI for two years; PAUL DUET, French instructor at N. J. C., popular in Little Theatre when he was here about four years ago. He has had amateur theatrical experience in Paris and went through some stirring experiences in the Ninth air force in England, France and Belgium; ELIZABETH N. P. WHITFIELD once claimed England as home. She studied dramatics in Scotland University in Glasgow, and in the war participated in the Royal Air Force shows in London and Cambridgeshire, England; FRANK BREESE, a veteran Little Theatre member and of its organizers. He saw armed service for five years in Hawaii, Guam, and later in Luzon; JUDY CARAWAY, is well known in local Little Theatre circles in past productions both on and back of the stage; JERRY JUNEMAN, majored in speech in L. S. U. and participated in back stage operations of the L. S. U. opera; MRS. R. O. WATSON, studied speech at the University of Arkansas and has been active in dramatics in Dallas, Tex. Also she has lectured on psychology in the same city. With such a galaxy of stars we see no chance of the new Little Theatre failing to enjoy its most brilliant season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Fortenberry are as delighted as parents can be when their offspring has been recognized publicly for his skill in some line. They just received word that their son, Tommie, a senior in L. S. U., has been elected head cheer leader of the university. Tommie is completing a course in commerce.

ARABS AND BRITISH OPENLY EXPRESS ANGER AT TRUMAN

By Ed Creagh

LONDON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Arabs and British officials openly nursed their anger at President Truman today, but dissent within Britain over the government's Palestine policy entered the picture.

The foreign office confirming previous reports, said Prime Minister Attlee had sent a personal note to President Truman and went even farther than yesterday in expressing resentment over the president's refusal to delay publication of his statement advocating the immediate admission of a substantial number of Jewish immigrants into the Holy Land.

Winston Churchill, former prime minister, openly criticised the government's Palestine policy in a speech to a Conservative party convention at Blackpool, declaring it was "vacillating" and an abandonment of "lavish promises" made to the Jews by the Labor party before it took office.

He added that the government was hanging on to a mandate "in which they have no vital interest." Foreign office officials have said emphatically that Britain has no intention of giving up her mandate and may ask the United Nations to confirm it.

A source close to Attlee said dissension over Palestine also was one of several matters on which former Minister of State Philip Noel-Baker had disagreed with the government. Noel-Baker was shifted to an secretary in a series of cabinet and ministerial changes announced last night.

Colonial Secretary George Hall and War Secretary J. J. Lawson, two cabinet chiefs directly concerned with Palestine, also were involved in the shifts, although there were no signs that these were the results of a rift.

The foreign office spokesman left the impression that the Attlee note to President Truman was couched in strong language. He said he did not expect the British government would make it public. It was learned, however, that it was a reply to the president's public outline of his views.

The spokesman underlined the British official view that Britain under its League of Nations mandate

2 NAZIS SPIRITED OUT OF JAIL AND GIVEN FREEDOM

By Tom Reedy

NUERNBERG, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Two of the three acquitted top nazi leaders were spirited out of jail and given final freedom today by United States military authorities amid a growing uproar among Germans that the three be tried in German courts for crimes against their own people.

Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's banker, and Hans Fritzsche, propagandist, were released from prison and installed in downtown apartments. Franz von Papen, the diplomat, remained in jail waiting formal word on whether he could enter the British zone. A British spokesman in the zone said entry was barred to all three.

The U. S. army made it clear that Schacht and Fritzsche were free to come and go as they please "pending trial" by German denazification courts, but reports from all over Germany told of demands that all three be brought before German tribunals on charges of crimes against their own people.

In Berlin 5,000 persons, jamming a variety theater in the Soviet sector of the city, gave thunderous approval to a resolution that not only the three acquitted nazis, but also the seven who received prison sentences, be delivered "to a German court here immediately."

"Give us von Papen to try in the shattered Reichschancellery, Schacht in the battered Reichsbank and Fritzsche under the radio tower!" shouted one speaker.

In Bremen highest German political officials of the British and American zones adopted unanimously a formal resolution that the three nazis acquitted by the international military tribunal Tuesday be tried by a German court on a charge of "crimes against the German people."

In Munich Dr. Anton Pfeiffer, chief denazification officer for Bavaria, appealed anew to American military government officials to turn over the three for trial by a denazification court. If convicted they could be sentenced to hard labor.

Meanwhile all but three of the high nazis convicted by the tribunal filed appeals for clemency with the Allied

Set $1,350,000,000 Reparations Bill

Fourteen Tired, Disheveled Delegates On Balkan Economic Commission Cry 'Hurrah' As Task Is Concluded

By Louis Nevin

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Fourteen tired, disheveled and unshaven delegates cried "Hurrah!" today as the Balkan economic commission ended a 28-hour session which completed the preliminary drafting of five peace treaties with the former satellites of Nazi Germany.

When Commission Chairman Josef Korbel banged his gavel in adjournment it meant that the commission had completed its share of the writing of a reparations bill which if approved will cost Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland $1,350,000,000 for helping Adolf Hitler set the world on fire.

Monday morning the delegates of the 21 nations to the European peace conference will meet in plenary session to begin the final stage of treaty writing that is scheduled to end on Oct. 15. Then they will turn their treaty recommendations over to the Big Four foreign ministers, who will have the final say.

A special plenary session will be held tomorrow to consider rules limiting debate and the schedule laid down by the foreign ministers council.

Official French sources said it would be necessary to hold continuous 24-hour sessions in order to adhere to the schedule and meet the Oct. 15 deadline.

Soviet sources indicated they would bring up tomorrow the matter of nonbelligerent states voting on final ballots, foreshadowing a dispute on procedure even before the session gets down to the matter of treaties.

The Italian political commission, scene of frequent battles between the Slav bloc and the Western powers, concluded its work on a note of harmony.

When the commission approved unanimously its final report Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky thanked Chairman Lief Egeland of South Africa for guiding "our ship across the tempestuous sea of our discussions, to a port which is perhaps not the final one, but which is a step on the way."

He said Egeland had all of the "17 virtues" and added that he was confident the "spirit of cooperation shown in this commission will spread to international relations in general."

Visibly moved, Egeland replied with his thanks in the three official languages of the conference—"thank you, merci, spasibo."

The Balkan economic commission worked from 10 a. m. Friday morning to 2:40 p. m. today and engaged in 16 hours and 30 minutes of actual debate to complete the allotment of reparations to be paid by Finland and Bulgaria.

Italy—$225,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia, Greece and Ethiopia.

Romania — $300,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Bulgaria—$125,000,000 to Greece and Yugoslavia.

Hungary — $300,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Finland—$300,000,000 to Russia.

A total of $800,000,000 goes to the Soviet Union, $60,000,000 to Czechoslovakia, $25,000,000 to Ethiopia, $240,000,000 to Yugoslavia and $100,000,000 to Greece. In addition the foreign ministers' council is to divide the $125,000,000 to be paid by Bulgaria between Yugoslavia and Greece.

JONES CONVICTED IN PINCUS DEATH

Verdict Carries Mandatory Sentence Of Death In Louisiana

CONVENT, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—Alonzo "Blackie" Jones was found guilty of the murder of Irving Pincus, Shreveport army corporal, by a jury of 12 here tonight.

The jury required only 19 minutes to reach its verdict, a verdict which carries a mandatory sentence of death in Louisiana.

Jones has been on trial since Monday. Pincus was shot to death after picking up the hitch-hiking Jones near Shreveport, the prosecution charged. Jones is also charged with shooting to death Walter J. Smith of Long Beach, Calif., and wounding Gordon Ray of Electra, Tex., both of whom were members of the party. Ray has testified in court that Jones is "the man who shot me."

As the verdict was read by Judge Henry L. Himel, Jones lurched to his feet, but was quickly seized by two deputy sheriffs. He walked out of the courtroom staring straight ahead, his chin quivering.

The shooting occurred without provocation, one witness testified, when the party made a brief stop along the road.

The defense attempted today to show that Jones was suffering from an epileptic condition, but Dr. Edmond Connerly, New Orleans neuropsychiatric specialist, said there was nothing in his examination or trial evidence to indicate that the defendant was an epileptic.

Dr. Connerly, a rebuttal witness for the state, said:

"I do not believe any victim of epilepsy could produce details such as are contained in Jones' confessions, even several days after, unless he were put under an influence like hypnotism or something similar.

Jones, on the stand today, repudiated the second of two confessions which the police attributed to him, saying that he had signed it because he was "nervous, scared, tired and hungry." He said he could not remember details of the first.

During cross-examination of Dr. Connerly, Sigur Martin, chief defense counsel, reviewed the defendant's life and asked the witness:

"Assuming all this, would it seem reasonable to presume there was an epileptic condition?"

In addition to Pincus, Jones is accused of shooting to death Walter J. Smith, a salesman of Long Beach, Calif., [illegible] passenger in the car. After the shooting Jones was arrested on a farm near Mobile, Ala., where

HULL'S CONDITION STILL IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Cordell Hull's condition continued to improve today, the naval medical center reported, but is still regarded as serious.

The 75-year-old former secretary of state had been reported in grave condition earlier in the week, after suffering a stroke at the Bethesda, Md., hospital.

Slight improvement of Hull's condition was noted by the hospital in its daily bulletins today. At 4 p. m. E. S. T. the hospital reported:

"Mr. Hull has continued to show some improvement during the day. However his condition is still regarded as serious."

T., Saturday) that it was flying through an electrical storm and asked for weather conditions over the Mediterranean between Greece and Cairo, the U. S. army air transport command reported.

ROME, Sunday, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Nearing the Mediterranean on its Honolulu-to-Cairo non-stop flight, the Pascusan Dreamboat was in radio contact with Foggia airbase in southern Italy at 1:25 a. m., Greenwich mean time today (8:25 p. m. EST., Saturday), Ciampino airport outside Rome reported.

When it flew over France, the U. S. army plane reported that it was flying at 16,000 feet, but did not furnish ground watchers an exact geographical "fix." At 10:55 p. m., GMT, the officer said, the Dreamboat was believed to have reached a spot southeast of Lyon.

The Orly field control tower advised the B-29 that a low pressure area was building up in the Adriatic sea and advised the pilot to steer a course just west of Geneva, Switzerland, in crossing the Alps.

The Dreamboat reported to Orly field that it had set an estimated time of arrival over Foggia airport in southeastern Italy at 12:30 a. m., GMT, Sunday (7:30 p. m., EST, Saturday).

The plane, despite uncharted weather in the extreme north above the Hudson Bay, had averaged around 250 miles an hour since its takeoff from among the palms of Hawaii.

DIVORCEE'S BODY FOUND SLASHED

DETROIT, Oct. 5—(AP)—The beaten and slashed body of Mrs. Josephine Tracy Rose, 38, a divorcee, was found today in the basement laundry room of the apartment building in which she lived.

Her slack-clad body lay in a pool of blood, an outstretched hand clutching a few short hairs that police said may have come from her slayer's head.

There was no immediate evidence of any rape attempt, officers added.

A janitor and a number of tenants in the building were taken to police headquarters for questioning but homicide squad officials said they were not suspects.

Mrs. Rose's only son, Ralph, 21, arrived from Ann Arbor where he is a University of Michigan student to find police in the Rose apartment. He broke down in tears as he identified his mother's battered body.

Her crushed forehead, bloody footprints on the laundry floor and tufts of hair about the room led officers to surmise that Mrs. Rose had put up a battle with her assailant.

The slayer apparently used both a

Ship Strike Parleys Fizzle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Ship strike negotiations blew up tonight in an exchange of recriminations with no prospect of peace over the weekend.

The talks were called off until Monday at 2 P. M., EST, and there were no indications of a quick agreement then.

Unions blamed the operators, operators blamed the unions, and both assailed the government.

The disputants had spent all afternoon working over a government plan which Warren said was designed to "completely settle" the walkout of A. F. L. deck officers and C. I. O. engineroom officers on the east and gulf coasts. It would have left the strike still in effect against private operators in the Pacific.

Warren said his proposition was that the terms of settlement finally worked out by the unions and the east and gulf coast operators should become effective upon agreement by the west coast operators or upon an order from the maritime commission putting them into effect on its west coast ships.

The barrage of statements that concluded the session included these:

1. By the C. I. O. Marine Engineers Beneficial Association — an accusation that the commission had reversed a commitment to order such terms into effect on its west coast ships, and that the east and gulf coast operators had "reneged" on an agreement to negotiate on that basis.

2. By the commission—an announcement that it will authorize its agents to put into effect any agreement ac-

PORTER DEFENDS PRICE CEILINGS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Price Administrator Paul Porter told the meat-hungry nation today the issue is steak or stabilization.

Defending his price ceilings, he served new notice that 'we shall maintain legal controls in the areas where shortages would produce runaway prices so long as we have the legal power to do so."

Porter also said, however, that he is "as upset as anyone" by the meat shortage "and I can assure you we are working on it."

At the White House, too, Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary, told reporters the whole matter was discussed at a cabinet meeting yesterday but "all I can say is that no angle has been overlooked."

Porter, in his weekly broadcast, reported in connection with the meat shortage "a dangerous public psychology that could result in nullifying all the gains that have been made" in the battle against inflation.

He said he sees signs of such reaction among the people and that "there has been no crisis in the past five years of our fight for stabilization in which the danger of losing the battle against inflation was more serious."

Calling attention to "favorable economic factors" such as mounting production and prospects of dropping unit costs, Porter said that he never had been more confident since the new OPA law was passed that the stabilization fight can be won.

He described impatience with price controls as "understandable," but called on the people not to let "petty irritations or group selfishness" undermine policies which he said are

RED RIVER VALLEY STATION SITE FIXED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—The Louisiana State University board of supervisors, after a day-long session of heated discussion, today fixed the site of a Red river valley agricultural experiment station in the Bossier-Caddo area, contingent on the ability of interested parties in the area to obtain additionl frontage of the site on highway 71.

The board also adopted a resolution rejecting all bids received to date on the Bienville hotel property in New Orleans and placing the property on sale at a public auction at the university in Baton Rouge at 10 o'clock November 10. The resolution stipulated that no sum less than $750,000 would be accepted at the auction. The highest bid that had been received for the property in previous advertisements for sale had been about $655,000.

In other actions at the afternoon session the board approved the expenditure of $200,000 to expand the home economics buildings on the L. S. U. campus, and the expenditure of $25,000 to purchase equipment for food preservation.

The board was advised that President W. B. Hatcher of the university had been informed by the state civil service commission that contemplated pay raises for university employees in the lower wage brackets would cost the university about $25,000 addition per year.

The site finally selected is known as the Curtis property, located on highway 71 about seven miles from Shreveport. At present some 528 acres are available at this site.

CIVIC CAMPAIGN STARTS OCT. 14

Community Chest, Sponsor Of Many Local Groups, To Solicit Funds

The annual campaign of the Twin City Community Chest will get under way on Monday, October 14, and it is the hope of the executive directors that the campaign may be completed in two weeks. Committees have been appointed and the organization of the drive perfected, and publicity will open during the current week.

The budgets of the ten participating social agencies have been approved and the overall goal for the drive has been set up on thoroughly business-like lines. The goal in its entirety, and the requests by the different agencies individually, are certified to the people of Monroe and West Monroe on the integrity of a considerable number of the cities' most outstanding business men and women as being the absolute minimum that will enable these ten agencies to meet the demands on them for service during 1947.

The Community Chest is not a hand-out organization, nor are its agencies as a whole engaged merely in giving something away free. What its agencies give more than anything else is opportunity to people to help themselves, an opportunity not available otherwise.

The days ahead when those most able to give will be called on to pledge the most they feel they can afford, will make or break this year's Community Chest drive. What happens then largely will determine local community responsibility in many years to come. This is the first postwar year and the future, as well as the present, patterns are being drawn now. The gifts to the chest are recognized as a necessary public expense, subject to tax deduction.

The funds raised will be applied to the budgets of Boy Scouts of America, Colored Community Welfare, Ouachita Parish Girl Scouts, Monroe Maternity Clinic, Red Shield Boys Club, Salvation Army, Social Service Exchange, Y. W. C. A., Twin Cities P.-T. A. Schools' Lunch Program, and West Monroe Welfare. The work of these agencies is well known in the Twin Cities. Everybody benefits when community resources keep diseases down, keep health and welfare up, and keep children, the aged and the physically handicapped protected. The welfare of the community is protected through a single campaign, and the slogan of the national drive is "Everybody Benefits —Everybody Gives."

MOTHER TORTURED WITH RAZOR, FIRE

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Her clothing torn to shreds, a 24-year-old mother of two children told police today she was seized by a man near her home, bound with rope and then tortured with a razor and a lighted cigarette.

The victim, Mrs. Thelma Breen, was treated at a hospital where physicians said eight stitches were required to close a cut on her right breast. The woman suffered also from cigarette burns. Mrs. Breen, who is expecting another child, told police her assailant fled when her moans attracted neighbors.

The cast of the next Little Theatre play is an exceptionally skilled one and here they are and the reasons for their selection: ANNIE SUE MILLER, student majoring in speech for four years in Northwestern State College and skilled in dramatics; BID CAUSEY, graduate of L. S. U., familiar with radio technique and an overseas graduate of L. S. U., familiar with radio technique and an overseas GI for two years; PAUL DUET, French instructor at N. J. C., popular in Little Theatre when he was here about four years ago. He has had amateur theatrical experience in Paris and went through some stirring experiences in the Ninth air force in England, France and Belgium; ELIZABETH N. P. WHITFIELD once claimed England as home. She studied dramatics in Scotland University in Glasgow, and in the war participated in the Royal Air Force shows in London and Cambridgeshire, England; FRANK BREESE, a veteran Little Theatre member and of its organizers. He saw armed service for five years in Hawaii, Guam, and later in Luzon; JUDY CARAWAY, is well known in local Little Theatre circles in past productions both on and back of the stage; JERRY JUNEMAN, majored in speech in L. S. U. and participated in back stage operations of the L. S. U. opera; MRS. R. O. WATSON, studied speech at the University of Arkansas and has been active in dramatics in Dallas, Tex. Also she has lectured on psychology in the same city. With such a galaxy of stars we see no chance of the new Little Theatre failing to enjoy its most brilliant season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Fortenberry are as delighted as parents can be when their offspring has been recognized publicly for his skill in some line. They just received word that their son, Tommie, a senior in L. S. U., has been elected head cheer leader of the university. Tommie is completing a course in commerce.

Set $1,350,000,000 Reparations Bill

By Louis Nevin

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Fourteen tired, disheveled and unshaven delegates cried "Hurrah!" today as the Balkan economic commission ended a 28-hour session which completed the preliminary drafting of five peace treaties with the former satellites of Nazi Germany.

When Commission Chairman Josef Korbel banged his gavel in adjournment it meant that the commission had completed its share of the writing of a reparations bill which if approved will cost Italy, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland $1,350,000,000 for helping Adolf Hitler set the world on fire.

Monday morning the delegates of the 21 nations to the European peace conference will meet in plenary session to begin the final stage of treaty writing that is scheduled to end on Oct. 15. Then they will turn their treaty recommendations over to the Big Four foreign ministers, who will have the final say.

A special plenary session will be held tomorrow to consider rules limiting debate and the schedule laid down by the foreign ministers council.

Official French sources said it would be necessary to hold continuous 24-hour sessions in order to adhere to the schedule and meet the Oct. 15 deadline.

Soviet sources indicated they would bring up tomorrow the matter of nonbelligerent states voting on final ballots, foreshadowing a dispute on procedure even before the session gets down to the matter of treaties.

The Italian political commission, scene of frequent battles between the Slav bloc and the Western powers, concluded its work on a note of harmony.

When the commission approved unanimously its final report Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky thanked Chairman Lief Egeland of South Africa for guiding "our ship across the tempestuous sea of our discussions, to a port which is perhaps not the final one, but which is a step on the way."

He said Egeland had all of the "17 virtues" and added that he was confident the "spirit of cooperation shown in this commission will spread to international relations in general."

Visibly moved, Egeland replied with his thanks in the three official languages of the conference—"thank you, merci, spasibo."

The Balkan economic commission worked from 10 a. m. Friday morning to 2:40 p. m. today and engaged in 16 hours and 30 minutes of actual debate to complete the allotment of reparations to be paid by Finland and Bulgaria.

Italy—$325,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia, Greece and Ethiopia.

Romania — $300,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Bulgaria—$125,000,000 to Greece and Yugoslavia.

Hungary — $300,000,000 to Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Finland—$300,000,000 to Russia.

A total of $800,000,000 goes to the Soviet Union, $60,000,000 to Czechoslovakia, $25,000,000 to Ethiopia, $240,000,000 to Yugoslavia and $100,000,000 to Greece. In addition the foreign ministers' council is to divide the $125,000,000 to be paid by Bulgaria between Yugoslavia and Greece.

JONES CONVICTED IN PINCUS DEATH

Verdict Carries Mandatory Sentence Of Death In Louisiana

CONVENT, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—Alonzo "Blackie" Jones was found guilty of the murder of Irving Pincus, Shreveport army corporal, by a jury of 12 here tonight.

The jury required only 19 minutes to reach its verdict, a verdict which carries a mandatory sentence of death in Louisiana.

Jones has been on trial since Monday. Pincus was shot to death after picking up the hitch-hiking Jones near Shreveport, the prosecution charged. Jones is also charged with shooting to death Walter J. Smith of Long Beach, Calif., and wounding Gordon Ray of Electra, Tex., both of whom were members of the party. Ray has testified in court that Jones is "the man who shot me."

As the verdict was read by Judge Henry L. Himel, Jones lurched to his feet, but was quickly seized by two deputy sheriffs. He walked out of the courtroom staring straight ahead, his chin quivering.

The shooting occurred without provocation, one witness testified, when the party made a brief stop along the road.

The defense attempted today to show that Jones was suffering from an epileptic condition, but Dr. Edmond Connerly, New Orleans neuropsychiatric specialist, said there was nothing in his examination or trial evidence to indicate that the defendant was an epileptic.

Dr. Connerly, a rebuttal witness for the state, said:

"I do not believe any victim of epilepsy could produce details such as are contained in Jones' confessions, even several days after, unless he were put under an influence like hypnotism or something similar.

Jones, on the stand today, repudiated the second of two confessions which the police attributed to him, saying that he had signed it because he was "nervous, scared, tired and hungry." He said he could not remember details of the first.

"Assuming all this, would it seem reasonable to presume there was an epileptic condition?"

In addition to Pincus, Jones is accused of shooting to death Walter J. Smith, a salesman of Long Beach, Cal., another passenger in the car. After the shooting Jones was arrested on a farm near Mobile, Ala., where

DOWLING TO HEAD CONFEDERATE MEET

ATLANTA, Oct. 5.—(AP)—General Henry Taylor Dowling, 97, will leave tomorrow for Edgewater Park, Miss., where he will preside at the United Confederate Veterans' convention Monday and Tuesday.

The general has seen four wars come and go and thinks he has seen his last, but not so for the world. "We've got to have different people before wars end," he philosophized. "People just don't seem to 'gee' together these days."

He said he didn't know if any of the eight other Georgia surviving veterans would be at the Mississippi session, adding he expected the largest attendance to come from Texas and Oklahoma.

HULL'S CONDITION STILL IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—(AP)—Cordell Hull's condition continued to improve today, the naval medical center reported, but is still regarded as serious.

The 75-year-old former secretary of state had been reported in grave condition earlier in the week, after suffering a stroke at the Bethesda, Md., hospital.

Slight improvement of Hull's condition was noted by the hospital in its early bulletins today. At 4 p. m. E. S. T. the hospital reported:

By Ed Creagh

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Arabs and British officials openly nursed their anger at President Truman today, but dissent within Britain over the government's Palestine policy entered the picture.

The foreign office, confirming previous reports, said Prime Minister Attlee had sent a personal note to President Truman and went even farther than yesterday in expressing resentment over the president's refusal to delay publication of his statement advocating the immediate admission of a substantial number of Jewish immigrants into the Holy Land.

Winston Churchill, former prime minister, openly criticised the government's Palestine policy in a speech to a Conservative party convention at Blackpool, declaring it was "vacillating" and an abandonment of "lavish promises" made to the Jews by the Labor party before it took office.

He added that the government was hanging on to a mandate "in which they have no vital interest." Foreign office officials have said emphatically that Britain has no intention of giving up her mandate and may ask the United Nations to confirm it.

A source close to Attlee said dissension over Palestine also was one of several matters on which former Minister of State Philip Noel-Baker had disagreed with the government. Noel-Baker was shifted to air secretary in a series of cabinet and ministerial changes announced last night.

Colonial Secretary George Hall and War Secretary J. J. Lawson, two cabinet chiefs directly concerned with Palestine, also were involved in the shifts, although there were no signs that these were the results of a rift.

The foreign office spokesman left the impression that the Attlee note to President Truman was couched in strong language. He said he did not expect the British government would make it public. It was learned, however, that it was a reply to the president's public outline of his views.

The spokesman underlined the British official view that Britain under its League of Nations mandate

By Tom Reedy

NUERNBERG, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Two of the three acquitted top nazi leaders were spirited out of jail and given final freedom today by United States military authorities amid a growing uproar among Germans that the three be tried in German courts for crimes against their own people.

Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's banker, and Hans Fritzsche, propagandist, were released from prison and installed in downtown apartments. Franz von Papen, the diplomat, remained in jail waiting formal word on whether he could enter the British zone. A British spokesman in the zone said entry was barred to all three.

The U. S. army made it clear that Schacht and Fritzsche were free to come and go as they please "pending trial" by German denazification courts, but reports from all over Germany told of demands that all three be brought before German tribunals on charges of crimes against their own people.

In Berlin 5,000 persons, jamming a variety theater in the Soviet sector of the city, gave thunderous approval to a resolution that not only the three acquitted nazis, but also the seven who received prison sentences, be delivered "to a German court here immediately."

"Give us von Papen to try in the shattered Reichschancellery, Schacht in the battered Reichsbank and Fritzsche under the radio tower!" shouted one speaker.

In Bremen highest German political officials of the British and American zones adopted unanimously a formal resolution that the three nazis acquitted by the international military tribunal Tuesday be tried by a German court on a charge of "crimes against the German people."

In Munich Dr. Anton Pfeiffer, chief denazification officer for Bavaria, appealed anew to American military government officials to turn over the three for trial by a denazification court. If convicted they could be sentenced to hard labor.

Meanwhile all but three of the high nazis convicted by the tribunal filed appeals for clemency with the Allied

WINTER PASTURE NEED OF POULTRY

The difficulties that poultry growers have experienced in trying to buy feed this year emphasize the importance of winter pasturage in poultry production, according to Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, Home Demonstration agent for Ouachita parish. If winter pasturage has not been started at this time it should be now, stated Mrs. McQuiller. Such pastures will increase egg production, increase hatchability, contribute to the better health of the flock, and lower the feed cost per dozen eggs.

A flock of two hundred hens, the agent said, will need about a quarter of an acre of green feed. The best winter pasture crops for chickens are alfalfa, or crimson clover, crimson clover mixed with rye grass, or the small grains with either crimson clover or rye grass. Rye grass will be helpful in all mixtures, since it will stand grazing by poultry better than any other winter pasture crop. Heavy seeding of all poultry pastures is recommended.

If winter pastures cannot be provided, Mrs. McQuiller said, the next best thing is to save some green leafy alfalfa or lespedeza hay. Legume hay feed in racks or bales is second only to a green pasture.

P.-T. A. ENTERS HALF CENTURY

Proclamations Issued; Mayor Benoit Urges Membership Month

The P.-T. A. movement is now in its 50th year, states President Mabel W. Hughes, who heads the organization in the United States. She assures that this is a most momentous year for the group. She states as follows:

"We are beginning to realize that peace is something to work for, not something that arrives automatically the moment the bombings and machinegun fire have ceased. As we pay the price for war, we must pay a price for peace—not in lives, but in energy and effort and the ability to forsake self-interest for the common good.

"We, the members of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, have a part in this great mission to win and preserve the peace. We have set ourselves the responsibility of guiding and caring for the children of the world, so that they may build what we have failed to build—unit and harmony among nations. Each one of them, each one of all the millions of them, must receive his full and rightful measure of health, education and hope for happiness."

In carrying out this purpose she has issued a proclamation to all P.-T. A. groups of the country. Also here in Monroe, Mayor H. H. Benoit has also issued a proclamation along similar lines which reads as follows:

WHEREAS, the Parent-Teacher Association of Louisiana has for many years made many constructive contributions to the welfare of our state. They are part of the only national body devoted solely to the interests of children and young people in the home, school and community, and

WHEREAS, the Parent-Teacher program is a far-reaching one—it is in its broadcast sense a program for the conservation of our youth and their education for the duties and responsibilities of a good citizen in a free democracy; and

WHEREAS, because of this splendid work that has been accomplished, and because of the custom of setting aside a time each year to emphasize the purpose of Parent-Teacher organizations has become well established.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Harvey H. Benoit, mayor of the City of Monroe, do hereby designate the month of October, 1946, as "Parent-Teacher Membership Enrollment Morth" in Monroe, and I urge all of our citizens to join in its observance.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Seal of the City of Monroe, La., to be affixed, at the City Hall, Monroe, Louisiana, this 5th day of October, 1946.

H. H. BENOIT,
Mayor.

AGGIE CLUB AT N. J. C. ELECTS

Election of officers and discussion of a program for the current school year were main features of the first meeting this term of the Agriculture Club at Northeast Junior College.

The organization, which is sponsored by L. L. Price, head of the N. J. C. agriculture department, has planned tentatively to meet on the first and third Monday of each month.

Program and social committees are to be appointed at the next meeting.

Suggestions for the club's activities this year comprise field trips, including the state fair and stock shows, a study of parliamentary procedure, presentation of a series of papers based on study and research, and the annual Christmas banquet given jointly for the Agriculture and Home Economics clubs. For this special occasion, the Agriculture Club probably will raise the chickens that the menu usually includes, Mr. Price said.

This year's program will likely continue another custom, the preparation of papers based on reports made by the Louisiana Experimental Station, with added research done by students participating in the program. These studies have been used in the past as a means of keeping informed regarding experiments, inventions and new processes in agriculture.

With 73 students enrolled in agriculture this fall, the Agriculture Club should be one of the most active campus organizations, officers declare.

WINTER PASTURE NEED OF POULTRY

The difficulties that poultry growers have experienced in trying to buy feed this year emphasize the importance of winter pasturage in poultry production, according to Mrs. Jewel L. McQuiller, Home Demonstration agent for Ouachita parish. If winter pasturage has not been started at this time it should be now, stated Mrs. McQuiller. Such pastures will increase egg production, increase hatchability, contribute to the better health of the flock, and lower the feed cost per dozen eggs.

A flock of two hundred hens, the agent said, will need about a quarter of an acre of green feed. The best winter pasture crops for chickens are alfalfa, or crimson clover, crimson clover mixed with rye grass, or the small grains with either crimson clover or rye grass. Rye grass will be helpful in all mixtures, since it will stand grazing by poultry better than any other winter pasture crop. Heavy seeding of all poultry pastures is recommended.

If winter pastures cannot be provided, Mrs. McQuiller said, the next best thing is to save some green leafy alfalfa or lespedeza hay. Legume hay feed in racks or bales is second only to a green pasture.

P.-T. A. ENTERS HALF CENTURY

Proclamations Issued; Mayor Benoit Urges Membership Month

The P.-T. A. movement is now in its 50th year, states President Mabel W. Hughes, who heads the organization in the United States. She assures that this is a most momentous year for the group. She states as follows:

"We are beginning to realize that peace is something to work for, not something that arrives automatically the moment the bombings and machinegun fire have ceased. As we pay the price for war, we must pay a price for peace—not in lives, but in energy and effort and the ability to forsake self-interest for the common good.

"We, the members of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, have a part in this great mission to win and preserve the peace. We have set ourselves the responsibility of guiding and caring for the children of the world, so that they may build what we have failed to build—unit and harmony among nations. Each one of them, each one of all the millions of them, must receive his full and rightful measure of health, education and hope for happiness."

In carrying out this purpose she has issued a proclamation to all P.-T. A. groups of the country. Also here in Monroe, Mayor H. H. Benoit has also issued a proclamation along similar lines which reads as follows:

WHEREAS, the Parent-Teacher Association of Louisiana has for many years made many constructive contributions to the welfare of our state. They are part of the only national body devoted solely to the interests of children and young people in the home, school and community, and

WHEREAS, the Parent-Teacher program is a far-reaching one—it is in its broadcast sense a program for the conservation of our youth and their education for the duties and responsibilities of a good citizen in a free democracy; and

WHEREAS, because of this splendid work that has been accomplished, and because of the custom of setting aside a time each year to emphasize the purpose of Parent-Teacher organizations has become well established.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Harvey H. Benoit, mayor of the City of Monroe, do hereby designate the month of October, 1946, as "Parent-Teacher Membership Enrollment Month" in Monroe, and I urge all of our citizens to join in its observance.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the Seal of the City of Monroe, La., to be affixed, at the City Hall, Monroe, Louisiana, this 5th day of October, 1946.

H. H. BENOIT,
Mayor.

AGGIE CLUB AT N. J. C. ELECTS

Election of officers and discussion of a program for the current school year were main features of the first meeting this term of the Agriculture Club at Northeast Junior College.

The organization, which is sponsored by L. L. Price, head of the N. J. C. agriculture department, has planned tentatively to meet on the first and third Monday of each month.

Program and social committees are to be appointed at the next meeting.

Suggestions for the club's activities this year comprise field trips, including the state fair and stock shows, a study of parliamentary procedure, presentation of a series of papers based on study and research, and the annual Christmas banquet given jointly for the Agriculture and Home Economics clubs. For this special occasion, the Agriculture Club probably will raise the chickens that the menu usually includes, Mr. Price said.

This year's program will likely continue another custom, the preparation of papers based on reports made by the Louisiana Experimental Station, with added research done by students participating in the program. These studies have been used in the past as a means of keeping informed regarding experiments, inventions and new processes in agriculture.

With 73 students enrolled in agriculture this fall, the Agriculture Club should be one of the most active campus organizations, officers declare.

Second Post-War Tests For Steno-Typist Planned Soon

The second post-war examination for probational appointment to stenographer and typist positions in Washington, D. C., and the immediate vicinity, was announced today by the Civil Service Commission.

The majority of appointments to these positions will be made at grade CAF-2, $1,954 a year. However, persons in the examination may be appointed to positions in grades up to and including CAF-4. Some typist positions may also be filled at grade CAF-1. Salaries are based on a 40-hour workweek with compensation for any authorized overtime in excess of the 40 hours.

The duties of a stenographer include taking and transcribing dictation and performing general office work of a clerical nature. Typists, under general supervision, do typing of moderate difficulty and perform general clerical duties.

The age limits for stenographer and typist applicants are 18 to 62. These age limits will be waived for persons entitled to veteran preference and, under certain conditions, for war service indefinite employees. No specific experience or education is required, but all applicants must pass a written general test, and a test in typewriting. In addition, applicants for stenographer positions must pass a test in stenography, in which they will be expected to take dictation at the rate of 96 words a minute.

Applications for the examination will be accepted by the commission until further notice. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, Guy T. Elliott, Sr., located at Room 302, P. O. Building, Monroe, La., from most first and second-class post offices, Civil Service Regional Offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

PASSMAN SEEKS OFFICES OF VA

Believes Monroe Should Get Regional Headquarters Location

In a letter to George Tidwell, adjutant and paymaster of the Northeast Louisiana Detachment of the Marine Corps League, Otto E. Passman, congressman-elect from the fifth district, said Saturday he was already working toward permanent establishment here of the regional office of the Veterans Administration for this region.

"I am already working toward establishment of the office either in Monroe or West Monroe," he wrote, "and you may rest assured I will pursue the matter tenaciously."

Mr. Passman's letter was in acknowledgement of a resolution adopted unanimously by the detachment at a meeting October 1. It set forth that veterans of this area would be better served by a regional office here, that communities competing with Monroe and West Monroe for the office already had been favored by the Veterans Administration with hospitals, and that Monroe and West Monroe deserved to share in federal disbursements in the form of rental fees and salaries.

"I am delighted to see marines in civilian life displaying the same aggressiveness that marked their brilliant achievements in the Pacific," Mr Passman said in the opening paragraph of his letter.

"I am heartily in accord with the splendid resolution," he continued. "A regional office of the Veterans Administration here would not only benefit everyone in Monroe and West Monroe, but would be an asset for the entire northeastern section of Louisiana."

A Step Forward

To Monroe's new teen age club, which opened a week ago, Saturday, and to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which so tirelessly consummated the project, belongs the unqualified approbation of the entire community. There is no question of the merits of such an endeavor, filling as it does a lamentable deficiency in the municipal recreation program. Although sports have been given considerable attention, the teen age club marks the first time a concerted effort has been made to provide the youth of the city with an opportunity for wholesome social activities.

Unanimous enthusiasm from the youngsters themselves and from their parents who attended the initial functions of the club testifies to its success and popularity. The dance orchestra, the snack bar serving soft drinks and sandwiches, the various games and contests possess an undeniable appeal for the boys and girls who previously knew no means of satisfying their interests other than drug store rendezvous or, perhaps, road house revelries.

The organization of teen age centers is essential to the well being of every community, and their absence from Monroe has tended to create a barrier to the sound maturation of our youngsters. Fractionalized as American life has become, the widespread practice of leaving youth to devise its own diversion with no assistance from understanding adults has had numerous tragic consequences. The rising wave of juvenile delinquency is in no small way attributable to the circumstances of youth, finding no outlet for their restlessness and desire for excitement, turning to whatever their impulses direct them.

Their yearnings are natural, and if they are properly channeled can supply tremendous energy for fruitful achievements. But if they are dissipated by street corner romance and beer parlor intrigue, the damage is irreparable. A well organized club, however, can supply them with activities both productive and enjoyable.

The behavior at the center during the past two Saturday nights has been exemplary. There were no instances of rowdyism; no sneaking off into corners for furtive "necking;" the youngsters realized that this was their own club, the one place in which they were really welcome, and responded accordingly. The proof that teen age youngsters need not constitute a problem was contained in their honest exuberance over jive and ice cream.

The center has another role, too, which must not be minimized—that of developing responsibility. A board of directors composed of various outstanding boys and girls enables the youngsters to conceive and initiate their own program.

Its future success therefore lies in their own interest and ingenuity. Moreover, the youngsters recognize that only by self-discipline can the club continue on a respectable basis. In uniting against any prurience that would jeopardize the enjoyment that the majority are deriving, the youngsters have made a sturdy step forward in defining moral values and learning the obligations of maturity.

The center deserves the wholehearted support of everyone. It is without doubt the most salutary answer to the many problems of youth confronting us today, and perhaps more important, it is giving the youngsters a long overdue "break."

EARLY END FOR OPA

The wish may be father to the thought, but there are indications the Office of Price Administration, as it is called, may not linger long after the new Congress convenes. There is growing resentment among members, including many of those who foolishly voted to extend OPA, over methods used by enforcement officers of OPA, and a tendency to play policeman rather than to help solve shortages by ordering sensible price adjustments.

Under the law as finally forced through by left-wingers, OPA was extended to next June 30. It was asserted this would give it time to adjust its affairs and wind up its business. The stand-by program ends on April 1. Now there is strong sentiment for ending all price controls on that date.

Some congressmen insist that the end of price control will come sooner than April 1. In fact, one group believes it can be terminated shortly after Congress convenes on January 3, especially if public resentment continues to increase and meat and other supplies remain inadequate.

OPA has brought much of this public resentment upon its own shoulders. Clothed in brief authority, many of its personnel—which is composed mainly of crackpots and fellow travelers—has strutted into business places convinced that all businessmen are crooks. There is no doubt that the OPA is staffed with individuals who are opposed to private enterprise. The Russian economic system is their ideal.

A COSTLY SHIP

Most expensive passenger ship ever built is not one of the great liners now plying the oceans. There is more money tied up in the 83,000-ton liner, Normandie, than in any other ever launched.

When the Normandie was completed in 1935 she cost $60,000,000. She burned and sank at her pier in New York in 1942. The navy attempted a salvage operation at a world record cost of $14,000,000. Since she is a French vessel taken over by this country at the beginning of the war, the French claim has been settled for $17,000,000. That represents a total of $91,000,000.

Now the Normandie is to be scrapped. It seems that the salvage operation was not successful. If she ever sailed again she would have to be rebuilt completely. That would not be worth the cost so her scrap metal will be sold for approximately $400,000.

What a fine thing it would have been for the taxpayers if the navy had torn the Normandie apart after she burned, put the scrap metal into the war effort and saved all those millions of dollars.

The Millinery Institute is protesting because Joan Crawford wears no hats in her latest picture. The chapeaux designers regard Miss Crawford as a style-setter and fear she may start a new trend by going hatless. I have no quarrel with the milliners—but if Joan can persuade women to throw away some of those atrocities mistakenly called hats, I think she'll win the approval of 90 percent of the nation's male population.

The controversy as to whether or not Ingrid Bergman should let herself be exploited as a "sex star" grows hotter by the day. I've already said that I'm ag'in it. I think Ingrid should leave the exploitation of sex to lessable actresses who have already established reputations in that sort of thing. Don't get me wrong: "Notorious" and "Arch of Triumph" are not likely to drop a curtain on Miss Bergman's career. She's too brilliant an actress and too forceful a personality for that. But I do believe that thousands of her fans will now look upon her pictures with distrustful eyes. They'll be like a man who, after loving a woman for her sanctity, discovers that she has a scandalous past.

I wonder what, if anything, Warner Brothers intends to do with Wayne Morris? Out of uniform (he wore hero's medals) for more than a year, Wayne hasn't yet been given his chance before the cameras. When another studio tried to borrow him for a fine screen role, the Messers. Warner asked such prohibitive pay for his services that the deal died a-borning. It may be that his employers want to be sure Morris returns to the screen in "just the right part"—but if they delay using him much longer, the "right part" is apt to be a grandfather role.

In Hollywood, as elsewhere, it's difficult to teach an old dog new tricks—but it's even more difficult to dissuade a wolf from trying to get acquainted with every new "trick" he sees.

OUR CHILDREN

DRIVING THE CAR

One of my good friends has written to me about what I said on this subject of car driving, and boy and girl drivers. I said that children should learn how to drive before they are of legal age to get a license and he reminds me that this is against the law. What I meant is not against the law. I would have children of intelligence learn all they can about a car, inside and outside, in the driver's seat, in the back seat, before they are old enough to qualify for a license or to take the responsibility for driving a car on the highway. Driving a car, knowing what makes a car go, is an essential bit of our children's education. They must drive cars intelligently if they are to go places and the time to learn is when they are young.

They can watch the mechanic tinker about the car and ask questions. They can help father, if father is the sort of mechanic that can do home jobs on the car. They can learn how to clean it, by cleaning it under supervision. When they are old enough—old enough in experience, not in years, they can sit beside the driver and watch, ask questions and be answered, and in time, in a safe place, with the responsible driver beside them, put their hands on the wheel. Gradually, under experienced supervision, they learn. By the time they are old enough to get a license they have been taught the skills, the responsibilities and the hazards of driving. Waiting to teach boys and girls about cars until they are 18 years old or more is waiting too long. There is an immediacy about teaching children that must be observed here.

One point my friend and I differ on. He stands by the school folks' notion that only professional drivers should teach children. I believe in parents teaching their children all they can teach in any department of their lives. Father and mother drive cars. They can teach their children how to do so if they will, and in my opinion, they should do so. That is one field still left to them. And who are the professional drivers? Are they not fathers and mothers who drive cars, just like other folk?

One point we heartily agree on. When parents have children in the car with them, they should drive their best and so give the children a good lesson, one that will stay with them always for the way mother does, the way father does, is the way the children want to do. It is the way they will do. So please drive like the best professional when the children are in the car. Don't show off. Stay in line. Be patient and be courteous. Be a real person when you are in the drivers' seat and the children will follow your example. That's the best teaching any child can have.

Selfishness is by no means limited to "the only child." Parents will find help in overcoming selfishness and other undesirable traits in Dr. Patri's leaflet P-22, "Relationship to Other Children."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Acts 26:9-18; I Corinthians 15:8-10

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

How sudden are conversions? How sudden was the conversion of Paul (or of Saul, for such was his name before the change)?

That a man's whole outlook should change in a moment is not inconceivable. Climbing a lofty mountain may give one a new experience and knowledge of his surroundings, quickly changing his whole outlook; and, in the same way, some new and highly-emotional experience may change one spiritually.

A sudden experience often produces a sudden change, be it for the worse or for the better. The suddenness of a conversion may not in any respect affect its sincerity.

It is doubtful, however, that Paul's conversion was as sudden as it seems.

In his persecuting zeal he was traveling toward Damascus after leaving the scene of Stephen's martyrdom. For some strange reason, he had not been active in that murderous incident but had simply kept the garments of those who stoned Stephen to death.

The picture of that good man, praying for the forgiveness of his murderers and calling upon the Lord Jesus to receive his spirit, was one that must have left an impression on Paul that he could not erase.

The first effect would be to make him more intense in his persecution in fear against the pricks of conscience and trying to stifle his doubts by becoming all the more furious in his fanatic hatred toward the Christians. But when he was arrested on the Damascus road saw the vision, and heard the voice, he knew what it all meant.

This was the sudden moment when light broke upon his soul. But there had been a long preparation for it in his religious upbringing, as well as an immediate preparation in the doubts which arose as he saw the calm heroism and the manifest faith of those whom he was persecuting.

The word "Jesus" had a new meaning for Paul as he heard the voice say: "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest."

The experience has not been unique with Paul. Sincere men have been won to beliefs which they studied that they might attack.

Much is possible when men are sincere and earnest. There is hope for a man who is earnest enough to be a persecutor, where there is little hope for the man who is too apathetic to have any convictions.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson had better watch out. President Truman has just endorsed one of his speeches in full, and for any cabinet member—as Henry Wallace discovered—that's bad.

What Secretary Anderson said was that the new livestock and meat price ceilings were going to stand. The president backed him up. All the arguments they advanced were intended to show why price controls should be kept on, and how everything was going to be all right if they were.

Meat is now the number one political issue of the campaign, way ahead of Henry Wallace and foreign policy. The administration line on meat seems to be that if meat prices can be held down until after election, there won't be any wage increase demands and strikes until after election, and therefore the Democrats will have a better chance to win the election.

It's a good argument if it works, but in this presentation there has been no effort to find out what might happen if price controls on meat were now taken off. That's horse meat of another color.

Nearly everyone must admit that if meat price controls were now taken off, there would be an immediate rise in price. It should be fairly obvious, however, that if price controls are taken off when there is a short supply of meat animals, prices will go way up. If controls are taken off when there is a bigger supply of meat animals, the prices shouldn't go quite so high, or at least they shouldn't stay high for so long a time. Timing is, therefore, all-important in meat price decontrol.

When the argument is made that the July-August meat price holiday cleaned out the livestock supply, it is correct as far as the feedlots are concerned. But it does not cover the animals on the range or on the farms and not disposed of to the feeders. They're an unknown quantity.

Every chart and statistical table the Bureau of Agriculture Economics has on tap shows that the season when most livestock come to market is October to January. The figures also show that livestock prices have always reached their annual peak in August and September. From then on livestock prices start going down, reaching their low point along in January, then starting up again.

Fall is when bad weather and the end of grass drive the cattle off the range. About a third of them go to the feedlots for three to six months' fattening. Two-thirds—the better animals—go directly to market.

Fall is when the spring pig crop comes to market, too. Corn is harvested beginning in October, and this year there is a whopping big 3,400,000,000-bushel crop waiting to be cut. That means an end to the feed shortage which limited pig production from 1944 on.

The big corn crop should lower corn prices. Lower corn prices should mean lower livestock and meat prices, as well as a larger number of pigs raised for slaughtering next spring.

Lifting price ceilings on cattle and pigs now—letting the prices go up—should bring more animals to market this fall. The higher price and the abundant corn should also encourage the feeders to fatten more animals faster.

On the other hand, keeping the ceilings on should be only an incentive to the stockmen to carry their animals over the winter, keeping them off the market because they know price ceilings are coming off June 30 and the prices then will go even higher.

If price controls had been kept on right straight through and if the farmers had known that controls were going to be kept on, all the arguments now being advanced by Truman, Anderson, OPA Administrator Paul Porter and others would be true. But when Congress permitted the controls to go off during July and August, they ruined price control for good.

It is difficult to see how putting the controls back on can possibly remedy the situation. Taking them off for 60 days and then trying to put them on again would be even worse. It's this off-again-on-again policy that wrecks all the perfectly good and sound arguments that can be made for price controls in times of threatened inflation.

Price control on livestock, however, is no longer just an economic issue. It's in politics right up to the tip of its ears.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

As for man, his days are as grass: As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. —Psalms 104:15.

OLLA FAIR WILL OPEN ON TUESDAY

The North Central Louisiana Fair at Olla will open its gates on Tuesday morning October 8 for the first time since 1941. The entry clerks will be kept busy most of the day entering the various items for exhibit. On Wednesday morning judges, furnished by the extension service of Louisiana State University will judge all entries. Large number of entries are expected in cattle, hogs and poultry. The premium catalogues have been out now for several weeks. They were thoroughly distributed throughout the parishes of Winn, Catahoula, Caldwell and LaSalle. A large rodeo will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. This will include bronc riding, steer riding, bulldogging and calf roping and many other events. The Southern Valley Carnival with about six rides and thirty concessions will also furnish entertainment.

Friday, October 11, will be official School Children's Day at the fair and an unusual number of students are expected. Plans have been made to take care of these students.

The fair is a free fair and is sponsored by the state department of agriculture.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Have you been neglecting your voice box? Probably so, if you are an average American, says a movie vocal expert. The result: United States voices are too nasal and flat.

Florence Cunningham, who makes a living of evoking the correct vowels and consonants from people, is currently wheedling the cast of "Little Women" into talking in the manner of 1861 New England. This is no small task when you consider the accents of her charges include the Oklahoman of Jennifer Jones, the Brooklynite of Bambi Linn, the Los Angeles polyglot of Diana Lynn. Also Lionel Barrymore whose voice could only be described as Barrymorish.

Miss Cunningham's contention is that Americans are too busy to speak correctly.

"No voice is bad at the beginning," she said, "but Americans are so assertive by nature that it shows in their speech. They are always so in a hurry to get to the next word and the next thought that they don't give a second thought to how they sound."

Her advice for better speech: (1) relax; (2) don't hit the consonants so hard; (3) make a conscious effort to say words as you would like to hear them; and (4) don't be in such a hurry.

Carmen Cavallaro tells us that the bandleader on his night off is just like the hiking mailman and the rowboating sailor. Now dispensing his smooth rhythms at Ciro's, the piano-playing maestro reports that many of his most regular listeners are those who spend their working hours making music.

The band fraternity is more congenial than most professions, Carmen declared, and has few feuds, except, perhaps for the fighting Dorseys. The fabulous brothers often drop in and request their favorite numbers—"Stardust" for T. D., and "Blue Skies" for J. D.

When Les Brown is present, he orders "Summertime," which is the tune he was playing when he first laid eyes on his present wife. Tex Beneke favors "Ida" which first brought him vocal fame with Glenn Miller. Rudy Vallee likes "Sylvia," for no particular reason. Singer Andy Russell asks for "What a Difference a Day Makes," and Frank Sinatra "Night and Day."

OPTIMIST CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

Newspaper Week Is Observed By Program Suited To Occasion

The Optimist Club of Greater Monroe observed "Newspaper Week" at the regular meeting held in Hotel Frances, Friday noon.

Fully 17 per cent of American newsboys get early training through carrying papers, he said. This he assured was good business experience as they pay for their papers, keep books, and make all collections. One case was cited of a boy who started three years ago with 50 papers and now has a list of 550. He has paid his way through school and is now attending college, it was stated.

"The management of the newspapers take personal interest in the boys and their welfare and they in turn have their own club and obtain actual experience such as they will require in the business world," Mr. Murdock said.

"There are no bad newsboys, all they need at times is a kindly word of advice to keep them going aright," he said. It was shown how the boys aided in the recent war by selling a large volume of war bonds and stamps.

A physician was mentioned who assured that his early newsboy training had been superior to any other training that he had received in his early life.

An invitation was extended by George Moses to club members and wives to attend a meeting of all civic clubs at the Monroe Recreation Center Tuesday night.

C. E. Stratford, new head here of the Salvation Army, assured the club his hearty support in their projects. He comes to the club as a former member of the Optimist Club of Nashville, Tenn.

Boyle's Notebook

By John McKnight
(For Hal Boyle)

ROME — (AP) — Bicycle thieves are about as popular characters in present-day Rome as horse thieves and cattle rustlers used to be on the western plains of the United States.

These are parlous times indeed for the city's motorized vehicles. Many of its public conveyances were pilfered by the northward-fleeing Germans. There are not enough pneumatics for those that are left and petrol for horseless carriages is both scarce and dear.

So thousands of honest burghers must pedal to the places of their daily occupation. If they lose their trusty bikes it is a very serious matter, since otherwise they must walk.

Hence they cheered to the echo an announcement by the forces of law and order that the police at last had laid by the heels one Libertario Pampinicchi of no recorded address or lawful trade, whose exploits in recent weeks had won him in the public prints the dubious appellation "the terror of the cyclists."

It was a notable service that the police had performed, said law-abiding citizens, for the mysterious "terror" was besmirching the fair name of the community, not to speak of causing cyclists anxious days and sleepless nights.

And there was [illegible] Pampinicchi's guilt, [illegible] said, for they had caught [illegible] nded" or "in flagrante delicto, [illegible] in the vulgate of the earlier settlers.

When they fell upon Pampinicchi and secured him, the officers testified, he was perpetrating another of the coups which earned him his sobriquet—decamping with seven or eight bicycles which trusting burghers, hastening to the offices where they earned their daily bread, had confided to his care.

Pampinicchi's modus operandi (old Roman for "method of operation"), said the minions of the law, was efficacious because of its very simplicity. They described it thus:

Having taken cognizance of (A) the thousands of cyclists in the eternal city, (B) the number of buildings bearing notices "no bicycles" and (C) the pretty problem these posed for those who must pedal to work, Pampinicchi:

1. Obtained official-looking headgear with the deceptive legend "Authorized Bicycle Guard," signs reading "Bicycle Parking—10 Lire" (a modest emolument, since it is just over four United States coppers) and certain apparatus promising orderly alignment of the contrivances entrusted to him;

2. Set up shop on well-traveled thoroughfares;

3. Continued operations until he had seven or eight "machines" in hand, and then

4. With the aid of confederates lurking nearby, folded up his parking lot and its contents like the Arab and as silently stole away.

LOSES CASH BOX CONTAINING $800

Miss Freddie DeCelle, cashier for Cloverleaf Dairy, reported to police headquarters Friday at 5:50 p. m., that a green cash box containing approximately $800 in cash, checks and daily receipts for the dairy fell out of the truck she was driving at the intersection of Layton and South Third streets.

Miss DeCelle told police that the truck door came open and the box fell out, but she did not know that it was missing until she had driven a short way. When she went back to get the cash box someone had picked it up.

Broadcasts on an airway usually are made by sets of three stations, consisting of two terminal stations and one intermediate station. The intermediate station broadcasts five minutes before or after the two terminals.

A Step Forward

To Monroe's new teen age club, which opened a week ago, Saturday, and to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which so tirelessly consummated the project, belongs the unqualified approbation of the entire community. There is no question of the merits of such an endeavor, filling as it does a lamentable deficiency in the municipal recreation program. Although sports have been given considerable attention, the teen age club marks the first time a concerted effort has been made to provide the youth of the city with an opportunity for wholesome social activities.

Unanimous enthusiasm from the youngsters themselves and from their parents who attended the initial functions of the club testifies to its success and popularity. The dance orchestra, the snack bar serving soft drinks and sandwiches, the various games and contests possess an undeniable appeal for the boys and girls who previously knew no means of satisfying their interests other than drug store rendezvous or, perhaps, road house revelries.

The organization of teen age centers is essential to the well being of every community, and their absence from Monroe has tended to create a barrier to the sound maturation of our youngsters. Fractionalized as American life has become, the widespread practice of leaving youth to devise its own diversion with no assistance from understanding adults has had numerous tragic consequences. The rising wave of juvenile delinquency is in no small way attributable to the circumstances of youth, finding no outlet for their restlessness and desire for excitement, turning to whatever their impulses direct them.

Their yearnings are natural, and if they are properly channeled can supply tremendous energy for fruitful achievements. But if they are dissipated by street corner romance and beer parlor intrigue, the damage is irreparable. A well organized club, however, can supply them with activities both productive and enjoyable.

The behavior at the center during the past two Saturday nights has been exemplary. There were no instances of rowdyism; no sneaking off into corners for furtive "necking;" the youngsters realized that this was their own club, the one place in which they were really welcome, and responded accordingly. The proof that teen age youngsters need not constitute a problem was contained in their honest exuberance over jive and ice cream.

The center has another role, too, which must not be minimized—that of developing responsibility. A board of directors composed of various outstanding boys and girls enables the youngsters to conceive and initiate their own program.

Its future success therefore lies in their own interest and ingenuity. Moreover, the youngsters recognize that only by self-discipline can the club continue on a respectable basis. In uniting against any prurience that would jeopardize the enjoyment that the majority are deriving, the youngsters have made a sturdy step forward in defining moral values and learning the obligations of maturity.

The center deserves the wholehearted support of everyone. It is without doubt the most salutary answer to the many problems of youth confronting us today, and perhaps more important, it is giving the youngsters a long overdue "break."

EARLY END FOR OPA

The wish may be father to the thought, but there are indications the Office of Price Administration, as it is called, may not linger long after the new Congress convenes. There is growing resentment among members, including many of those who foolishly voted to extend OPA, over methods used by enforcement officers of OPA, and a tendency to play policeman rather than to help solve shortages by ordering sensible price adjustments.

Under the law as finally forced through by left-wingers, OPA was extended to next June 30. It was asserted this would give it time to adjust its affairs and wind up its business. The subsidy program ends on April 1. Now there is strong sentiment for ending all price controls on that date.

Some congressmen insist that the end of price control will come sooner than April 1. In fact, one group believes it can be terminated shortly after Congress convenes on January 3, especially if public resentment continues to increase and meat and other supplies remain inadequate.

OPA has brought much of this public resentment upon its own shoulders. Clothed in brief authority, many of its personnel—which is composed mainly of crackpots and fellow travelers—have strutted into business places convinced that all businessmen are crooks. There is no doubt that the OPA is staffed with individuals who are opposed to private enterprise. The Russian economic system is their ideal.

A COSTLY SHIP

Most expensive passenger ship ever built is not one of the great liners now plying the oceans. There is more money tied up in the 83,000-ton liner, Normandie, than in any other ever launched.

When the Normandie was completed in 1935 she cost $60,000,000. She burned and sank at her pier in New York in 1942. The navy attempted a salvage operation at a world record cost of $14,000,000. Since she is a French vessel taken over by this country at the beginning of the war, the French claim has been settled for $17,000,000. That represents a total of $91,000,000.

Now the Normandie is to be scrapped. It seems that the salvage operation was not successful. If she ever sailed again she would have to be rebuilt completely. That would not be worth the cost so her scrap metal will be sold for approximately $400,000.

What a fine thing it would have been for the taxpayers if the navy had torn the Normandie apart after she burned, put the scrap metal into the war effort and saved all those millions of dollars.

The controversy as to whether or not Ingrid Bergman should let herself be exploited as a "sex star" grows hotter by the day. I've already said that I'm ag'in it. I think Ingrid should leave the exploitation of sex to lessable actresses who have already established reputations in that sort of thing. Don't get me wrong: "Notorious" and "Arch of Triumph" are not likely to drop a curtain on Miss Bergman's career. She's too brilliant an actress and too forceful a personality for that. But I do believe that thousands of her fans will now look upon her pictures with distrustful eyes. They'll be like a man who, after loving a woman for her sanctity, discovers that she has a scandalous past.

I wonder what, if anything, Warner Brothers intends to do with Wayne Morris? Out of uniform (he wore hero's medals) for more than a year, Wayne hasn't yet been given his chance before the cameras. When another studio tried to borrow him for a fine screen role, the Messers. Warner asked such prohibitive pay for his services that the deal died a-borning. It may be that his employers want to be sure Morris returns to the screen in "just the right part"—but if they delay using him much longer, the "right part" is apt to be a grandfather role.

In Hollywood, as elsewhere, it's difficult to teach an old dog new tricks—but it's even more difficult to dissuade a wolf from trying to get acquainted with every new "trick" he sees.

OUR CHILDREN

DRIVING THE CAR

One of my good friends has written to me about what I said on this subject of car driving, and boy and girl drivers. I said that children should learn how to drive before they are of legal age to get a license and he reminds me that this is against the law. What I meant is not against the law. I would have children of intelligence learn all they can about a car, inside and outside, in the driver's seat, in the back seat, before they are old enough to qualify for a license or to take the responsibility for driving a car on the highway. Driving a car, knowing what makes a car go, is an essential bit of our children's education. They must drive cars intelligently if they are to go places and the time to learn is when they are young.

They can watch the mechanic tinker about the car and ask questions. They can help father, if father is the sort of mechanic that can do home jobs on the car. They can learn how to clean it, by cleaning it under supervision. When they are old enough—old enough in experience, not in years, they can sit beside the driver and watch, ask questions and be answered, and in time, in a safe place, with the responsible driver beside them, put their hands on the wheel. Gradually, under experienced supervision, they learn. By the time they are old enough to get a license they have been taught the skills, the responsibilities and the hazards of driving. Waiting to teach boys and girls about cars until they are 18 years old or more is waiting too long. There is an immediancy about teaching children that must be observed here.

One point my friend and I differ on. He stands by the school folks' notion that only professional drivers should teach children. I believe in parents teaching their children all they can teach in any department of their lives. Father and mother drive cars. They can teach their children how to do so if they will, and in my opinion, they should do so. That is one field still left to them. And who are the professional drivers? Are they not fathers and mothers who drive cars, just like other folk?

One point we heartily agree on. When parents have children in the car with them, they should drive their best and so give the children a good lesson, one that will stay with them always for the way mother does, the way father does, is the way the children want to do. It is the way they will do. So please drive like the best professional when the children are in the car. Don't show off. Stay in line. Be patient and be courteous. Be a real person when you are in the drivers' seat and the children will follow your example. That's the best teaching any child can have.

Selfishness is by no means limited to "the only child." Parents will find help in overcoming selfishness and other undesirable traits in Dr. Patri's leaflet P-22, "Relationship to Other Children."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Acts 26:9-18; I Corinthians 15:8-10

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

How sudden are conversions? How sudden was the conversion of Paul (or of Saul, for such was his name before the change)?

That a man's whole outlook should change in a moment is not inconceivable. Climbing a lofty mountain may give one a new experience and knowledge of his surroundings, quickly changing his whole outlook; and, in the same way, some new and highly-emotional experience may change one spiritually.

A sudden experience often produces a sudden change, be it for the worse or for the better. The suddenness of a conversion may not in any respect affect its sincerity.

It is doubtful, however, that Paul's conversion was as sudden as it seems.

In his persecuting zeal he was traveling toward Damascus after leaving the scene of Stephen's martyrdom. For some strange reason, he had not been active in that murderous incident but had simply kept the garments of those who stoned Stephen to death.

The picture of that good man, praying for the forgiveness of his murderers and calling upon the Lord Jesus to receive his spirit, was one that must have left an impression on Paul that he could not erase.

The first effect would be to make him more intense in his persecution kicking against the pricks of conscience and trying to stifle his doubts by becoming all the more furious in his hostility toward the Christians. But when he was arrested on the Damascus road, saw the vision, and heard the voice, he knew what it all meant.

This was the sudden moment when light burst upon his soul. But there had been a long preparation for it in his religious upbringing, as well as an immediate preparation in the doubts which arose as he saw the calm heroism and the manifest faith of those whom he was persecuting.

The word "Jesus" had a new meaning for Paul as he heard the voice say: "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest."

The experience has not been unique with Paul. Sincere men have been won to beliefs which they studied that they might attack.

Much is possible when men are sincere and earnest. There is hope for a man who is earnest enough to be a persecutor, where there is little hope for the man who is too apathetic to have any convictions.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson had better watch out. President Truman has just endorsed one of his speeches in full, and for any cabinet member—as Henry Wallace discovered—that's bad.

What Secretary Anderson said was that the new livestock and meat price ceilings were going to stand. The president backed him up. All the arguments they advanced were intended to show why price controls should be kept on, and how everything was going to be all right if they were.

Meat is now the number one political issue of the campaign, 'way ahead of Henry Wallace and foreign policy. The administration line on meat seems to be that if meat prices can be held down until after election, there won't be any wage increase demands and strikes until after election, and therefore the Democrats will have a better chance to win the election.

It's a good argument if it works, but in this presentation there has been no effort to find out what might happen if price controls on meat were now taken off. That's horse meat of another color.

Nearly everyone must admit that if meat price controls were now taken off, there would be an immediate rise in price. It should be fairly obvious, however, that if price controls are taken off when there is a short supply of meat animals, prices will go 'way up. If controls are taken off when there is a bigger supply of meat animals, the prices shouldn't go quite so high, or at least they shouldn't stay high for so long a time. Timing is, therefore, all-important in meat price decontrol.

When the argument is made that the July-August meat price holiday cleaned out the livestock supply, it is correct as far as the feedlots are concerned. But it does not cover the animals on the range or on the farms and not disposed of to the feeders. They're an unknown quantity.

Every chart and statistical table the Bureau of Agriculture Economics has on tap shows that the season when most livestock come to market is October to January. The figures also show that livestock prices have always reached their annual peak in August and September. From then on livestock prices start going down, reaching their low point along in January, then starting up again.

Fall is when bad weather and the end of grass drive the cattle off the range. About a third of them go to the feedlots for three to six months' fattening. Two-thirds—the better animals—go directly to market.

Fall is when the spring pig crop comes to market, too. Corn is harvested beginning in October, and this year there is a whopping big 3,400,000,000-bushel crop waiting to be cut. That means an end to the feed shortage which limited pig production from 1944 on.

The big corn crop should lower corn prices. Lower corn prices should mean lower livestock and meat prices, as well as a larger number of pigs raised for slaughtering next spring.

Lifting price ceilings on cattle and pigs now—letting the prices go up—should bring more animals to market this fall. The higher price and the abundant corn should also encourage the feeders to fatten more animals faster.

On the other hand, keeping the ceilings on should be only an incentive to the stockmen to carry their animals over the winter, keeping them off the market because they know price ceilings are coming off June 30 and the prices then will go even higher.

If price controls had been kept on right striaght through and if the farmers had known that controls were going to be kept on, all the arguments now being advanced by Truman, Anderson, OPA Administrator Paul Porter and others would be true. But when Congress permitted the controls to go off during July and August, they ruined price control for good.

It is difficult to see how putting the controls back on can possibly remedy the situation. Taking them off for 60 days and then trying to put them on again would be even worse. It's this off-again-on-again policy that wrecks all the perfectly good and sound arguments that can be made for price controls in times of threatened inflation.

Price control on livestock, however, is no longer just an economic issue. It's in politics right up to the tip of its ears.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

As for man, his days are as grass: As a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. —Psalms 104:15.

My life is like the summer rose
That opens to the morning sky,
But ere the shade of evening close
Is scattered on the ground to die.

OLLA FAIR WILL OPEN ON TUESDAY

The North Central Louisiana Fair at Olla will open its gates on Tuesday morning October 8 for the first time since 1941. The entry clerks will be kept busy most of the day entering the various items for exhibit. On Wednesday morning judges, furnished by the extension service of Louisiana State University will judge all entries. Large number of entries are expected in cattle, hogs and poultry. The premium cataloges have been out now for several weeks. They were thoroughly distributed throughout the parishes of Winn, Catahoula, Caldwell and LaSalle. A large rodeo will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. This will include bronc riding, steer riding, bulldogging and calf roping and many other events. The Southern Valley Carnival with about six rides and thirty concessions will also furnish entertainment.

Friday, October 11, will be official School Children's Day at the fair and an unusual number of students are expected. Plans have been made to take care of these students.

The fair is a free fair and is sponsored by the state department of agriculture.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Have you been neglecting your voice box? Probably so, if you are an average American, says a movie vocal expert. The result: United States voices are too nasal and flat.

Florence Cunningham, who makes a living of evoking the correct vowels and consonants from people, is currently wheedling the cast of "Little Women" into talking in the manner of 1861 New England. This is no small task when you consider the accents of her charges include the Oklahoman of Jennifer Jones, the Brooklynite of Bambi Linn, the Los Angeles polyglot of Diana Lynn. Also Lionel Barrymore whose voice could only be described as Barrymorish.

Miss Cunningham's contention is that Americans are too busy to speak correctly.

"No voice is bad at the beginning," she said, "but Americans are so assertive by nature that it shows in their speech. They are always so in a hurry to get to the next word and the next thought that they don't give a second thought to how they sound."

Her advice for better speech: (1) relax; (2) don't hit the consonants so hard; (3) make a conscious effort to say words as you would like to hear them; and (4) don't be in such a hurry.

Carmen Cavallaro tells us that the bandleader on his night off is just like the hiking mailman and the rowboating sailor. Now dispensing his smooth rhythms at Ciro's, the piano-playing maestro reports that many of his most regular listeners are those who spend their working hours making music.

The band fraternity is more congenial than most professions, Carmen declared, and has few feuds, except, perhaps for the fighting Dorseys. The fabulous brothers often drop in and request their favorite numbers—"Stardust" for T. D., and "Blue Skies" for J. D.

When Les Brown is present, he orders "Summertime," which is the tune he was playing when he first laid eyes on his present wife. Tex Beneke favors "Ida" which first brought him vocal fame with Glenn Miller. Rudy Vallee likes "Sylvia," for no particular reason. Singer Andy Russell asks for "What a Difference a Day Makes," and Frank Sinatra "Night and Day."

OPTIMIST CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

Newspaper Week Is Observed By Program Suited To Occasion

The Optimist Club of Greater Monroe observed "Newspaper Week" at the regular meeting held in Hotel Frances, Friday noon.

Fully 17 per cent of American newsboys get early training through carrying papers, he said. This he assured was good business experience as they pay for their papers, keep books, and make all collections. One case was cited of a boy who started three years ago with 50 papers and now has a list of 550. He has paid his way through school and is now attending college, it was stated.

"The management of the newspapers take personal interest in the boys and their welfare and they in turn have their own club and obtain actual experience such as they will require in the business world," Mr. Murdock said.

"There are no bad newsboys, all they need at times is a kindly word of advice to keep them going aright," he said. It was shown how the boys aided in the recent war by selling a large volume of war bonds and stamps.

A physician was mentioned who assured that his early newsboy training had been superior to any other training that he had received in his early life.

An invitation was extended by George Moses to club members and wives to attend a meeting of all civic clubs at the Monroe Recreation Center Tuesday night.

C. E. Stratford, new head here of the Salvation Army, assured the club his hearty support in their projects. He comes to the club as a former member of the Optimist Club of Nashville, Tenn.

Boyle's Notebook

(For Hal Boyle)

ROME — (AP) — Bicycle thieves are about as popular characters in present-day Rome as horse thieves and cattle rustlers used to be on the western plains of the United States.

These are parlous times indeed for the city's motorized vehicles. Many of its public conveyances were pilfered by the northward-fleeing Germans. There are not enough pneumatics for those that are left and petrol for horseless carriages is both scarce and dear.

So thousands of honest burghers must pedal to the places of their daily occupation. If they lose their trusty bikes it is a very serious matter, since otherwise they must walk.

Hence they cheered to the echo an announcement by the forces of law and order that the police at last had laid by the heels one Libertario Pampinicchi of no recorded address or lawful trade, whose exploits in recent weeks had won him in the public prints the dubious appellation "the terror of the cyclists."

It was a notable service that the police had performed, said law-abiding citizens, for the mysterious "terror" was besmirching the fair name of the community, not to speak of causing cyclists ar[illegible] days and sleepless nights.

And there was [illegible]g Pampinicchi's guilt, [illegible] said, for they had caught [illegible]nded" or "in flagrante delicto, [illegible] the vulgate of the earlier settlers.

When they fell upon Pampinicchi and secured him, the officers testified, he was perpetrating another of the coups which earned him his sobriquet—decamping with seven or eight bicycles which trusting burghers, hastening to the offices where they earned their daily bread, had confided to his care.

Pampinicchi's modus operandi (old Roman for "method of operation"), said the minions of the law, was efficacious because of its very simplicity. They described it thus:

Having taken cognizance of (A) the thousands of cyclists in the eternal city, (B) the number of buildings bearing notices "no bicycles" and (C) the pretty problem these posed for those who must pedal to work, Pampinicchi:

1. Obtained official-looking headgear with the deceptive legend "Authorized Bicycle Guard," signs reading "Bicycle Parking—10 Lire" (a modest emolument, since it is just over four United States coppers) and certain apparatus promising orderly alignment of the contrivances entrusted to him;

2. Set up shop on well-traveled thoroughfares;

3. Continued operations until he had seven or eight "machines" in hand, and then

4. With the aid of confederates lurking nearby, folded up his parking lot and its contents like the Arab and as silently stole away.

LOSES CASH BOX CONTAINING $800

Miss Freddie DeCelle, cashier for Cloverleaf Dairy, reported to police headquarters Friday at 5:50 p. m., that a green cash box containing approximately $800 in cash, checks and daily receipts for the dairy fell out of the truck she was driving at the intersection of Layton and South Third streets.

Miss DeCelle told police that the truck door came open and the box fell out, but she did not know that it was missing until she had driven a short way. When she went back to get the cash box someone had picked it up.

Broadcasts on an airway usually are made by sets of three stations, consisting of two terminal stations and one intermediate station. The intermediate station broadcasts five minutes before or after the two terminals.

SUPPORT OF K. C. CAMPAIGN URGED

"As a civic improvement for a better community, the Knights of Columbus project is equal to the best and second to none," declared H. A. Shanas, chairman of the campaign to raise funds for a new K. of C. home, in urging wholehearted support of the drive in an address before members of the local K. C. meeting.

The project referred to is the Knights of Columbus building fund drive now in progress, for the purpose of erecting a K. of C. home and community center for teen-age boys and girls.

"It is a proven fact," Shanas said, "that members of any civic or fraternal organization, who meet in their own home, usually enjoy an evening of good, clean, wholesome entertainment, whereas these same people, as individuals, in their pursuit of their pleasures too often end an evening that is somewhat regrettable. This is bad enough in the case of adults, but it is much more serious for our teen-age children.

"Too much has been said about juvenile delinquincy in proportion to what has actually been done to remedy this situation, so I will not stress this point; but let us stop and reflect a moment on this: A good teen-age boy or girl is going out in pursuit of an evening of entertainment. If he has fifty cents to spend, he is very fortunate indeed. Most of them have not. His immediate objective then is an 'inexpensive evening of fun.' Right there is born the idea of a possible nucleus of delinquency for where in the community can he go for an evening of good entertainment at no cost to him? Now, let us consider this alternative: A K. C. building properly equipped. Boys, girls or both, enjoying their evening doing the things they want to do. A trained director is in charge and several K. C. members are milling around with those kids and helping them to enjoy an evening of good, clean, wholesome fun.

"This sounds like a dream, but is it? It could be, but it can just as easily be a reality. Our good, civic-minded business and professional men are eager to assist in such a program. I say this earnestly because during my contacts this past week, I have yet to encounter a business or professional man who has not been enthusiastic about this project. All we need then, is the organization and we do have that. With the entire membership putting in their efforts toward the realization of a K. C. home and community center, I am confident that we will accomplish this to the entire satisfaction of our community."

The campaign will be climaxed by a K. of C.-sponsored football game between Northeast Junior College and Arkansas Tech at Brown Stadium on Nov. 21. At that time a Ford station wagon will be awarded in a culmination of the drive.

CANCER FOUNDATION GETS BIG ESTATES

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Oct. 5—(AP)—Alfred S. Black of Hattiesburg, and Charles R. Harden of Newark, N. J., have been appointed as co-trustees of two large estates which are to be spent under the provisions of the trustees for the treatment of cancer.

The estates amount to well over $1,500,000, Black said.

The trustees have decided to designate the cancer program which will be carried on by the available funds from the estates as "the Black-Stevenson Cancer Foundation."

Black said here today that officials of the American Cancer Society have declared that the foundation, and its funds will be the third largest of its kind in the United States.

SUPPORT OF K. C. CAMPAIGN URGED

"As a civic improvement for a better community, the Knights of Columbus project is equal to the best and second to none," declared H. A. Shanas, chaiman of the campaign to raise funds for a new K. of C. home, in urging wholehearted support of the drive in an address before members of the local K. C. meeting.

The project referred to is the Knights of Columbus building fund drive now in progress, for the purpose of erecting a K. of C. home and community center for teen-age boys and girls.

"It is a proven fact," Shanas said, "that members of any civic or fraternal organization, who meet in their own home, usually enjoy an evening of good, clean, wholesome entertainment, whereas these same people, as individuals, in their pursuit of their pleasures too often end an evening that is somewhat regrettable. This is bad enough in the case of adults, but it is much more serious for our teen-age children.

"Too much has been said about juvenile delinquincy in proportion to what has actually been done to remedy this situation, so I will not stress this point; but let us stop and reflect a moment on this: A good teen-age boy or girl is going out in pursuit of an evening of entertainment. If he has fifty cents to spend, he is very fortunate indeed. Most of them have not. His immediate objective then is an 'inexpensive evening of fun.' Right there is born the idea of a possible nucleus of delinquency for where in the community can he go for an evening of good entertainment at no cost to him? Now, let us consider this alternative: A K. C. building properly equipped. Boys, girls or both, enjoying their evening doing the things they want to do. A trained director is in charge and several K. C. members are milling around with those kids and helping them to enjoy an evening of good, clean, wholesome fun.

"This sounds like a dream, but is it? It could be, but it can just as easily be a reality. Our good, civic-minded business and professional men are eager to assist in such a program. I say this earnestly because during my contacts this past week, I have yet to encounter a business or professional man who has not been enthusiastic about this project. All we need then, is the organization and we do have that. With the entire membership putting in their efforts toward the realization of a K. C. home and community center, I am confident that we will accomplish this to the entire satisfaction of our community."

The campaign will be climaxed by a K. of C.-sponsored football game between Northeast Junior College and Arkansas Tech at Brown Stadium on Nov. 21. At that time a Ford station wagon will be awarded in a culmination of the drive.

DISABLED GI'S REQUIRING AID

Those Partially Handicapped Require Jobs; Mayors Urge Assistance

"It's not what is gone but what is left that counts when an employer considers a handicapped veteran for permanent employment," Mr. S P. Riser, manager of the local USES office said today in outlining the objectives of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week October 6-12.

Mayors H. H Benoit and D C Golson have issued a proclamation setting aside this week for observance by the Twin City residents. In their proclamation the mayors cited the excellent record of handicapped persons during the war while the abled-bodied were on the fighting fronts.

Pointing out that many veterans and war workers acquired some form of handicap as a result of the war, USES Manager Riser said it is the obligation of everyone to help handicapped persons to obtain employment for which they are qualified.

"Few handicapped persons," he said, "will accept work which they are not qualified to perform. Some are qualified for certain types of work but are not aware of their abilities. It is the job of the USES to advise and counsel such workers and when the skill or ability is found, to refer the worker to an employer who is in need of the particular skill or ability."

Mr. Riser said that more than twenty-five handicapped workers had been referred to jobs in Monroe during the past month. Others are waiting for referral to the right jobs, he said. Many employers so far have been more cooperative in hiring these workers but more jobs for the handicapped are needed to aid applicants at USES offices, Mr. Riser said.

The proclamation is as follows:

WHEREAS, victory in World War II cost us more than 2,000,000 casualties and

WHEREAS, there are many millions of handicapped persons in the United States, many of whom by their efforts were of great aid in manufacturing munitions or providing essential service for the war efforts, and

WHEREAS, all of these persons including disabled veterans of World War I and II deserve self-supporting, self-respecting jobs in which they can make useful contributions to our community, state and nation . . .

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, H. H. Benoit and D. C. Golson, mayors of the City of Monroe and West Monroe, do set aside the week of October 6th to October 12th as Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and we call upon all local officials, all local employers, all local civic organizations and all citizens to assist in every way possible, to the end that it shall be brought to the attention of all members of our community that disabled veterans and other handicapped civilians are fully capable and are performing efficiently, safely and reliably in thousands of different occupations.

AND WE FURTHER URGE ALL EMPLOYES to place all their job orders with the United States Employment Service so that disabled veterans and other handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove their value in productive and self-respecting jobs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Monroe and West Monroe to be affixed.

H. H. BENOIT, Mayor,
Monroe, La.

D. C. GOLSON, Mayor,
West Monroe, La.

National Newspaper Week was observed during the last seven days with several programs which featured carrier boys of the News-Star—World. In the top photo are shown members of the local staff and of the Kiwanis Club at their meeting at the Virginia Hotel Wednesday. Staff members are, from left to right, Mrs. Sue Sherman, Glen Boulier and Alton Roberts. In the second picture, the participants in the program at the West Monroe Lions Club are shown. They are, left to right, Fred Hoffman, Lion tamer, E. E. (Pappy) Eaves, president of the club; James Morris, James Massey, Donald Craun, Charlie Wall secretary and treasurer of the club, and DeWitt Henry, publicity chairman. Saturday a broadcast over KNOE was devoted to the observance, and those in the photograph are J. W. Hankins, Frank A. Browne, manager of KNOE; Mrs. Sharman and Leonard Fields. The weekly meeting of the Optimist Club also was given over to observance of National Newspaper week and several carrier boys appeared on their program.

GIBBENS WILL BE 1ST AID TEACHER

A 30-hour first-aid instructor training course is to be given by the local Red Cross chapter from October 7 to 18 by George Gibbens.

Mr Gibbens is well-fitted because of his educational background to be special field representative of the American Red Cross First-Aid, water safety and accident prevention service. At the Louisiana State Normal school, at Natchitoches, La., his major study was physical education. From 1939 to 1941 he served as a volunteer instructor in first-aid and water safety at Iberville parish Louisiana, in the summers, at State Normal College, Natchitoches, La., in the winter. He has taken part in the programs of four American Red Cross National Aquatic Schools, at two of which he has served on the faculty.

NO. LOUISIANA FAIR IS FREE

Public Invited To Ruston From October 8-12; New Equipment Shown

A Farm and Home Labor-Saving Show featuring the latest available products of the farm and home equipment manufactures and the home-made inventions of individual farmers will be held here, as an added attraction of the North Louisiana State Fair at Ruston, October 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, according to the county agent, J. A. Shealy, of Lincoln parish. The show will be held under auspices of the emergency farm labor program of the agricultural extension service at Louisiana State University. The public is invited. Admission will be free.

C. E. Kemmerly, Jr., Baton Rouge, supervisor of the extension emergency farm labor program, said that efforts are being made to bring to the show many of the more valuable devices perfected by Louisiana farmers themselves. Any farmer in the Ruston vicinity who has some home-made device that he thinks might prove useful to other farmers is urged to get in touch with his parish agricultural agent, who will help him make arrangements to exhibit his machine at the Ruston show, Kemmerly said.

The purpose of the show, according to County Agent Shealy, is to demonstrate the new equipment that is now coming on the market, show what can be accomplished by individual ingenuity, and stress the possibilities of greater food production at lower cost and effort through proper use of machinery.

"This will be the latest and largest of a series of such shows that are being held in Louisiana," Shealy said. "The others have brought to light a surprising variety of home-made inventions, including everything from home-made tractors and post drivers to tree shakers for use in harvesting pecans. The corn industry is one of the most heavily mechanized of all and we feel sure that the Ruston show will show evidence of even greater ingenuity on the part of farmers in this area. The public is invited to attend this show and get a glimpse of the farm and home of the future."

LEGION POST TO MEET ON MONDAY

The first regular meeting of L. B. Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion will be held at Legion Memorial Home, Monday evening, October 7, at 8 o'clock.

The annual membership campaign is now under way and a large number of new members will be admitted at Monday's meeting. Commander Walter W. Kellogg has extended an invitation to all veterans who have been honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States, regardless of where they served to join the American Legion. Those who have not already made application may apply Monday evening upon presentation of their discharge certificate and be admitted the same evening.

Immediately following the initiation of new members a short business session will be held and reports received from the junior baseball committee and other committees will be given.

OFFICERS ELECTED

MARION, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—Seniors of the Linville High School have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, A. J. Green; vice-president, Ed Holloway; secretary, Elizabeth Franklin; treasurer, Marie Phillips; reporter, Sarah Bell Aycock; historians, Ray Scarborough, and Ruby Mae McLeod. SOC. SECURITY ACT IS CHANGED

Amended Law To Give Benefits To Many Vets' Survivors

Immediate beneficiaries of the recent veterans' amendment to the Social Security Act are the survivors of World War II veterans who die within 3 years of their discharge under conditions other than dishonorable and whose dependents are not qualified to receive compensation or pensions from the Veterans Administration. National Service Life Insurance is not included in compensation or pensions.

In the case of such veterans who died before the enactment of the new amendment, the measure provides for monthly benefits retroactive to the date of the veteran s death if the survivors file their benefit claims with the nearest office of the Social Security Administration before midnight February 10, 1947. Of course, monthly benefits other than retroactive are payable on claims filed at any time by qualified persons.

In cases where survivors of veterans who qualify under the new amendment already have filed claim for monthly benefits earned by the veteran under the old-age and survivors insurance program of the Social Security Administration, it is possible that the provisions of the new measure will provide greater benefits than those earned by the veteran. These survivors are included in the immediate potential beneficiaries, and should apply to the field office of the Social Security Administration.

The same applies to survivors who have filed claim for lump-sum benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program on a qualified veteran's account. The now amendment may make them eligible for monthly benefit payments, or it may increase the amount of the lump-sum benefit. In the latter case, they will receive the difference between the lump sum they receive and the larger amount they are eligible for under the new amendment, if they apply at the office of the Social Security Administration.

As in the case of all other persons qualified for social security benefits, families of deceased veterans to whom this new section of the law has immediate application should come to our office to file their benefit claims as soon as possible.

It is estimated by the Veteran Administration that up to June 30, 1946, approximately 40,000 veterans of World War II had died after discharge from service.

Future beneficiaries of the measure will be the survivors of qualified veterans who die within 3 years after their discharge and who are discharged within four years and a day after the end of the war as determined by a presidential proclamation or a resolution of Congress.

In all, it is expected that the survivors of from 100,000 to 150,000 veterans will receive benefits under the amendment.

The purpose of the measure is to bridge the gap in survivorship protection that is encountered by the ex-serviceman in the 3-year period following his discharge from service.

FIREPROOF AS ROCK

The very origin of mineral wool insulation is evidence of its resistance to heat and flame. Blown from fused, molten minerals at 3,000° F. making it fireproof far beyond the range of ordinary home fires. A 4-inch thickness of mineral wool is equivalent to 12 feet of concrete in resistance to heat! Therefore, a fire cannot penetrate Eagle-Picher Mineral Wool Insulation and is kept from spreading.

HERE'S HOW MINERAL WOOL PROTECTS YOUR HOME

Rock Wool

A fire in your attic would be confined to the attic alone. It cannot burn through the layer of mineral wool and damage the remainder of your home. Fires in other parts of the house are prevented from spreading. Flue-like spaces between studs in walls are filled and ceiling joists protected with mineral wool.

Faulty electrical wiring ranks second in causing home fires. With EAGLE-PICHER'S Home Insulation in your walls, wires are completely surrounded by fireproof mineral wool and cannot start a fire. Wires are also protected from damage by water, rodents and other pests which may cause an electrical short circuit.

Keeps Outside Fire From Burning Through—

Fires on the outside of your home are prevented from burning through with EAGLE-PICHER Home Insulation in your side walls. DISABLED GI'S REQUIRING AID

Those Partially Handicapped Require Jobs; Mayors Urge Assistance

"It's not what is gone but what is left that counts when an employer considers a handicapped veteran for permanent employment," Mr. S. P. Riser, manager of the local USES office said today in outlining the objectives of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week October 6-12.

Mayors H. H. Benoit and D. C. Golson have issued a proclamation setting aside this week for observance by the Twin City residents. In their proclamation the mayors cited the excellent record of handicapped persons during the war while the abled-bodied were on the fighting fronts.

Pointing out that many veterans and war workers acquired some form of handicap as a result of the war, USES Manager Riser said it is the obligation of everyone to help handicapped persons to obtain employment for which they are qualified.

"Few handicapped persons," he said, "will accept work which they are not qualified to perform. Some are qualified for certain types of work but are not aware of their abilities. It is the job of the USES to advise and counsel such workers, and when the skill or ability is found, to refer the worker to an employer who is in need of the particular skill or ability."

Mr. Riser said that more than twenty-five handicapped workers had been referred to jobs in Monroe during the past month. Others are waiting for referral to the right jobs, he said. Many employers so far have been more cooperative in hiring these workers but more jobs for the handicapped are needed to aid applicants at USES offices, Mr. Riser said.

The proclamation is as follows:

WHEREAS, victory in World War II cost us more than 2,000,000 casualties and

WHEREAS, there are many millions of handicapped persons in the United States, many of whom by their efforts were of great aid in manufacturing munitions or providing essential service for the war efforts, and

WHEREAS, all of these persons including disabled veterans of World War I and II deserve self-supporting, self-respecting jobs in which they can make useful contributions to our community, state and nation . . .

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, H. H. Benoit and D. C. Golson, mayors of the City of Monroe and West Monroe, do set aside the week of October 6th to October 12th as Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and we call upon all local officials, all local employers, all local civic organizations and all citizens to assist in every way possible, to the end that it shall be brought to the attention of all members of our community that disabled veterans and other handicapped civilians are fully capable and are performing efficiently, safely and reliably in thousands of different occupations.

AND WE FURTHER URGE ALL EMPLOYES to place all their job orders with the United States Employment Service so that disabled veterans and other handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove their value in productive and self-respecting jobs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Monroe and West Monroe to be affixed.

H. H. BENOIT, Mayor,
Monroe, La.

D. C. GOLSON, Mayor,
West Monroe, La.

CARRIER BOYS' TALKS FEATURE NEWSPAPER WEEK

National Newspaper Week was observed during the last seven days with several programs which featured carrier boys of the News-Star—World. In the top photo are shown members of the local staff and of the Kiwanis Club at their meeting at the Virginia Hotel Wednesday. Staff members are, from left to right, Mrs. Sue Sharman, Glen Bouler and Alton Roberts. In the second picture, the participants in the program at the West Monroe Lions Club are shown. They are, left to right, Fred Hoffman, Lion tamer; E. E. (Pappy) Eaves, president of the club; James Morris, James Massey, Donald Craun, Charlie Wall, secretary and treasurer of the club, and DeWitt Henry, publicity chairman. Saturday a broadcast over KNOE was devoted to the observance, and those in the photograph are J. W. Hankins, Frank A. Browne, manager of KNOE; Mrs. Sharman and Leonard Folds. The weekly meeting of the Optimist Club also was given over to observance of National Newspaper week and several carrier boys appeared on their program.

GIBBENS WILL BE 1ST AID TEACHER

A 30-hour first-aid instructor training course is to be given by the local Red Cross chapter from October 7 to 18 by George Gibbens.

Mr. Gibbens is well-fitted because of his educational background to be special field representative of the American Red Cross First-Aid, water safety and accident prevention service. At the Louisiana State Normal school, at Natchitoches, La., his major study was physical education. From 1939 to 1941 he served as a volunteer instructor in first-aid and water safety at Iberville parish, Louisiana, in the summer; at State Normal College, Natchitoches, La., in the winer. He has taken part in the programs of four American Red Cross National Aquatic Schools, at two of which he has served on the faculty.

NO. LOUISIANA FAIR IS FREE

Public Invited To Ruston From October 8-12; New Equipment Shown

A Farm and Home Labor-Saving Show featuring the latest available products of the farm and home equipment manufactures and the home-made inventions of individual farmers will be held here, as an added attraction of the North Louisiana State Fair at Ruston, October 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, according to the county agent, J. A. Shealy, of Lincoln parish. The show will be held under auspices of the emergency farm labor program of the agricultural extension service at Louisiana State University. The public is invited. Admission will be free.

C. E. Kemmerly, Jr., Baton Rouge, supervisor of the extension emergency farm labor program, said that efforts are being made to bring to the show many of the more valuable devices perfected by Louisiana farmers themselves. Any farmer in the Ruston vicinity who has some home-made device that he thinks might prove useful to other farmers is urged to get in touch with his parish agricultural agent, who will help him make arrangements to exhibit his machine at the Ruston show, Kemmerly said.

The purpose of the show, according to County Agent Shealy, is to demonstrate the new equipment that is now coming on the market, show what can be accomplished by individual ingenuity, and stress the possibilities of greater food production at lower cost and effort through proper use of machinery.

"This will be the latest and largest of a series of such shows that are being held in Louisiana," Shealy said. "The others have brought to light a surprising variety of home-made inventions, including everything from home-made tractors and post drivers to tree shakers for use in harvesting pecans. The corn industry is one of the most heavily mechanized of all and we feel sure that the Ruston show will show evidence of even greater ingenuity on the part of farmers in this area. The public is invited to attend this show and get a glimpse of the farm and home of the future."

WILL DISCUSS TB AS MENACE

Health Workshop To Have Open Meeting At Hotel Virginia

Dr. D. L. Anderson, director of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis program, will be guest speaker at the city schools health workshop meeting held on Hotel Virginia roof, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This proposed program will be conducted for the purpose of interesting the public in the vital need of informing people of the facts that concern tuberculosis. Statistics show that this section of Louisiana suffers a high death rate from this disease.

This is regarded as imperative that parents, teachers and the public be concerned over the welfare of their children and unite in an effort to improve conditions.

On the same program will be E. L. Sanford and Dr. Russell I. Pierce, acting chief of the section of tuberculosis control, state department of health.

Dr. James S. May, director of St. Mary's Parish Health Unit, will also be a speaker on the program. Dr. May gave a most excellent talk in Hammond, La., recently on "The School's Influence on Mental and Emotional Health."

The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Trial Offer: To prove what Cystex may do to bring you joyous help from the pains and distress due to above mentioned Kidney and Bladder troubles, get Cystex from your druggist and give it a fair trial exactly according to the simple directions. Unless completely satisfied and delighted with your rapid improvement, your money back is guaranteed. So don't suffer another day without trying Cystex.

Meet Your Carrier Boy

Today We Present . . .

Carrying the longest News-Star-World route, Alton has turned his job into a substantial business. In addition to delivering almost six hundred papers a day, on Sunday he has several street sales boys working for him, disposing of, on an average, 800 papers. Alton's earnings from the two enterprises amount to a cool $80 a week, which isn't bad for a few hour's work a day.

After he graduates from high school, Alton is considering going into one of two quite unrelated vocations—mechanics or medicine. He is taking a trade course in school now, and intends to work at one of the local machine shops when he finishes. If he likes it, he'll invest some of his newspaper earnings and eventually acquire his own business. But if, after trying it for a few months, he finds that he's no longer interested in it, then he plans to go to college and study to be a doctor.

Alton lists basketball and boxing among his favorite sports. Engaging actively in both of them, he plays on the varsity team at Ouachita High, and boxes in a club sponsored by the Illinois Central railroad. Right now he's training for a tournament which will be his first actual contest.

Alton likes to dance, and prefers popular music of the solid boogie woogie kind. Romantic movies hold the strongest appeal for him, and he regards Bing Crosby as his favorite star.

Alton frequently takes short trips on his motor bike, which he purchased with the money he earns carrying papers, to nearby towns, and hopes someday to travel to Detroit to observe first-hand how automobiles are made.

Demonstrating Alton's limitless energy is the record how he developed his present route. He started with two routes, an exception in itself, and then finding that he wanted more work took on an additional one. Seeing an opportunity for further expansion, he organized the boys in his neighborhood and put them to work selling Sunday papers for him—all in the three months he has been with the News-Star-World.

His route has paid other dividends, too, Alton says. Several months ago one of his customers introduced him to a very comely niece, and that was the beginning of a very wonderful relationship. So Alton asserts, no route, no girl.

Alton's days are usually pretty full. Getting up at four in the morning, he first delivers papers and then studies a while before going off to school. In the afternoon he goes over his route again and then takes a little time out for a movie or a date. Then to bed and up again at four the next morning.

Although Alton enjoys carrying papers, he has a deep aversion to subscribers who try to avoid paying their bills. The subterfuges some of them resort to, he says, are absolutely astonishing and range from hiding quietly in the house when he comes to the door to sneaking out the back. Most of his customers are fair, he states, but there are enough of the others to cause plenty of headaches.

With Alton Roberts we conclude our series of carrier boy close-ups. The past week has been National Newspaper Week, and in order that subscribers could be acquainted with some of the youngsters responsible for getting their papers to them every day, in all kinds of weather, these write-ups were presented. Those who appeared in the stories are representatives of the rest of the boys who deliver the News-Star and Morning World. All of them deserve recognition for their vital role in making possible the dissemination of news, and to all of them employing their spare time for profitable and educational experience which will benefit them throughout life belongs the gratitude of all whom they so faithfully serve.

GIRL SCOUTS OF MONROE LAUDED

Miss Katrine Nickel Says Work Performed Is Highly Commendable

Commending the work done for Girl Scouts in the Twin Cities, Miss Katrine Nickel, member of the national Girl Scout staff, was enthusiastic in her account of a recent visit in Monroe with leaders and members of the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council. Miss Nickel, whose headquarters are in Memphis, Tenn., is field advisor of the fifth region comprising the states of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. After her stay in this city, the official declared:

"It is encouraging to see the busy women and men of this community working to give a constructive program to the girls in whom they believe."

In discussing the various phases of organization work here, Miss Nickel emphasized the day camp last summer at Camp Happy Land. She said with reference to it:

"The Girl Scout leaders, council members and the executive director, Miss Alice Stanford, are to be commended for the splendid day camping program they made possible for the girls of this community. Such a program takes sound planning, good leadership and community cooperation. All these made for the success of the project."

In response to the question of the feasibility of extending the organization's activities to more girls, Miss Nickel said that the responsibility rests with the council supported by all citizens of the community. She said that the national Girl Scout staff was eager to help the organization by sharing the good practices of all councils with the local one. Miss Nickel explained:

"We pass on your successful experiences to others, and thus by pooling the best all have done we build toward our goal of the best possible Scout program for the most possible girls."

Shreveport's VA Office To See That Action Is Promptly Taken

Veterans in northern Louisiana will have their G. I. loans guaranteed speedily through the Shreveport regional office of the Veterans Administration, Holcombe C. White, VA contact representative, promised Saturday, in announcing the opening of the regional loan guarantee office.

The loan guarantee division, unlike other departments of the Shreveport VA, has delayed activation pending receipt of necessary forms and equipment, Mr. White said. Until now, G. I. loans from this section have been processed through the New Orleans office.

Promising veterans speedy service, Mr. White said, the Shreveport office hopes for direct teletype service to Washington in the future so that loans can be processed in several days.

Outlining the procedure for securing VA guarantee of a loan, Mr. White pointed out that veterans do not have to visit VA offices at any point in their negotiations.

He urged veterans to:

1. Find the business or home they wish to buy.

2. Go to a lending agency of their choice.

He pointed out that most lending agencies know the correct procedure for dealing with VA once they have approved a loan.

Mr. White emphasized the veterans must "sell" the lender on granting them a loan—that VA can't help them here. Once the loan has been arranged, VA can automatically guarantee up to $4,000 on a home loan; up to $2,000 on a business loan, Mr. White said.

WILL DISCUSS TB AS MENACE

Health Workshop To Have Open Meeting At Hotel Virginia

Dr. D. L. Anderson, director of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis program, will be guest speaker at the city schools health workshop meeting held on Hotel Virginia roof, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

This proposed program will be conducted for the purpose of interesting the public in the vital need of informing people of the facts that concern tuberculosis. Statistics show that this section of Louisiana suffers a high death rate from this disease.

This is regarded as imperative that parents, teachers and the public be concerned over the welfare of their children and unite in an effort to improve conditions.

On the same program will be E. L. Sanford and Dr. Russell I. Pierce, acting chief of the section of tuberculosis control, state department of health.

Dr. James S. May, director of St. Mary's Parish Health Unit, will also be a speaker on the program. Dr. May gave a most excellent talk in Hammond, La., recently on "The School's Influence on Mental and Emotional Health."

The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Backache Whipped By Man and Wife

If you suffer from Backache, Leg or Rheumatic pains, Nervousness, Swollen Ankles, Burning Passages, Bladder Weakness, or Getting Up Nights, due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles, you may easily enjoy the delightful benefits experienced by thousands who have depended on Cystex for such troubles. The following letter from a well-known Massachusetts housewife is typical of those received from Cystex users all over the world: "I was so laid up with pains in my back, legs and arms that I was miserable. Finally I decided to try your Cystex. In a couple of weeks I was like a new person, the pains had left and I could walk anywhere. My husband had pains in his arms, took Cystex and the pains left." Trial Offer: To prove what Cystex may do to bring you joyous help from the pains and distress due to above mentioned Kidney and Bladder troubles, get Cystex from your druggist and give it a fair trial exactly according to the simple directions. Unless completely satisfied and delighted with your rapid improvement, your money back is guaranteed. So don't suffer another day without trying Cystex.

Meet Your Carrier Boy

Today We Present . . .

Carrying the longest News-Star-World route, Alton has turned his job into a substantial business. In addition to delivering almost six hundred papers a day, on Sunday he has several street sales boys working for him, disposing of, on an average, 800 papers. Alton's earnings from the two enterprises amount to a cool $80 a week, which isn't bad for a few hour's work a day.

After he graduates from high school, Alton is considering going into one of two quite unrelated vocations—mechanics or medicine. He is taking a trade course in school now, and intends to work at one of the local machine shops when he finishes. If he likes it, he'll invest some of his newspaper earnings and eventually acquire his own business. But if, after trying it for a few months, he finds that he's no longer interested in it, then he plans to go to college and study to be a doctor.

Alton lists basketball and boxing among his favorite sports. Engaging actively in both of them, he plays on the varsity team at Ouachita High, and boxes in a club sponsored by the Illinois Central railroad. Right now he's training for a tournament which will be his first actual contest.

Alton likes to dance, and prefers popular music of the solid boogie woogie kind. Romantic movies hold the strongest appeal for him, and he regards Bing Crosby as his favorite star.

Alton frequently takes short trips on his motor bike, which he purchased with the money he earns carrying papers, to nearby towns, and hopes someday to travel to Detroit to observe first-hand how automobiles are made.

Demonstrating Alton's limitless energy is the record how he developed his present route. He started with two routes, an exception in itself, and then finding that he wanted more work took on an additional one. Seeing an opportunity for further expansion, he organized the boys in his neighborhood and put them to work selling Sunday papers for him—all in the three months he has been with the News-Star-World.

His route has paid other dividends, too, Alton says. Several months ago one of his customers introduced him to a very comely niece, and that was the beginning of a very wonderful relationship. So Alton asserts, no route, no girl.

Alton's days are usually pretty full. Getting up at four in the morning, he first delivers papers and then studies a while before going off to school. In the afternoon he goes over his route again and then takes a little time out for a movie or a date. Then to bed and up again at four the next morning.

Although Alton enjoys carrying papers, he has a deep aversion to subscribers who try to avoid paying their bills. The subterfuges some of them resort to, he says, are absolutely astonishing and range from hiding quietly in the house when he comes to the door to sneaking out the back. Most of his customers are fair, he states, but there are enough of the others to cause plenty of headaches.

With Alton Roberts we conclude our series of carrier boy close-ups. The past week has been National Newspaper Week, and in order that subscribers could be acquainted with some of the youngsters responsible for getting their papers to them every day, in all kinds of weather, these write-ups were presented. Those who appeared in the stories are representatives of the rest of the boys who deliver the News-Star and Morning World. All of them deserve recognition for their vital role in making possible the dissemination of news, and to all of them employing their spare time for profitable and educational experience which will benefit them throughout life belongs the gratitude of all whom they so faithfully serve.

GIRL SCOUTS OF MONROE LAUDED

Miss Katrine Nickel Says Work Performed Is Highly Commendable

Commending the work done for Girl Scouts in the Twin Cities, Miss Katrine Nickel, member of the national Girl Scout staff, was enthusiastic in her account of a recent visit in Monroe with leaders and members of the Ouachita Parish Girl Scout Council. Miss Nickel, whose headquarters are in Memphis, Tenn., is field advisor of the fifth region comprising the states of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. After her stay in this city, the official declared:

"It is encouraging to see the busy women and men of this community working to give a constructive program to the girls in whom they believe."

In discussing the various phases of organization work here, Miss Nickel emphasized the day camp last summer at Camp Happy Land. She said with reference to it:

"The Girl Scout leaders, council members and the executive director, Miss Alice Stanford, are to be commended for the splendid day camping program they made possible for the girls of this community. Such a program takes sound planning, good leadership and community cooperation. All these made for the success of the project."

In response to the question of the feasibility of extending the organization's activities to more girls, Miss Nickel said that the responsibility rests with the council supported by all citizens of the community. She said that the national Girl Scout staff was eager to help the organization by sharing the good practices of all councils with the local one. Miss Nickel explained:

"We pass on your successful experiences to others, and thus by pooling the best all have done we build toward our goal of the best possible Scout program for the most possible girls."

SHIP STRIKE

3. By Capt. Harry Martin, president of the A. F. L. Masters, Mates and Pilots association—a declaration that the strike on all coasts "is being prolonged because of the dilatory actions of all the operators, both east and west coasts, and the U. S. maritime commission."

4. By Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the negotiating committee for east and gulf coast shipowners—a counter declaration that the unions "have stymied negotiations insofar as the east coast and gulf is concerned by maintaining an arrogant position in dictating what the terms of an agreement shall be."

Before the government proposal was reported, efforts to end the five-day walkout had been held in stalemate by opposition from the west coast operators to union "security" demands, even in modified form. The other operators reportedly had advanced a compromise to exempt ship captains and chief engineers from a proviso that union men get hiring priority and that union members be required to maintain their membership.

RIVERFRONT UNIONS WILL MEET MONDAY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Leaders of A. F. L. riverfront unions here are scheduled to meet Monday at 10 a. m., to take "some kind of definite" action on extending the maritime strike if a settlement has not been reached, Alfred Chittenden, president of the A. F. L. marine council, said today.

"We're hoping for a settlement," he said, "but one clause in a recent policy statement from the A. F. L. maritime trades department said that all ships would be tied up unless a settlement was reached. At the meeting Monday, some kind of a definite action will be taken in that direction."

While approximately 40 American ships are strikebound here, another 20 foreign flag vessels are not being picketed. Extension of the strike would close those ships and stop car unloading along the wharves.

Chittenden estimated that about 20,000 workers are idle here because of the strike. Extension would affect an additional 21,000 members of the marine council and several thousand members of unions dependent on port activity.

"Approximately 65 percent of the longshoremen are now out," Chittenden said.

Leaders of the striking Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (C. I. O.) and Masters, Mates and Pilots (A. F. L.) reported no change in the situation.

JONES

he had obtained a job, and removed to Louisiana.

The defense rested its case at 11:25 a. m., today and summations followed. It was expected the case would be rested with the jury either tonight or at a Sunday session of court.

In testifying today, Jones said he remembered clearly details of the hitchhike ride through Louisiana, with stops along the road for coffee.

But in asker to a question from George Blum, assistant district attorney, Jones declared:

"As far as the actual crime, I could not tell you the sequence of events or anything of that nature, except I do remember being in a large building close to some little place I am unable to name."

(The shooting occurred near the small town of Lutcher, La).

Jones testified that since he had been in jail he had suffered from headaches and at one time he had wanted nothing to eat for three days. In earlier testimony members of his family said he had acted abnormally at times.

Two members of a state sanity commission who examined Jones after his arrest, were to testify. Dr. Connerly also was a member of the commission. The commission had held that Jones was sane.

remains in sole control of Palestine and has no obligations to accept suggestions made by the United States or any outside power.

He said the government was "puzzled" that Truman has acted so "precipitately" and had not accepted the decision of the British which has "the responsibility for Palestine."

This was even stronger than yesterday when a spokesman for the prime minister's office said the president's statement was "most unfortunate" and "might well jeopardize a settlement." At that time the spokesman contented himself with saying Attlee's request for a delay in issuance of the president's statement "was not complied with."

An Arab spokesman accused the president of playing politics. Dr. M. Fadhel Jamali, Iraq foreign minister and leader of the Iraq delegation to the London conference on Palestine, in a formal statement declared that "we regret that the president's connection with Zionist sources in America is never counter-balanced by any standing connections with, or study of, the Arab point of view. We also know, to our regret, that elections in America, which should be purely internal matters, do take on a bargaining nature for Zionist votes and Zionist influence in the U. S."

A Daily Mail dispatch from Washington said the president's statement was made "at the express desire of Mr. Robert Hannegan," Democratic national chairman.

Leading Jews maintained a strict Sabbath silence. Most Jews in Palestine were still unaware of the president's statement or its repercussions except for rumors. There had been no Jewish newspapers published in Palestine since Friday afternoon because of the Yom Kippur holiday.

One Jewish agency spokesman in Palestine, however, warmly welcomed the president's stand and expressed the hope that Jews deported to Cyprus would be among those admitted if the president's suggestion for immediate immigration materializes.

Palestine dispatches said Arab opposition was vehement. The Arab executive went into session late in the day to discuss developments and to cement the amalgamation of two unofficial Arab armies.

PORTER

leading toward a record high living standard.

"Whether we have steaks next week or the week thereafter," he declared, "it seems to me our main objective such as stabilization and stabilization for the entire economy. It's the same problem in many important respects, that America has been struggling with for nearly five years."

It was announced that a telegram from Major William O'Dwyer of New York urging a meat shortage investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be referred in the usual way to the Justice Department. The telegram to the president, suggesting the F. B. I. inquiry along with other measures, was received yesterday.

O'Dwyer said he is convinced that "there exists a conspiracy to defeat price controls and starve the people of this country into a politically inspired depression." He added that prompt presidential action would expose "the true malfactors" and "put meat on the table."

Along the same line Senator Mead (D-NY) asked the Senate small business committee to investigate whether "a conspiracy exists on the part of big business" to keep meat from small independent stores.

The proposal by Mead, Democratic nominee for governor of New York, added a new angle to repeated calls he already had made for inquiries.

Previously Mead had addressed investigation demands to the Justice Department, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Agriculture Department, OPA, and the Public Health Service. These calls had been for more generalized inquiry.

His telegram to the small business group advanced the idea that big food chains, producing their own meat in integrated operations, are able to "supply such meat as is being permitted to get to the public," and thereby draw customers away from the smaller independent stores.

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.), a small business committeeman, said he knows of no discussion on whether to hold hearings, but told reporters the committee has been getting "a lot of complaints," from restaurants and small slaughterers.

CIVIC CAMPAIGN

Davenport, president of the Community Chest, said:

"This year's campaign is solely for local agencies. No money contributed goes overseas or for foreign relief. No money goes outside our parish. Every cent will be spent here by our own people, for our own people. The chest does not provide charity handouts for those who should earn for themselves. It does not give doles to those who would rather loaf than work. It seeks to build character in the young, maintain it in the old, provide opportunity for people who help themselves. We are asking your support as social, economic and political insurance against unavoidable hazards that otherwise may befall not only our individuals but our whole community. In the Community Chest campaign you will find people of all religious creeds, all political parties and racial backgrounds, in all walks of life, united in a common purpose, and it is our hope that the people of Monroe and West Monroe will give their support just as they have in the past years."

Greenwich time (11:21 a. m., EST), estimated they would reach Cairo in 41 to 43 hours. The course across Arctic wastelands with their notorious weather conditions precluded much chance that the Dreamboat would attempt to shatter the U. S. Navy's distance record of 11,250 miles, set earlier this week by the Truculent Turtle.

Should gasoline gauges appear high when the Superfortress noses across the Egyptian desert to Cairo, it was expected that Irvine would send the ship 700 miles up the Nile to Wadi Halfa, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan south of Cairo. The route from Honolulu to Cairo was estimated to be 10,300 miles long.

The dreamboat cleared Iceland and was heading south above the North Atlantic toward England at 5:16 p. m. Iceland time (1:16 p. m. EST). The course from Reykjavik, Iceland, to London was 1,171 miles.

The plane weighed 74 tons at takeoff but grew lighter every minute as its four hungry engines gulped the 77,352 pounds of gasoline it lifted from the Hawaiian airfield.

During much of the day, the Dreamboat flew along the south limits of the Arctic ocean, whose other shore touches the U. S. S. R.

In Moscow, the government newspaper Izvestia, commenting on another subject, said the "Americans are having a warm love for the cold countries: The Arctic, Iceland, Greenland and Scandinavia."

The plane flew a slight variation of a great circle route to avoid flying over Russian-controlled territory. A true circle from Honolulu to Cairo would have routed the Dreamboat over Scandinavia and the territory east of Berlin and through the Russian-dominated Balkans.

The projected course was above London; within 30 miles of Paris; across the Alps and Bern, Switzerland; Venice and Foggia, Italy; then across the Mediterranean to Cairo or perhaps Wadi Halfa.

The plane without hitch cleared the Pacific near Sitka, Alaska at 4 a. m. GMT (11 p. m. Friday EST.) her pilot lifted her from the 1,000 feet at which she had crossed the first ocean to around 15,000 to clear the southeast Alaskan peaks.

The plane apparently retained the high altitude to avoid severe Arctic storms. It passed near the magnetic north pole at about 7 a. m. GMT (2 a. m. EST) and next was heard from over the dead center of Baffin Bay, which separates northeast Canada from Greenland.

Cryptic radio messages usually reported only position and something like "all's well" or "all okay."

When Iceland was reached, the most precarious part of the flight was behind. De-icing equipment and combat gear had been left in Hawaii to allow the Superfortress to carry five more tons of fuel.

Lt. Gen. Ennis Whitehead in Honolulu said the flight was a test for a global air force. The test cost $2,000,000 and among other things, was undertaken to try out the latest instruments for blind flying.

Until this week, the Dreamboat had held the world distance record of 7,916 miles from Guam to Washington, D. C.

The British had a radar network open to communicate with the Dreamboat. A swarm of little Mosquito planes was warmed up in the north of these islands to escort the great bomber 300 miles from north of the Wash, a bay on the east-central coast, to near London. The Dreamboat was expected to drop green and red flares over Northolt airport, near London, as it passed in the night.

Skies over Great Britain were overcast tonight. A heavy mist clogged the air.

The total of 74 tons which the Dreamboat lifted into the air at Hawaii was the greatest load a Superfortress ever took into the airways. The plane was perhaps 20 to 25 tons lighter as it headed toward England.

Its top speed was more than 400 miles an hour but it cruised more slowly to conserve its gasoline.

control council before the 3:45 p. m. deadline. Ernest Kaltenbrunner, gestapo chief sentenced to hang; Armaments Producer Albert Speer and Hitler Youth Leader Baldur von Schirach, given 20 years each, disdained appeals.

Schacht and Fritzsche were released secretly last night. An official announcement was not made until nine hours later because a public relations officer held up the statement on his own initiative, despite authority given him to release the news.

Military and German police guarded the apartments of the two with orders to keep visitors and especially newsmen out unless the former defendants wanted to see them.

Capt. Morris Smith of the military government of Bavaria notified Schacht and Fritzsche at mid-afternoon that they were no longer under house arrest and that they could have police protection against possible mob violence if they wanted it.

A statement from the Munich military government office of Brig. Gen. Walter Mueller made it clear that they were free from possible arrest only until the denazification court trial was prepared by the Germans. Mueller was told by Dr. Pfeiffer that the whole denazification system would break down unless the acquitted nazis face their own people and answer now why they were high nazis.

Both Schacht and Fritzsche said they were not afraid to face such trial. Schacht asserted he was innocent and that if he was not neither were 15,000,000 Germans who voted for Hitler.

Officials from the French and Russian zones did not attend the Bremen conference, although they were invited.

In addition to the appeals from individuals filed with the control council the S. D. (secret police) and the gestapo also had appeals filed on their behalf. Yesterday attorneys filed an appeal for the S. S. (elite guard). All three organizations were found to be criminal by the tribunal.

Prison authorities refused to permit Kaltenbrunner's mistress, who has borne him twins, to see him for the last time. She tried again in vain today to have a talk with Kaltenbrunner on what to do with the children.

forced down in August when they strayed from their regular Udine-Vienna route skirting the Yugoslav border.

The U. S. planes both were unarmed C-47 transports. The first made a crash landing Aug. 9 near Ljubljana, after it was fired on by Yugoslav fighters. A turkish passenger was wounded and its nine crewmen and passengers were detained until Aug. 22.

The second U. S. plane was shot down near Bled Aug. 19. All of its five crewmen were killed in the crash.

The incidents evoked a series of sharp notes and an ultimatum from Washington. Marshal Tito's government finally promised there would be no recurrence and agreed to the principle of paying indemnities.

Full military air service between Vienna and Udine, suspended after the transports were shot down, was resumed by the U. S. army this week.

The Greek government announced Sept. 6 that one of its army planes had been shot down over Yugoslavia and the pilot held incommunicado.

There had been no previous incidents reported involving British planes being forced down.

Homicide Inspector George Branton said the victim, an employe of an auto parts plant, had been dead several hours when her body was found this morning by Mrs. W. L. Reid, another tenant, who had asked the janitor to admit her to the locked laundry.

The janitor, Hosa Mingo, told officers, Branton said, that he locked the room shortly before 9 p. m., Friday and the inspector said it was possible Mrs. Rose's body was already inside.

Police quoted Mingo as saying he was in and out of the building during the night but that he did not unlock the laundry room until requested to do so by Mrs. Reid.

The dark-haired Mrs. Rose worked in the insurance department of the Murray Corp., of America. Police said she was divorced 19 years ago and that her husband, Ralph, remarried and now operates a bowling alley in Bushnell, Ill.

Their son is a freshman in a pre-law course at the university and was recently discharged as an army air forces cadet. Police said he came to Detroit today to pick up clean clothing after failing to reach his mother by telephone.

unfailing announcement of that circus king of kings, Phineas Taylor Barnum? But sure enough, this circus is said to be one of unusually meritorious nature.

The passage of time has again made a change in downtown Monroe. The Yellow Cab offices, owned by the Endom family, has moved out of their long established quarters, 218 Grammont street, and now are at 400 Harrison street. The Endoms, which comprise Miss Louise Endom, Fred Endom and Allen Endom, daughter and sons of the late Fred Endom, twice mayor of Monroe in early days, have been located next to the Southern Railways Bus station for fully a quarter of a century. Before that, the elder Endom operated a livery stable at the site of the present J. C. Penney store on DeSiard. Then livery stables went into a decline as Ford autos multiplied on the streets, and Mr. Endom started a motorized (taxi) business at 218 Grammont. But business is moving in every direction these days in Monroe and the Endom family had an opportunity to rent 218 Grammont street to the Postoffice Pharmacy proprietors, so the old-time established business location has been given up and the Endoms are now in their new location. Seems strange to find the Endoms over there but guess the public will quickly adjust to the new place.

THINKS SULFA MAY BE LEPROSY CURE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Dr. Walter Cantidio of Cesara, Brazil, said here today that clinical methods currently in use at the Carville, La., leprosarium soon will render obsolete work being done elsewhere.

The Brazilian, in this country since August under sponsorship of the Institute of Inter-American affairs, said that the use of sulfa drugs at Carville "affords high hopes for eventual cure of leprosy."

He said he was impressed with "the efficiency of the institution, and the comfort given patients there."

NEGRO SHOOTS NAZI ON MOVIE SCREEN

Palmer explained to the parish grand jury today that he was sitting in a movie here when he noticed that the German army officer (on the screen) was threatening the American soldier. So, Palmer said, "I fired right through the Nazi's head."

3. By Capt. Harry Martin, president of the A. F. L. Masters, Mates and Pilots association—a declaration that the strike on all coasts "is being prolonged because of the dilatory actions of all the operators, both east and west coasts, and the U. S. maritime commission."

4. By Frank J. Taylor, chairman of the negotiating committee for east and gulf coast shipowners—a counter declaration that the unions "have stymied negotiations insofar as the east coast and gulf is concerned by maintaining an arrogant position in dictating what the terms of an agreement shall be."

Before the government proposal was reported, efforts to end the five-day walkout had been held in stalemate by opposition from the west coast operators to union "security" demands, even in modified form. The other operators reportedly had advanced a compromise to exempt ship captains and chief engineers from a proviso that union men get hiring priority and that union members be required to maintain their membership.

RIVERFRONT UNIONS WILL MEET MONDAY

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Leaders of A. F. L. riverfront unions here are scheduled to meet Monday at 10 a. m., to take "some kind of definite" action on extending the maritime strike if a settlement has not been reached, Alfred Chittenden, president of the A. F. L. marine council, said today.

We're hoping for a settlement," he said, "but one clause in a recent policy statement from the A. F. L. maritime trades department said that all ships would be tied up unless a settlement was reached. At the meeting Monday, some kind of a definite action will be taken in that direction."

While approximately 40 American ships are strikebound here, another 20 foreign flag vessels are not being picketed. Extension of the strike would close those ships and stop car unloading along the wharves.

Chittenden estimated that about 20,000 workers are idle here because of the strike. Extension would affect an additional 21,000 members of the marine council and several thousand members of unions dependent on port activity.

"Approximately 65 percent of the longshoremen are now out," Chittenden said.

Leaders of the striking Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (C. I. O.) and Masters, Mates and Pilots (A. F. L.) reported no change in the situation.

he had obtained a job, and removed to Louisiana.

The defense rested its case at 11:25 a. m., today and summations followed. It was expected the case would be rested with the jury either tonight or at a Sunday session of court.

In testifying today, Jones said he remembered clearly details of the hitchhike ride through Louisiana, with stops along the road for coffee.

"As far as the actual crime, I could not tell you the sequence of events or anything of that nature, except I do remember being in a large building close to some little place I am unable to name."

(The shooting occurred near the small town of Lutcher, La).

Jones testified that since he had been in jail he had suffered from headaches and at one time he had wanted nothing to eat for three days. In earlier testimony members of his family said he had acted abnormally at times.

Two members of a state sanity commission, who examined Jones after his arrest, were to testify. Dr. Connerly also was a member of the commission. The commission had held that Jones was sane.

remains in sole control of Palestine and has no obligations to accept suggestions made by the United States or any outside power.

He said the government was "puzzled" that Truman has acted so "precipitately" and had not accepted the decision of the British which has "the responsibility for Palestine."

This was even stronger than yesterday when a spokesman for the prime minister's office said the president's statement was "most unfortunate" and "might well jeopardize a settlement." At that time the spokesman contented himself with saying Attlee's request for a delay in issuance of the president's statement "was not complied with."

An Arab spokesman accused the president of playing poltics. Dr. M. Fadhel Jamali, Iraq foreign minister and leader of the Iraq delegation to the London conference on Palestine, in a formal statement declared that "we regret that the president's connection with Zionist sources in America is never counter-balanced by any standing connections with, or study of, the Arab point of view. We also know, to our regret, that elections in America, which should be purely internal matters, do take on a bargaining nature for Zionist votes and Zionist influence in the U. S."

A Daily Mail dispatch from Washington said the president's statement was made "at the express desire of Mr. Robert Hannegan," Democratic national chairman.

Leading Jews maintained a strict Sabbath silence. Most Jews in Palestine were still unaware of the president's statement or its repercussions except for rumors. There had been no Jewish newspapers published in Palestine since Friday afternoon because of the Yom Kippur holiday.

One Jewish agency spokesman in Palestine, however, warmly welcomed the president's stand and expressed the hope that Jews deported to Cyprus would be among those admitted if the president's suggestion for immediate immigration materializes.

Palestine dispatches said Arab opposition was vehement. The Arab executive went into session late in the day to discuss developments and to cement the amalgamation of two unofficial Arab armies.

"Whether we have steaks next week or the week thereafter," he declared, "it seems to me our main objective still is stabilization—and stabilization for the entire economy. It's the same problem, in many important respects, that America has been struggling with for nearly five years."

Ross indicated that a telegram from Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York urging a meat shortage investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be referred in the usual way to the Justice Department. The telegram to the president, suggesting the F. B. I. inquiry along with other measures, was received yesterday.

C'Dwyer said he is convinced that "there exists a conspiracy to defeat price controls and starve the people of this country into a politically inspired depression." He added that prompt presidential action would expose "the true malefactors" and "put meat on the table."

Along the same line Senator Mead (D-NY) asked the Senate small business committee to investigate whether "a conspiracy exists on the part of big business" to keep meat from small independent stores.

The proposal by Mead, Democratic nominee for governor of New York, added a new angle to repeated calls he already had made for inquiries.

Previously Mead had addressed investigation demands to the Justice Department, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Agriculture Department, OPA, and the Public Health Service. Those calls had been for more generalized inquiry.

His telegram to the small business group advanced the idea that big food chains, producing their own meat in integrated operations, are able to "supply such meat as is being permitted to get to the public," and thereby draw customers away from the smaller independent stores.

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn.), a small business committeeman, said he knows of no discussion on whether to hold hearings, but told reporters the committee has been getting 'a lot of complaints" from restaurants and small slaughterers.

Davenport, president of the Community Chest, said:

"This year's campaign is solely for local agencies. No money contributed goes overseas or for foreign relief. No money goes outside our parish. Every cent will be spent here by our own people, for our own people. The chest does not provide charity handouts for those who should earn for themselves. It does not give doles to those who would rather loaf than work. It seeks to build character in the young, maintain it in the old, provide opportunity for people who help themselves. We are asking your support as social, economic and political insurance against unavoidable hazards that otherwise may befall not only our individuals but our whole community. In the Community Chest campaign you will find people of all religious creeds, all political parties and racial backgrounds, in all walks of life, united in a common purpose, and it is our hope that the people of Monroe and West Monroe will give their support just as they have in the past years."

But business is moving in every direction these days in Monroe and the Endom family had an opportunity to rent 218 Grammont street to the Postoffice Pharmacy proprietors, so the old-time established business location has been given up and the Endoms are now in their new location. Seems strange to find the Endoms over there but guess the public will quickly adjust to the new place.

THINKS SULFA MAY BE LEPROSY CURE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Dr. Walter Cantidio of Cesara, Brazil, said here today that clinical methods currently in use at the Carville, La., leprosarium soon will render obsolete work being done elsewhere.

The Brazilian, in this country since August under sponsorship of the Institute of Inter-American affairs, said that the use of sulfa drugs at Carville "affords high hopes for eventual cure of leprosy."

He said he was impressed with "the efficiency of the institution, and the comfort given patients there."

NEGRO SHOOTS NAZI ON MOVIE SCREEN

Palmer explained to the parish grand jury today that he was sitting in a movie here when he noticed that the German army officer (on the screen) was threatening the American soldier. So, Palmer said, "I fired right through the Nazi's head."

Palmer wasn't on hand to see what effect, if any, his bullet had on the screen villain. He was arrested and charged with discharging firearms in a public place.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5.—(AP)—A potent Louisiana State Tiger eleven combined alert football with several good breaks tonight to defeat a tough Mississippi State Maroon team, 13 to 6, before an estimated 44,000, the largest crowd ever to witness a game here.

The much publicized Tom "Shorty" McWilliams, who resigned from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point to re-enter Mississippi State, had a bad night all around.

McWilliams fumbled in the second quarter and Louisiana State recovered and drove 44 yards for its first score. At the beginning of the fourth period, the Maroons halted a Louisiana State drive on Mississippi State's five, but on the next play McWilliams fumbled again near his goal and "Piggy" Barnes, L. S. U. left tackle, recovered for a score.

With but two minutes remaining in the final period, the Maroons drove to their only score after McWilliams was put out of play by an injury.

Y. A. Tittle, Tiger quarterback, completed two successive passes to place the ball in scoring position for L. S. U.'s first touchdown, and Slim Jim Cason, left halfback, went through tackle for ten yards and a touchdown. Holly Heard, substitute tackle, place kicked the extra point.

McWilliams' costly fumble occurred as the fourth quarter began after the Maroons stopped a Tiger threat on their five yard line. Heard missed the try for the extra point, it appeared then that the Maroons would be blanked.

However, Mississippi State started a 68-yard drive that clicked for a score, with Lawrence Matulich, substitute tailback, carrying the ball over from the L. S. U. two. Teddy Shuff, who went into convert, kicked low and the game ended a minute or so later.

The "breaks" were frequent and consisted mostly of fumbles. However, they were about equally divided except for McWilliams' fourth quarter miscue.

J-H BENGALS NEXT ON NEVILLE SLATE

Rival Tiger Elevens Tangle On Local Gridiron Friday Night At 8

The Neville High School Tigers, after dabbling around with three non-conference foes, only one of which fell an easy victim, will launch their Class A conference fight here Thursday night against the 1945 state champions of Jonesboro-Hodge High School.

The Bengals have looked fairly good in beating Minden, Junction City and Lafayette, but they barely scrapped past Minden and Lafayette and should realize that it will take harder play to stop the charges of Coach Jack Jaggers who have already appeared in five games this year.

Jonesboro thumped Plain Dealing, 32 to 0, and Springhill, 13 to 12, barely lost to Ouachita Parish High School of Monroe, 6 to 0, in the season opener, and then bowed to the powerhouse from Smackover, Ark., 20 to 0, and lost to Bastrop, the current favorite to win the district Class A crown, last Friday night, 13 to 0.

S. A. Chestnut, 165-pound triple threat backfield sensation will be the boy leading the J-H offensive from all indications, along with Levance Carson, 155-pound quarterback who is an outstanding offensive blocker and good defensive player.

Top stars of the Jonesboro-Hodge line are Roller, 185-pound tackle, David Garrett, 150-pound center, and Nomey, 160-pound guard.

The Lafayette game here Friday night was regarded as a "test" game for the Tigers to reveal how good they could travel with a non-conference club of their own class. Neville won the game, 13 to 6, but the Lafayette eleven outgained them on the ground and bested them in first downs.

If anything, the Lafayette game showed up the Neville defense, a department of play that will have to be nearer perfection to carry them past Jonesboro-Hodge. Stopping Chestnut will be about the biggest chore handed Coach Bill Ruple's forces this season, and it will just about take harder defensive playing than the Bengals have been able to give so far to keep ahead of their Tiger rivals.

Bucky McElroy, Perry Fisher, and "Stoney" Smallwood stood out in the Neville backfield against Lafayette, but they'll probably be called upon to run harder, block harder, and tackle still harder this week.

Probably the outstanding individual of the Neville line the past Friday was Ronald Gunter, a first-year guard who played an outstanding game in all departments of play and should be able to share his burden of the load and more so against J-H. Others starring against Lafayette were Ends "Red" Greenwell and Roy Brennan, Tackles Rudolph Bedgood and Harry Pribble, and Guard Buster Stevens.

Pribble played the entire game despite a severe charley horse, and Brennan suffered a knee injury that threatens to slow him down for the important Jonesboro-Hodge scramble.

Wednesday night the Neville freshman football team will meet the Bastrop frosh at 7:30 o'clock at Neville Stadium. The varsity clash with Jonesboro-Hodge Thursday will begin at 8 p. m.

It Takes Pitching, Too

OLE MISS 'B' CLUB PLAYS N. J. C. NEXT

The University of Mississippi "B" team, headed by Coaches Junie Hovious, former Ole Miss backfield sensation, and Wobble Davis, will appear in Monroe next Friday night against the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians, and indications are that the biggest crowd to jam Brown Field here in several years will be on hand to see what Coach Jim Malone's powerhouse can do with the boys who weren't quite able to make the grade with the Ole Miss' Southeastern Conference representative.

Athletic officials here yesterday said a sell-out was practically assured for the game, that 1,000 additional seats were being constructed on the east side of Brown Field, and that a new system of ticket handling would be in effect this week at the stadium to avoid congestion in ticket lines such as occurred a week ago.

Reserve, general admission and children's tickets will go on advanced sale tomorrow at Wilson-Lockhart Sporting Goods Store on North Second street, at Fink, the Tailor's, and at the College Friend Cafe.

Then additional ticket boxes will be opened at the stadium to help handle the expected crowd.

In a special announcement last night, the N. J. C. athletic department said only reserved seats, box seats, and children's tickets would be on sale at booths on the west side of the field. General admission tickets will be handled entirely at the east side gates.

L. T. I. Outrushes Tide But Unable To Score When Chances Given

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—A hapless Louisiana Training Institute eleven rolled up 13 first downs and made three penetrations but lost last night to a heavier Columbia High School team which showed no outstanding offense, 22-0. The Crimson Tide netted just six first downs, but was able to turn Pelican thrusts to its own advantage.

L. T. I. staged drives of 60 yards and 50 yards on two occasions but couldn't get the ball over.

Early in the first quarter Columbia recovered an L. T. I. fumble of a punt deep in Pel territory, and Gunn followed it up by smashing over for the first Tide touchdown. Then L. T. I. hammered back in a drive that went all the way to the Columbia three where the Tide's Brown intercepted one of Stockwell's passes and ran it back 97 yards for the second Crimson TD. Harrelson made the point after Brown's touchdown to give the locals a halftime lead of 13-0.

Columbia added a safety in the third quarter when L. T. I.'s Demaree, who otherwise played a good game, let a Tide punt get away from him into the end zone where he was tackled before he could get out.

In the last period L. T. I. drove to the Tide 12 only to have another pass backfire when Harrelson intercepted and ran all the way back to the Pel 15 before he was stopped. The Tide took eight downs in going the rest of the way with Gunn plunging over and J. Gregory adding the final point.

Outstanding for Columbia were Gunn, Brown, and Harrelson, backs, and McGuffie, end. L. T. I.'s offense was sparked by the running and passing of Stockwell, a stellar little halfback, and the smashing defensive play of Theo Parker, fullback. The Pels' best lineman was easily Bobby Baudoin, guard. LeVasseur, lone Pelican veteran who usually works at tackle, played his first game as a blocking back and looked impressive at times.

HOGS WIN EASILY OVER FROGS, 34-14

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 5—(AP)—A strong south wind and a rugged Arkansas team licked Texas Christian 34-14 today in a Southwest Conference football game featured by long runs and sensational passes.

Four times the superbly conditioned Razorbacks, whose line gave the Horned Frogs a rough whipping, took short Christian punts and rolled to touchdowns. Three times it was the strong south wind that ruined the TCU kicking. Another time it was the charging Razorback line.

Skinney-legged Aubrey Fowler passed for one touchdown and let up another which he scored himself on a line plunge. Chunky Ken Holland raced for one score and passed for another, and Leon Campbell, fourth team back, whipped 85 yards with a kick-off to rack up the final counter.

OFFER PURSE INCREASES AT FAIR GROUNDS TRACK

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Increased purses, with a minimum of $1,100, will be provided for the 75-day racing meet, opening at the Fair Grounds here on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28.

This represents a $200 increase over the minimum purse of the 1945-46 season, Richard G. Jones, publicity chairman of the Fair Grounds, said.

Applications already are in hand for more than 2,500 thoroughbreds for the winter meet, the management said.

The racing season here will last through March 8. There will be no racing on Mondays, except those Mondays of Dec. 30 and Feb. 18, on the eve of the Sugar Bowl football game and the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

Track Superintendent Roy Dickerson announces that the track will be ready on Oct. 15 for the conditioning of horses by trainers. The present available supply of stall space is 1,100.

Jones announced the following officials for the season:

GILMER PASSES CRIMSON TIDE TO WIN OVER COCKS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 5—(AP)—Harry Gilmer's dead-sure passing was the difference today as Alabama's Crimson Tide triumphed over the scrappy South Carolina Gamecocks 14-6.

A crowd of 20,000 saw the Gamecocks outplay the heavily favored Tide, excelling in most everything but the score.

Texans Defeat Northeast Junior College Of L. S. U. By 13-0 Score

KILGORE, Tex., Oct. 5.—(Special)—The Kilgore Junior College Rangers had to take to the air here tonight to conquer a hard fighting band of Northeast Junior College Indians from Monroe, La., 13 to 0, before a crowd estimated at over 11,000 and largest in Kilgore football history.

T. A. Scott, star chunker of the Ranger backfield, tossed one touchdown pass in the second quarter, and rifled another aerial a short time later to set up another, and then the two powerful lines battled out the rest of the scramble in a duel of defenses.

Scott, standing on his own 35, started Kilgore on its first front drive when he fired a 25-yard pass to Ed Stagg on the N. J. C. 40, and Stagg ran it on to the Redskin 25. Max Clark and Fullback Allan Neveux combined to make a first on the 15, and then Scott passed to Neveux in the end-zone for the touchdown. Neveux's attempted conversion failed.

A short time later Clark received an Indian punt on his own 40 and returned it to the N. J. C. 25. Scott pitched another pass to End Maurice Elliott on the ten, and another to E. R. Stone who was hauled down two feet short of paydirt. On the next play, Rex Bullock puled a quarterback sneak to score a second time, and Jimmy Thrasher converted.

Tommy Hines, smallest gridder on the field tonight, made monkeys out of the Rangers often as he tried desperately to pull the Redskins from behind.

The little 145-pounder from Monroe on numerous occasions faded back to pass but his receivers could never get in the clear. On such occasions Hines kept searching for receivers and giving just about the whole Kilgore line tackle-shots at him, but he would weave free and then break away for good running gains.

The Indians were shaken in the second quarter by the injury of their halfback, Talmadge Foreman, who suffered a head injury and has "some teeth" knocked out, according to reports. The Indian gridder was at a hospital here tonight for treatment, but the seriousness of his hurts was not announced.

WASHINGTON'S HUSKIES TUMBLE BEFORE UCLANS

SEATTLE, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The supercharged Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles, scoring in every quarter, butchered any University of Washington title hopes today before 43,000 fans by rolling up a convincing 39 to 13 victory for their second straight one-sided Pacific Coast Conference win.

The only time the outcome was in doubt was at the outset, when Washington's Huskies recovered a fumble and scored in the first seven plays of the game.

But the Bruins came right back with the sensational Ernie Caseeal-Rossi touchdown combination to tie the score, and when passes and long runs brought the Bruins another pair of six-pointers in the second quarter the only remaining question was how high the score would mount.

OUACHITA LIONS HAVE OPEN DATE

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, who held the Bolton Bears of Alexandria to a 6-6 tie Friday for their third successive deadlock with the Bruins, have an open date this week, and go into action next week against the Golden Tornado of Haynesville here October 18.

The Tornado entanglement will mark the opening of the Lions' Class AA conference race, and since the Haynesville eleven beat Fair Park of Shreveport Friday night and also conquered Ruston by practically the same margin that the Lions triumphed, its certain the O. P. H. S. boys will have to be at their best for the Golden Boys if they expect to keep in the title chase.

The Lions have shown marked improvement with the progress of their season and, despite the fact that Coach Jim Hodgins has practically an entirely first-year regular lineup, the locals should be ready to give a good account of themselves in the games that "really count."

Then too, the week of rest should give the locals an opportunity to get their regular fullback, Fay Duchesne, back in top form for the Tornado. Duchesne, only regular back from last year's stellar team, has been out of the lineup for two games since suffering a shoulder injury against Bossier City here.

REBS, CRACKERS RESUME DIXIE SERIES AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 5—(AP)—Tom Pullig, the former paratrooper from Arkansas, will attempt to pitch the Dallas Rebels within one game of its first Dixie Series baseball championship in 20 years tomorrow when he takes the mound against Bill Ayers, ace of the Atlanta Crackers pitching staff.

Starting at 3 p. m., CST, the first of a possible three-game set here is expected to jam between 12,000 and 13,000 into Rebel Stadium if favorable weather prevails. The fourth game will be played Monday at 8 p. m. and if these two are divided, the fifth encounter will be staged Tuesday night.

If the battle is prolonged that far, the last two games in the best four of seven series are carded in Atlanta where the Texas League champion Rebels made a clean sweep of the first two games Tuesday and Wednesday nights, 13 to 3 and 3 to 0.

J-H BENGALS NEXT ON NEVILLE SLATE

Rival Tiger Elevens Tangle On Local Gridiron Friday Night At 8

The Neville High School Tigers, after dabbling around with three non-conference foes, only one of which fell an easy victim, will launch their Class A conference fight here Thursday night against the 1945 state champions of Jonesboro-Hodge High School.

The Bengals have looked fairly good in beating Minden, Junction City and Lafayette, but they barely scrapped past Minden and Lafayette and should realize that it will take harder play to stop the charges of Coach Jack Jaggers who have already appeared in five games this year.

Jonesboro thumped Plain Dealing, 32 to 0, and Springhill, 13 to 12, barely lost to Ouachita Parish High School of Monroe, 6 to 0, in the season opener, and then bowed to the powerhouse from Smackover, Ark., 20 to 0, and lost to Bastrop, the current favorite to win the district Class A crown, last Friday night, 13 to 0.

S. A. Chestnut, 145-pound triple threat backfield sensation will be the boy leading the J-H offensive from all indications, along with Levance Carson, 155-pound quarterback who is an outstanding offensive blocker and good defensive player.

The Lafayette game here Friday night was regarded as a "test" game for the Tigers to reveal how good they could travel with a non-conference club of their own class. Neville won the game, 13 to 6, but the Lafayette eleven outgained them on the ground and bested them in first downs.

If anything, the Lafayette game showed up the Neville defense, a department of play that will have to be nearer perfection to carry them past Jonesboro-Hodge. Stopping Chestnut will be about the biggest chore handed Coach Bill Ruple's forces this season, and it will just about take harder defensive playing than the Bengals have been able to give so far to keep ahead of their Tiger rivals.

Bucky McElroy, Perry Fisher, and "Stoney" Smallwood stood out in the Neville backfield against Lafayette, but they'll probably be called upon to run harder, block harder, and tackle still harder this week.

Probably the outstanding individual of the Neville line the past Friday was Ronald Gunter, a first-year guard who played an outstanding game in all departments of play and should be able to share his burden of the load and more so against J-H. Others starring against Lafayette were Ends "Red" Greenwell and Roy Brennan, Tackles Rudolph Bedgood and Harry Pribble, and Guard Buster Stevens.

Pribble played the entire game despite a severe charley horse, and Brennan suffered a knee injury that threatens to slow him down for the important Jonesboro-Hodge scramble.

Wednesday night the Neville freshman football team will meet the Bastrop frosh at 7:30 o'clock at Neville Stadium. The varsity clash with Jonesboro-Hodge Thursday will begin at 8 p. m.

It Takes Pitching, Too

OLE MISS 'B' CLUB PLAYS N. J. C. NEXT

The University of Mississippi "B" team, headed by Coaches Junie Hovious, former Ole Miss backfield sensation, and Wobble Davis, will appear in Monroe next Friday night against the Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. Indians, and indications are that the biggest crowd to jam Brown Field here in several years will be on hand to see what Coach Jim Malone's powerhouse can do with the boys who weren't quite able to make the grade with the Ole Miss' Southeastern Conference representative.

Athletic officials here yesterday said a sell-out was practically assured for the game, that 1,000 additional seats were being constructed on the east side of Brown Field, and that a new system of ticket handling would be in effect this week at the stadium to avoid congestion in ticket lines such as occurred a week ago.

Reserve, general admission and children's tickets will go on advanced sale tomorrow at Wilson-Lockhart Sporting Goods Store on North Second street, at Fink, the Tailor's, and at the College Friend Cafe.

Then additional ticket boxes will be opened at the stadium to help handle the expected crowd.

In a special announcement last night, the N. J. C. athletic department said only reserved seats, box seats, and children's tickets would be on sale at booths on the west side of the field. General admission tickets will be handled entirely at the east side gates.

When five thousand Boston fans, finding the park sold out, stormed a gate at Braves Field the night of the Bears-Yanks game and upset a ticket booth, the ticket seller found his cash drawer short $116.

BUCKS THUMP TROJANS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5. — (AP) — The alert Ohio State Buckeyes in control at all times, pounded out a one-sided 21-0 victory today over the Southern California Trojans in an intersectional grid classic before 80,047 fans in Memorial Coleseum.

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—A hapless Louisiana Training Institute eleven rolled up 13 first downs and made three penetrations but lost last night to a heavier Columbia High School team which showed no outstanding offense, 22-0. The Crimson Tide netted just six first downs, but was able to turn Pelican thrusts to its own advantage.

L. T. I. staged drives of 60 yards and 50 yards on two occasions but couldn't get the ball over.

Early in the first quarter Columbia recovered an L. T. I. fumble of a punt deep in Pel territory, and Gunn followed it up by smashing over for the first Tide touchdown. Then L. T. I. hammered back in a drive that went all the way to the Columbia three where the Tide's Brown intercepted one of Stockwell's passes and ran it back 97 yards for the second Crimson TD. Harrelson made the point after Brown's touchdown to give the locals a halftime lead of 13-0.

Columbia added a safety in the third quarter when L. T. I.'s Demaree, who otherwise played a good game, let a Tide punt get away from him into the end zone where he was tackled before he could get out.

In the last period L. T. I. drove to the Tide 12 only to have another pass backfire when Harrelson intercepted and ran all the way back to the Pel 15 before he was stopped. The Tide took eight downs in going the rest of the way with Gunn plunging over and J. Gregory adding the final point.

Outstanding for Columbia were Gunn, Brown, and Harrelson, backs, and McGuffie, end. L. T. I.'s offense was sparked by the running and passing of Stockwell, a stellar little halfback, and the smashing defensive play of Theo Parker, fullback. The Pels' best lineman was easily Bobby Baudoin, guard. LeVasseur, lone Pelican veteran who usually works at tackle, played his first game as a blocking back and looked impressive at times.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 5—(AP)—A strong south wind and a rugged Arkansas team licked Texas Christian 34-14 today in a Southwest Conference football game featured by long runs and sensational passes.

Four times the superbly conditioned Razorbacks, whose line gave the Horned Frogs a rough whipping, took short Christian punts and rolled to touchdowns. Three times it was the strong south wind that ruined the TCU kicking. Another time it was the charging Razorback line.

Skinney-legged Aubrey Fowler passed for one touchdown and let up another which he scored himself on a line plunge. Chunky Ken Holland raced for one score and passed for another, and Leon Campbell, fourth team back, whipped 85 yards with a kick-off to rack up the final counter.

OFFER PURSE INCREASES AT FAIR GROUNDS TRACK

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Increased purses, with a minimum of $1,100, will be provided for the 75-day racing meet, opening at the Fair Grounds here on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28.

This represents a $200 increase over the minimum purse of the 1945-46 season, Richard G. Jones, publicity chairman of the Fair Grounds, said.

Applications already are in hand for more than 2,500 thoroughbreds for the winter meet, the management said.

The racing season here will last through March 8. There will be no racing on Mondays, except those Mondays of Dec. 30 and Feb. 18, on the eve of the Sugar Bowl football game and the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

Track Superintendent Roy Dickerson announces that the track will be ready on Oct. 15 for the conditioning of horses by trainers. The present available supply of stall space is 1,100.

Jones announced the following officials for the season:

GILMER PASSES CRIMSON TIDE TO WIN OVER COCKS

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 5—(AP)—Harry Gilmer's dead-sure passing was the difference today as Alabama's Crimson Tide triumphed over the scrappy South Carolina Gamecocks 14-6.

A crowd of 20,000 saw the Gamecocks outplay the heavily favored Tide, excelling in most everything but the score.

KILGORE, Tex., Oct. 5.—(Special)—The Kilgore Junior College Rangers had to take to the air here tonight to conquer a hard fighting band of Northeast Junior College Indians from Monroe, La., 13 to 0, before a crowd estimated at over 11,000 and largest in Kilgore football history.

T. A. Scott, star chunker of the Ranger backfield, tossed one touchdown pass in the second quarter, and rifled another aerial a short time later to set up another, and then the two powerful lines battled out the rest of the scramble in a duel of defenses.

Scott, standing on his own 35, started Kilgore on its first front drive when he fired a 25-yard pass to Ed Stagg on the N. J. C. 40, and Stagg ran it on to the Redskin 25. Max Clark and Fullback Allan Neveux combined to make a first on the 15, and then Scott passed to Neveux in the end-zone for the touchdown. Neveux's attempted conversion failed.

A short time later Clark received an Indian punt on his own 40 and returned it to the N. J. C. 25. Scott pitched another pass to End Maurice Elliott on the ten, and another to E. R. Stone who was hauled down two feet short of paydirt. On the next play, Rex Bullock puiled a quarterback sneak to score a second time, and Jimmy Thrasher converted.

Tommy Hines, smallest gridder on the field tonight, made monkeys out of the Rangers often as he tried desperately to pull the Redskins from behind.

The little 145-pounder from Monroe on numerous occasions faded back to pass but his receivers could never get in the clear. On such occasions Hines kept searching for receivers and giving just about the whole Kilgore line tackle-shots at him, but he would weave free and then break away for good running gains.

The Indians were shaken in the second quarter by the injury of their halfback, Talmadge Foreman, who suffered a head injury and has "some teeth" knocked out, according to reports. The Indian gridder was at a hospital here tonight for treatment, but the seriousness of his hurts was not announced.

WASHINGTON'S HUSKIES TUMBLE BEFORE UCLANS

SEATTLE, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The supercharged Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles, scoring in every quarter, butchered any University of Washington title hopes today before 43,000 fans by rolling up a convincing 39 to 13 victory for their second straight one-sided Pacific Coast Conference win.

The only time the outcome was in doubt was at the outset, when Washington's Huskies recovered a fumble and scored in the first seven plays of the game.

But the Bruins came right back with the sensational Ernie Casecal-Rossi touchdown combination to tie the score, and when passes and long runs brought the Bruins another pair of six-pointers in the second quarter the only remaining question was how high the score would mount.

OUACHITA LIONS HAVE OPEN DATE

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, who held the Bolton Bears of Alexandria to a 6-6 tie Friday for their third successive deadlock with the Bruins, have an open date this week, and go into action next week against the Golden Tornado of Haynesville here October 18.

The Tornado entanglement will mark the opening of the Lions' Class AA conference race, and since the Haynesville eleven beat Fair Park of Shreveport Friday night and also conquered Ruston by practically the same margin that the Lions triumphed, its certain the O. P. H. S. boys will have to be at their best for the Golden Boys if they expect to keep in the title chase.

The Lions have shown marked improvement with the progress of their season and, despite the fact that Coach Jim Hodgins has practically an entirely first-year regular lineup, the locals should be ready to give a good account of themselves in the games that "really count."

Then too, the week of rest should give the locals an opportunity to get their regular fullback, Fay Duchesne, back in top form for the Tornado. Duchesne, only regular back from last year's stellar team, has been out of the lineup for two games since suffering a shoulder injury against Bossier City here.

REBS, CRACKERS RESUME DIXIE SERIES AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 5—(AP)—Tom Pullig, the former paratrooper from Arkansas, will attempt to pitch the Dallas Rebels within one game of its first Dixie Series baseball championship in 20 years tomorrow when he takes the mound against Bill Ayers, ace of the Atlanta Crackers pitching staff.

Starting at 3 p. m., CST, the first of a possible three-game set here is expected to jam between 12,000 and 13,000 into Rebel Stadium if favorable weather prevails. The fourth game will be played Monday at 8 p. m. and if these two are divided, the fifth encounter will be staged Tuesday night.

If the battle is prolonged that far, the last two games in the best four of seven series are carded in Atlanta where the Texas League champion Rebels made a clean sweep of the first two games Tuesday and Wednesday nights, 13 to 3 and 3 to 0.

CARDS, RED SOX OPEN WORLD SERIES TODAY

AMERICAN LOOP CHAMPS HEAVILY FAVORED TO WIN

By Gayle Talbot

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—St. Louis own Cardinals, who survived a rough trip to the finals, and the highly-favored Boston Red Sox held their last skull sessions and workouts at Sportsman's Park today preparatory to hooking up at 1:30 (CST) tomorrow afternoon in the opening game of the 1946 World Series.

A sell-out crowd of about 34,000 was assured for both of the games which will be played here before the two clubs move up to Boston to continue the struggle, which was delayed for five days while the National League made up its mind whether to pit the Cards or Brooklyn against the walloping American League champs.

Although Manager Joe Cronin of the Sox had not stated a definite choice among his "big three"—Hughson, Dave "Boo" Ferris and Mickey Harris—the Cards felt it was a foregone conclusion they would have to look at Hughson.

Should Pollet decline the assignment, Dyer said his second choice would be another lefty, Harry Brecheen. Then, if Brecheen also feels he could use more rest after his furious ninth-inning relief stint against Brooklyn two days ago, Dyer's reluctant third choice would be George Munger, a right-hander who only recently got out of the service.

Dyer was very anxious to toss a southpaw at Ted Williams and the other Sox sluggers in the opener at Sportsman's Park, where the right-field fence is very short.

No matter what Red Bird flinger finally gets the call, the Sox will remain firm favorites to capture the series. The fence-busters who carried them to a runaway victory in the American League are figured to generate too much power for the Cards, who wound up the season with only two .300 hitters.

J. J. Carroll, the St. Louis betting commissioner whose odds on all sports events are widely regarded as official, makes Boston 7-20 to win the series. St. Louis 11-5.

The Boston strong boys bore a confident air when they arrived on their special train late yesterday. One after another they said calmly: "Sure, we expect to win."

The Cards were somewhat more voluble about it. They realize all too well that the noose might fall in on them at any time during the next few days. They are decidedly "up" at the moment and are ready for the test. It's almost a real alley fight of cheer.

"Sure, we're the sort of team that might be [illegible] with plenty of a [illegible] Manager Dyer with [illegible] But [illegible] the edge [illegible] ball of a [illegible] the way we [illegible] ball game.

By Kris Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Outplayed by Florida's scrappy freshmen during the first half, Tulane's big Green Wave generated some power in the second half to pound out a 27-13 victory here today before 30,000 spectators.

Tulane's men played under the shadow of gloom, their coach, Henry Frnka, was in Tulsa, Okla., at the bedside of his 17-year-old son, Henry, Jr., who was critically injured in a high school game yesterday.

Billy Parker's amazing passes kept Florida in the ball game. They sparked the 'Gators two touchdowns drives and carried two other marches within the Tulane five-yard stripe. But Tulane was just too big and strong, and wore down the lighter Floridians.

Tulane scored on its second scrimmage play. O. K. Key ran wide to the left on an optional play, passed 24 yards to Dick Hoot who was wide open, and Hoot went 30 yards unmolested.

After two Florida drives had fizzled near the Tulane goal in the second period, Parker's passes engineered another, and a penalty gave the Gators a first down on the one-yard line. The Greenies held three times, then Gaspar Vaccaro plunged for the score.

Key, a fierce runner through the tackles, went 38 yards in three plays for Tulane's next touchdown in the third period. Then he combined with Fullback Eddie Price on a 68-yard scoring drive which ended with Price's three-yard plunge.

Price went five yards for Tulane's last touchdown in the fourth after Cliff Van Meter's fine punt return had sent up a 17-yard march.

Doug Bolden hit center for a yard to make Florida's second score. Parker's passes had paved the way.

THE GANG'S ALL HERE

BATON ROUGE, La.—Louisiana State's basketball squad which last season wound up as runner-up to Texas A. and M. in the Southeastern Conference championships, is expected to report here with not less a single player from its 1945-46 squad.

TULANE MENTOR'S SON IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FOOTBALL ACCIDENT

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Husky young Henry Frnka, Jr., son of football famous Henry Frnka, Tulane University coach, fought for life today against a brain injury suffered last night in the waning moments of his Tulsa Will Rogers High School team's gridiron battle with Tulsa Central.

The 17-year-old backfield star was reported by physicians to have a 50-50 chance to live after undergoing an operation by Dr. Jess D. Herrman, Oklahoma City specialist.

His father, whose Tulane eleven met Florida at New Orleans today, was at his bedside after a trip by chartered plane. Hospital attendants said the elder Frnka was near collapse.

Mrs. Frnka followed her husband here by plane.

The Port Gibson Addis, Mississippi's Negro baseball champions, and the Pine Bluff Sports, Arkansas title holders clash here today in the first of a three-game series in the semi-finals of a tri-state championship playoff between Negro clubs of Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

The Addis and Sports play their first game this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Casino Park here. The second and third games are night affairs, also slated for Casino Park, beginning at 7 o'clock tomorrow and Tuesday.

The Heartwood Sports of Ferriday, Louisiana conquerors of Port Gibson may become the tristate champs if Port Gibson can win the series. Otherwise the Ferriday team may have to play Pine Bluff for the crown.

But in spite of what goes on in the tristate tournament, Monroe will be the scene of the North and South All-Star Negro baseball game scheduled for next Friday at Casino Park. It was reported last night by Eugene Moss, spokesman for the Negro group in charge of the local park. The All-Star teams will be composed of outstanding Negro talent from the two sections of the nation.

HICKSON RETURNS TO MONROE RING

A double main event wrestling program, featuring the return of Billy Hickson, speedy Knoxville, Tenn., grappler making his first appearance here over four years, has been billed for next Thursday night at Gus Kallio's Arena here, it was announced last night.

Hickson, one of the best light heavyweight wrestlers touring this section at the outbreak of World War II hasn't returned to Monroe since 1942 when he signed up with the army, but he'll be back this week with Allen "Sailor" Parker, Nashville, Tenn., as his opponent.

The second half of the show will be the local introductory scramble for Francisco Aquaya, Mexico City, who is scheduled to go up against Jack "Stinger" Steele, Promoter Kallio announced.

Twin City mat fans well remember the classical performances of Hickson before he went to war, and Promoter Kallio last night said he had received many requests for another Hickson match from his customers. The Tennessee youngster won a big following here on his first appearance five years ago with his lightning-like tactics, and his speed and scientific wrestling style won many matches for Billy the Kid. Many local followers of the mat game still consider Hickson about the fastest athlete ever to appear in a local ring and many class him as popular here as Jack Curtis.

Aquaya, Kallio reported, issued a challenge last week to the winner of the Mobley-Steele title match here Thursday, but Mobley ignored the challenge after repulsing the former titlists.

So the Mexican is having to be satisfied with meeting Steele instead.

Mobley's objection was explained by the champ.

"I never heard of him before. Let him beat some good wrestlers in this country and earn a title shot."

And Steele likewise holds the Mexican lightly.

When asked by Promoter Kallio to meet Aquaya, Steele declared, "You get him here next week, I'll give him such a going-over he'll never ask any more matches with light-heavies in this country."

But Kallio is vouching for Aquaya who appeared on a card with Kallio, but not as the local promoter's opponent, in Mexico City in 1939. Kallio said he saw Aquaya wrestle "one night in Mexico City and it was the roughest match I ever saw."

The Monroe promoter also declared that he witnessed one of "the most terrible things I ever saw in wrestling that night."

After the Aquaya match, Kallio said the Mexican and his opponent engaged in a fight outside the ring. The fight spread among the fans and a group of Mexican soldiers.

"All Mexican soldiers carry their rifles with them wherever they go," Kallio explained. "One of the soldiers socked Aquaya's opponent. I don't remember his name, and the wrestler struck him back. When the wrestler hit the soldier the army man swung his rifle into position and shot the wrestler through the chest. That was the wildest night I ever saw."

TEXAS AGGIES NEXT FOR L. S. U. ELEVEN

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—Louisiana State's football team will vie with its second Texas opponent of the season here next Saturday night when the Tigers play host to Texas A. and M. before an estimated 40,000 fans.

The Tigers already hold a 7-6 victory over Rice Institute, and the Moore-mentored machine will attempt to duplicate its 1945 feat of clearing the current slate with an unblemished record over their Southwest Conference foes. Last season L. S. U. defeated Rice, 42-0, and Texas A. and M. 31-12.

Headlining the Aggie aggregation are Monte Moncrief and Leonard Dickey, touted by the Texas A. and M. publicity department as "the best pair of tackles in the nation this season." Other standouts include James "Babe" Hallmark, quarterback; Willie Zapalac, fullback, and Bob Goode, wingback.

Renewing a 47-year-old rivalry which began with a 52-0 Tiger victory in 1899, the two teams have met 17 times with the Aggies holding the edge with nine wins, six defeats, and two games resulting in tie scores.

Texas A. and M. also has the distinction of handing L. S. U. the worst defeat ever administered a Bengal football team, a 63-9 onslaught delivered at Dallas in 1914.

The two teams also have met in a post season clash. Following a 1943 regular-season debacle in which the Aggies triumphed, 28-13, the Tigers, led by Steve Van Buren, copped the 1944 Orange Bowl crown by a 19-14 verdict.

RETURNING

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Minor league baseball men who dropped in here for the Cards-Dodgers playoff figure they have a lot of work to do before the first week in December, when the winter meetings begin in Los Angeles. . . . When the majors set up their new executive council to give players representation, it virtually wipes out the old executive council, through which the minors had their say. . . . As a result, they'll have to start from scratch in producing a new setup and they have less than a month in which to make plans, as amendments to the agreement must be submitted 30 days before the convention. . . . In addition there are several items from last year that might be classed as "unfinished business," since the big and little league never did get together on them.

What, No Wolves?

One-Minute Sports Page

That A. A. football club which was reported to be cutting salaries says that, on the contrary, it has raised the wages of some players as much as 100 per cent to bring them in line with current pay rates after they had been signed on the "old" basis. . . . Sam Fray, Virginia's high-hurdling halfback, has scored four touchdowns the last four times he has had his hands on the ball in a game. . . . Thirty Marquette varsity football-lers who weren't chosen to go to Villanova this week-end thought they might be picked to play the Michigan "B" team at Ann Arbor. But "B" team Coach Art Krueger insisted on taking only red scrubs, who had been absorbing the daily beatings from the varsity. . . . After last week's Oklahoma-Army game, a visiting scribe wrote: "Our big mistake was in ever going to West Point on Saturday to play. We already had won the game three times at the rally the night before."

Shortage, But Not Sweet

Kansas U. had to borrow jerseys from Nebraska so its football team would be properly clad for the Texas Christian game; then it put the bite on Kansas State for shirts to wear against Denver. . . . Charley Caldwell, Princeton grid coach, attributes a number of practice injuries to his inability to procure protective equipment. . . . And the Colgate soccer team, scheduled to open its season today, still can't get new shoes.

Dots All, Brothers

The Dodgers have hooked up with Columbia, S. C., to get their only class "A" farm. After Thursday, the Brooklyn fans likely hope most of the players will be shipped there. . . . W. A. Harriman, new secretary of commerce, is a former president of the Grand Circuit. Wonder if that's why he advocates a stable economy?

LUJACK LEADS FIGHTING IRISH PAST PITTSBURGH

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Notre Dame, eyeing national football laurels, brushed aside an outclassed but game Pittsburgh eleven, 33-0, as sharpshooting Quarterback Johnny Lujack staged a one man shot for an Irish home-opener throng of 50,368.

It was cool cunning Lujack, navy serviceman and star of the 1943 Irish juggernaut, who ripped the claws from the out-manned Panthers with a shower of orthodox and unorthodox passes for Notre Dame's second straight victory of the season.

Lujack, who completed 10 of 21 passes for a gain of 211 yards, tossed two touchdown passes and set up two other Irish tallies with his needle threading tossing.

Zany Football Season Continues Along Its Unpredictable Course

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The rule book describes a football as a prolate spheroid—which probably accounts for the crazy way in which the leather-covered pellet bounces.

Texas annihilated Oklahoma A. and M., 54 to 6, piling up the astonomical numbers on a team that starred a two-time All-America halfback and had no been defeated since 1943.

Illinois crushed Purdue, 43 to 7, with Buddy Young again held in check but with Perry Moss, former Tulsa hero, guiding the Illini to a flock of touchdowns.

Army, with Doc Blanchard still on the bench, turned Glenn Davis loose and the California comet blazed the way for a 46 to 21 verdict over Cornell. It was the most points scored on Army since it started its string of 21 straight triumphs.

Columbia, which lost a star tackle during the week because of injuries and could do no better than a touchdown win over little Rutgers a week ago, spilled Navy, 23 to 14, and got revenge for the 61 to 0 pasting taken when the teams met last three years ago.

Arkansas, with ex-Navy star Clyde Scott the main spring, bounded over Texas Christian, 34 to 14, for its second straight surprise.

Indiana, whipped by little Cincinnati and powerful Michigan, spanked Minnesota, where 260 stalwarts reported for practice last month, by a 21 to 0 margin.

The Big Nine gave evidence other than the Indiana-Minnesota struggle of balanced strength. Ohio State, which lost luster last week, travelled to the West coast and humiliated Southern California, 21 to 0. Iowa, expected to be the doormat, frightened Michigan in the final half before bowing, 14 to 7; and Northwestern blanked Wisconsin, 28 to 0, a week after the Badgers found California an easy prey.

The Big Three moved along without a setback, Princeton spilling Brown, 33 to 12; Harvard blanking Tufts, 49 to 0 and Yale stopping the razzle-dazzle of Colgate, 27 to 6.

Tulane, playing without Coach Henry Frnka, bested Florida 27 to 13. Frnka was called to Tulsa earlier in the day where his son suffered a serious head injury in a prep football game Friday night. Tennessee mastered Duke, 12 to 7, in the South's hottest rivalry while Harry Gilmer and his Alabama Cohorts found a stubborn victim in South Carolina, 14 to 6.

U. C. L. A. rolled over Washington, 39 to 13; Stanford pulled out a 33 to 7 victory over San Francisco; Oregon sneaked by California 14 to 13; and Oregon State pasted Portland, 35 to 0.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The University of Texas' powerful Longhorns led by blonde Bobby Layne overwhelmed the Cowpokes of Oklahoma A. and M., 54 to 6, before a capacity crowd of 44,000 in Memorial Stadium here today.

Oklahoma's ace Bob Fenimore, injured last week when the Cowpokes were tied by Arkansas, played most of the first half but did not get back into the game after an injury late in the second period.

It was the hard-running Fenimore who scored the Oklahomans' lone touchdown. They came right back after Texas' first score. Fenimore intercepted a Layne pass on the Texas 45 and it was Layne who ran him out of bounds on the 20. Fenimore sparked the drive that followed, and carried the ball across the stubborn Longhorn line six inches on the payoff play.

It was the ambitious Cowpokes first defeat since Tulsa whipped them 55 to 6 in 1943. It was the third straight lopsided victory in a row for the Texans, celebrating Dana X. Bible's last active year of coaching.

Any type of cooked or canned flaked fish can be used with equal success in a recipe for Fish Souffle.

But Big Red Gets Most First Downs, Most TD's Of Any Foe Since '43

By Sid Feder

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Big Red of Cornell saw red often enough today to pile up more points against Army's footballers than any other grid outfit has done for three years, but not nearly often enough to stop the Cadets from careening to their 21st straight victory.

Not since Notre Dame kicked the Army mule all around the Yankee Stadium premises in 1943 has an up-start set of gridders dared to do what the Cornells did this time, actually leading for a few moments in the first quarter. Then they came up off the floor to score twice more in the closing half. But all it got them was a 46 to 21 whipping and the cheers of a large portion of the sell-out crowd of 25,500 customers in Michie Stadium.

Doc Blanchard was on the sideline again for the second straight Saturday, but his touchdown twin, Glenn Davis, was more than enough. The California comet whizzed over for four touchdowns—three of them in the first quarter—and what with assorted other point-makers, Army never was in any real trouble once the steamroller got rolling in the manner to which it has become accustomed.

But more than any other club this season, Cornell demonstrated that the Army second team isn't too strong.

Cornell out-first-downed the Cadets 13 to 8. And, actually, only while Davis was in there, through the first quarter and again in the third period did the Cadets really do any of their big-time prowling, although Quarterback Arnie Tucker can take a large share of the bows for making the Cadet attack click.

CARDS, RED SOX OPEN WORLD SERIES TODAY

AMERICAN LOOP CHAMPS HEAVILY FAVORED TO WIN

By Gayle Talbot

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—St. Louis' own Cardinals, who survived a rough trip to the finals, and the highly-favored Boston Red Sox held their last skull sessions and workouts at Sportsman's Park today preparatory to hooking up at 1:30 (CST) tomorrow afternoon in the opening game of the 1946 World Series.

A sell-out crowd of about 34,000 was assured for both of the games which will be played here before the two clubs move up to Boston to continue the struggle, which was delayed for five days while the National League made up its mind whether to pit the Cards or Brooklyn against the walloping American League champs.

Although Manager Joe Cronin of the Sox had not stated a definite choice among his "big three"—Hughson, Dave "Boo" Ferris and Mickey Harris—the Cards felt it was a foregone conclusion they would have to look at Hughson.

Should Pollet decline the assignment, Dyer said his second choice would be another lefty, Harry Brecheen. Then, if Brecheen also feels he could use more rest after his furious ninth-inning relief stint against Brooklyn two days ago, Dyer's reluctant third choice would be George Munger, a right-hander who only recently got out of the service.

Dyer was very anxious to toss a southpaw at Ted Williams and the other Sox sluggers in the opener at Sportsman's Park, where the right-field fence is very short.

No matter what Red Bird flinger finally gets the call, the Sox will remain firm favorites to capture the series. The fence-busters who carried them to a runaway victory in the American League are figured to generate too much power for the Cards, who wound up the season with only two .300 hitters.

J. J. Carroll, the St. Louis betting commissioner whose odds on all sports events are widely regarded as official, makes Boston 7-20 to win the series; St. Louis 11-5.

The Boston strong boys bore a confident air when they arrived on their special train late yesterday. One after another they said calmly: "Sure, we expect to win."

The Cards were somewhat more voluble about it. They realize all too well that the house might fall in on them at any time during the next few days, but they are decidedly "up" at the moment and are grimly determined to make a real alley fight of the thing.

"Sure, they're the sort of team that might beat you on any pitch of a game," asserted Manager Dyer while discussing his chances. "But, just the same, we can give them a hell of a rassle if we're 'right,' the way we were in that second play-off game.

"We've been a strange club all year. When we've been good we beat all the other National League teams easily. When we've been bad we couldn't beat anybody. The way the boys looked on Thursday, I think we're about to hit one of our good streaks. I sure hope so. Those Sox can be beaten."

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—Outplayed by Florida's scrappy freshmen during the first half, Tulane's big Green Wave generated some power in the second half to pound out a 27-13 victory here today before 30,000 spectators.

Tulane's men played under the shadow of gloom, their coach, Henry Frnka, was in Tulsa, Okla., at the bedside of his 17-year-old son, Henry, Jr., who was critically injured in a high school game yesterday.

Billy Parker's amazing passes kept Florida in the ball game. They sparked the 'Gators two touchdowns drives and carried two other marches within the Tulane five-yard stripe. But Tulane was just too big and strong, and wore down the lighter Floridians.

Tulane scored on its second scrimmage play. O. K. Key ran wide to the left on an optional play, passed 24 yards to Dick Hoot who was wide open, and Hoot went 30 yards unmolested.

After two Florida drives had fizzled near the Tulane goal in the second period, Parker's passes engineered another, and a penalty gave the Gators a first down on the one-yard line. The Greenies held three times, then Gaspar Vaccaro plunged for the score.

Key, a fierce runner through the tackles, went 38 yards in three plays for Tulane's next touchdown in the third period. Then he combined with Fullback Eddie Price on a 68-yard scoring drive which ended with Price's three-yard plunge.

Price went five yards for Tulane's last touchdown in the fourth after Cliff Van Meter's fine punt return had sent up a 17-yard march.

Doug Belden hit center for a yard to make Florida's second score. Parker's passes had paved the way.

Hoyt Moncrieff place kicked Tulane's last three extra points after missing the first. Warren Tiller missed the first for Florida and booted the second.

The lineups:

TULANE MENTOR'S SON IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN FOOTBALL ACCIDENT

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Husky young Henry Frnka, Jr., son of football famous Henry Frnka, Tulane University coach, fought for life today against a brain injury suffered last night in the waning moments of his Tulsa Will Rogers High School team's gridiron battle with Tulsa Central.

The 17-year-old backfield star was reported by physicians to have a 50-50 chance to live after undergoing an operation by Dr. Jess D. Herrman, Oklahoma City specialist.

His father, whose Tulane eleven met Florida at New Orleans today, was at his bedside after a trip by chartered plane. Hospital attendants said the elder Frnka was near collapse.

Mrs. Frnka followed her husband here by plane.

The Port Gibson Adds, Mississippi's Negro baseball champions, and the Pine Bluff Sports, Arkansas title holders, clash here today in the first of a three-game series in the semi-finals of a tri-state championship playoff between Negro clubs of Louisiana, Mississippi, and Arkansas.

The Adds and Sports play their first game this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Casino Park here. The second and third games are night affairs, also slated for Casino Park, beginning at 7 o'clock tomorrow and Tuesday.

The Hardwood Sports of Ferriday, Louisiana conquerors of Port Gibson, may become the tri-state champs if Port Gibson can win the series. Otherwise the Ferriday team may have to play Pine Bluff for the crown.

But regardless of what goes on in the tri-state tournament, Monroe will be the scene of the North and South All-Star Negro semi-pro baseball game, scheduled for next Friday at Casino Park, it was reported last night by Eugene Mayo, spokesman for the Negro group in charge of the local park. The All-Star teams will be composed of outstanding Negro talent from the two sections of the nation.

HICKSON RETURNS TO MONROE RING

A double main event wrestling program, featuring the return of Billy Hickson, speedy Knoxville, Tenn., grappler making his first appearance here over four years, has been billed for next Thursday night at Gus Kallio's Arena here, it was announced last night.

Hickson, one of the best light heavyweight wrestlers touring this section at the outbreak of World War II hasn't returned to Monroe since 1942 when he signed up with the army, but he'll be back this week with Allen "Sailor" Parker, Nashville, Tenn., as his opponent.

The second half of the show will be the local introductory scramble for Francisco Aquaya, Mexico City, who is scheduled to go up against Jack "Stinger" Steele, Promoter Kallio announced.

Twin City mat fans well remember the classical performances of Hickson before he went to war, and Promoter Kallio last night said he had received many requests for another Hickson match from his customers. The Tennessee youngster won a big following here on his first appearance five years ago with his lightning-like tactics, and his speed and scientific wrestling style won many matches for Billy the Kid. Many local followers of the mat game still consider Hickson about the fastest athlete ever to appear in a local ring and many class him as popular here as Jack Curtis.

Aquaya, Kallio reported, issued a challenge last week to the winner of the Mobley-Steele title match here Thursday, but Mobley ignored the challenge after repulsing the former titlists.

So the Mexican is having to be satisfied with meeting Steele instead.

Mobley's objection was explained by the champ:

"I never heard of him before. Let him beat some good wrestlers in this country and earn a title shot."

And Steele likewise holds the Mexican lightly.

When asked by Promoter Kallio to meet Aquaya, Steele declared, "You get him here next week. I'll give him such a going-over he'll never ask any more matches with light-heavies in this country."

But Kallio is vouching for Aquaya who appeared on a card with Kallio, but not as the local promoter's opponent, in Mexico City in 1939. Kallio said he saw Aquaya wrestle "one night in Mexico City and it was the roughest match I ever saw."

The Monroe promoter also declared that he witnessed one of "the most terrible things I ever saw in wrestling that night."

After the Aquaya match, Kallio said the Mexican and his opponent engaged in a fight outside the ring. The fight spread among the fans and a group of Mexican soldiers.

"All Mexican soldiers carry their rifles with them wherever they go," Kallio explained. "One of the soldiers socked Aquaya's opponent, I don't remember his name, and the wrestler struck him back. When the wrestler hit the soldier the army man swung his rifle into position and shot the wrestler through the chest. That was the wildest night I ever saw."

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—Louisiana State's football team will vie with its second Texas opponent of the season here next Saturday night when the Tigers play host to Texas A. and M. before an estimated 40,000 fans.

The Tigers already hold a 7-6 victory over Rice Institute, and the Moore-mentored machine will attempt to duplicate its 1945 feat of clearing the current slate with an unblemished record over their Southwest Conference foes. Last season L. S. U. defeated Rice, 42-0, and Texas A. and M. 31-12.

Headlining the Aggie aggregation are Monte Moncrief and Leonard Dickey, touted by the Texas A. and M. publicity department as "the best pair of tackles in the nation this season." Other standouts include James "Babe" Hallmark, quarterback; Willie Zapalac, fullback, and Bob Goode, wingback.

Renewing a 47-year-old rivalry which began with a 52-0 Tiger victory in 1899, the two teams have met 17 times with the Aggies holding the edge with nine wins, six defeats, and two games resulting in tie scores.

Texas A. and M. also has the distinction of handing L. S. U. the worst defeat ever administered a Bengal football team, a 63-9 onslaught delivered at Dallas in 1914.

The two teams also have met in a post season clash. Following a 1943 regular-season debacle in which the Aggies triumphed, 28-13, the Tigers, led by Steve Van Buren, copped the 1944 Orange Bowl crown by a 19-14 verdict.

Make shoes last by wearing pairs alternately. Polish keeps appearance up, softens and preserves leather.

A. football club which was reported to be cutting salaries says that, on the contrary, it has raised the wages of some players as much as 100 per cent to bring them in line with current pay rates after they had been signed on the "old" basis. . . . Sam Fray, Virginia's high-hurdling halfback, has scored four touchdowns the last four times he has had his hands on the ball in a game. . . . Thirty Marquette varsity footballers who weren't chosen to go to Villanova this week-end thought they might be picked to play the Michigan "B" team at Ann Arbor. But "B" team Coach Art Krueger insisted on taking only real scrubs, who had been absorbing the daily beatings from the varsity. . . . After last week's Oklahoma-Army game, a visiting scribe wrote: "Our big mistake was in ever going to West Point on Saturday to play. We already had won the game three times at the rally the night before."

The Dodgers have hooked up with Columbia, S. C., to get their only class "A" farm. After Thursday, the Brooklyn fans likely hope most of the players will be shipped there. . . . W. A. Harriman, new secretary of commerce, is a former president of the Grand Circuit. Wonder if that's why he advocates a stable economy?

LUJACK LEADS FIGHTING IRISH PAST PITTSBURGH

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Notre Dame, eyeing national football laurels, brushed aside an outclassed but game Pittsburgh eleven, 33-0, as sharpshooting Quarterback Johnny Lujack staged a one man shot for an Irish home-opener throng of 50,368.

It was cool cunning Lujack, navy serviceman and star of the 1943 Irish juggernaut, who ripped the claws from the out-manned Panthers with a shower of orthodox and unorthodox passes for Notre Dame's second straight victory of the season.

Lujack, who completed 10 of 21 passes for a gain of 211 yards, tossed two touchdown passes and set up two other Irish tallies with his needle threading tossing.

Zany Football Season Continues Along Its Unpredictable Course

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The rule book describes a football as a prolate spheroid—which probably accounts for the crazy way in which the leather-covered pellet bounces.

Texas annihilated Oklahoma A. and M., 54 to 6, piling up the astonomical numbers on a team that starred a two-time All-America halfback and had not been defeated since 1943.

Illinois crushed Purdue, 43 to 7, with Buddy Young again held in check but with Perry Moss, former Tulsa hero, guiding the Illini to a flock of touchdowns.

Army, with Doc Blanchard still on the bench, turned Glenn Davis loose and the California comet blazed the way for a 46 to 21 verdict over Cornell. It was the most points scored on Army since it started its string of 21 straight triumphs.

Columbia, which lost a star tackle during the week because of injuries and could do no better than a touchdown win over little Rutgers a week ago, spilled Navy, 23 to 14, and got revenge for the 61 to 0 pasting taken when the teams met last three years ago.

Indiana, whipped by little Cincinnati and powerful Michigan, spanked Minnesota, where 260 stalwarts reported for practice last month, by a 21 to 0 margin.

The Big Nine gave evidence other than the Indiana-Minnesota struggle of balanced strength. Ohio State, which lost luster last week, travelled to the West coast and humiliated Southern California, 21 to 0. Iowa, expected to be the doormat, frightened Michigan in the final half before bowing, 14 to 7; and Northwestern blanked Wisconsin, 28 to 0, a week after the Badgers found California an easy prey.

The Big Three moved along without a setback, Princeton spilling Brown, 33 to 12; Harvard blanking Tufts, 49 to 0 and Yale stopping the razzle-dazzle of Colgate, 27 to 6.

Tulane, playing without Coach Henry Frnka, bested Florida 27 to 13. Frnka was called to Tulsa earlier in the day where his son suffered a serious head injury in a prep football game Friday night. Tennessee mastered Duke, 12 to 7, in the South's hottest rivalry while Harry Gilmer and his Alabama Cohorts found a stubborn victim in South Carolina, 14 to 6.

U. C. L. A. rolled over Washington, 39 to 13; Stanford pulled out a 33 to 7 victory over San Francisco; Oregon sneaked by California 14 to 13; and Oregon State pasted Portland, 33 to 0.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The University of Texas' powerful Longhorns led by blonde Bobby Layne overwhelmed the Cowpokes of Oklahoma A. and M., 54 to 6, before a capacity crowd of 44,000 in Memorial Stadium here today.

Oklahoma's ace Bob Fenimore, injured last week when the Cowpokes were tied by Arkansas, played most of the first half but did not get back into the game after an injury late in the second period.

It was the hard-running Fenimore who scored the Oklahomans' lone touchdown. They came right back after Texas' first score. Fenimore intercepted a Layne pass on the Texas 45 and it was Layne who ran him out of bounds on the 20. Fenimore sparked the drive that followed, and carried the ball across the stubborn Longhorn line six inches on the payoff play.

It was the ambitious Cowpokes first defeat since Tulsa whipped them 55 to 6 in 1943. It was the third straight topheavy victory in a row for the Texans, celebrating Dana X. Bible's last active year of coaching.

Any type of cooked or canned flaked fish can be used with equal success in a recipe for Fish Souffle.

By Sid Feder

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 5—(AP)—The Big Red of Cornell saw red often enough today to pile up more points against Army's footballers than any other grid outfit has done for three years, but not nearly often enough to stop the Cadets from careening to their 21st straight victory.

Not since Notre Dame kicked the Army mule all around the Yankee Stadium premises in 1943 has an up-start set of gridders dared to do what the Cornells did this time, actually leading for a few moments in the first quarter. Then they came up off the floor to score twice more in the closing half. But all it got them was a 46 to 21 whipping and the cheers of a large portion of the sell-out crowd of 25,500 customers in Michie Stadium.

Doc Blanchard was on the sideline again for the second straight Saturday, but his touchdown twin, Glenn Davis, was more than enough. The California comet whizzed over for four touchdowns—three of them in the first quarter—and what with assorted other point-makers, Army never was in any real trouble once the steamroller got rolling in the manner to which it has become accustomed.

But more than any other club this season, Cornell demonstrated that the Army second team isn't too strong.

Cornell out-first-downed the Cadets 13 to 8. And, actually, only while Davis was in there, through the first quarter and again in the third period did the Cadets really do any of their big-time prowling, although Quarterback Arnie Tucker can take a large share of the bows for making the Cadet attack click.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Vanderbilt's Commodores threw their strength into one tremendous blow in the second period but saved enough for a spectacular goal-line stand in the game's fading minutes today to conquer rugged University of Mississippi, 7 to 0, before 22,000 sweat-drenched fans.

It was the second victory of the year for the Commodores, returning to big time football after a period of wartime shadow-boxing, and the second Southeastern Conference defeat in three starts for Coach Red Drew's Rebels.

A piano-legged Chattanooga, Tenn., youngster, Harry Robinson, set up the only score of the day with a tricky flat pass good for 30 yards about midway of the second period and then plunged over from the five.

Bobby Berry, a sub fullback, raced in to split the uprights from placement for the conversion and that was the point-making for the day, although Ole Miss twice knocked at the door in the final period.

The touchdown opportunity came when Mississippi's Clayton Blount fumbled on the Ole Miss 30 and Vanderbilt's Wayne Cantrell, a sub tackle, recovered.

Robinson connected with end Jimmy Webb on a throw into the flat country and the fleet flankman raced from the 28 to the 5. Robinson was across in a jiffy.

Mississippi, its potent air attack throttled and its heavier line outcharged for three periods, came to life in the final chapter.

One of Ole Miss' sub backs, Bobby Oswalt, lobbed a 37-yard pass to Farley Salmon who pulled up to the Vandy ten and the crowd edged up in their seats.

But the threat died when Vanderbilt's Banks Bushmaier intercepted a pass on his own two and the Commodores booted out. But the Rebels charged back to the 15 before being stopped again.

Vanderbilt was on the Mississippi four-yard line—thanks to a recovered fumble—when the final whistle blew.

The Commodores had all the best of it in statistics, running up 205 yards by rushing to 82 for Ole Miss and registering 14 first downs to seven.

Mississippi's Charley Conerly and Jot Ray Poole—the crack passing combination—were marked men and couldn't get a sustained drive underway. Stalwarts in the Vanderbilt line that probably deserved main credit for the victory were Charley Hoover, 22-pound center, and John North, all-star tackle.

The lineups:

Vanderbilt	Pos.	Mississippi
North	LE	R. Poole
Hamilton	LT	Erickson
Cooper	LG	Blackwell
Hoover	C	Davis
Robertson	RG	Brown
Scarbrough	RT	O. Poole
Webb	RE	Smith
Owen	QB	Bennett
Robinson	LH	Conerly
Bushmaier	RH	Salmon
McDavid	FB	Bowen

Score by quarters:

SOUTH MISSISSIPPI'S FOXHUNTERS TO MEET

LAUREL, Miss., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The South Mississippi Fox Hunters' Association will hold its annual field trials and bench show here next week with foxhunters and dogs from all Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Alabama participating. Trophies are to be awarded.

A parade through the Laurel business section, led by the Laurel High School band, will open the annual event at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Oct. 7 a number of horsemen and some of the dogs will participate. The bench show is scheduled for 7:30 Monday night in the agriculture building of the South Mississippi Fair Grounds here and between 200 and 250 dogs are expected to be entered, including some of the finest in the South. O. A. Wilson, New Orleans, will serve as judge and Fred Thrasher, Jackson, Miss., will be ringmaster. Mayor Carroll Gartin of Laurel will welcome the visitors.

Casting for the field trials will begin each morning at 6 o'clock Tuesday through Tuesday in the DeSoto National Forest, scene of last year's trials. All hounds for the bench show must be registered by 7 o'clock Monday night. For the field trials midday Monday is the deadline.

GRID GRUDGE

BATON ROUGE, La.—When Texas A. and M. and Louisiana State tangle here October 12, at least one old grad will be hoping against hope for a bigger one-sided, overwhelming score. He's Ray Mobley, now a public relations director, who played center on the 1914 L. S. U. eleven which dropped a 63-9 verdict to the Aggies, the worst defeat ever administered a Bengal eleven.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(NEA)—Robert William Andrew Feller was extremely unwise risking his million-dollar arm to break Rube Waddell's major league strikeout record. Any experienced manager would have advised the young man against it.

Rube Waddell

Bob Feller seemed to realize he was jeopardizing his future in early July when he said: "If everything hangs together, I believe I have a good chance."

I wonder what Feller thought he would do with the record.

When a pitcher is offered a contract, the front office doesn't ask him how many he struck out. It takes into consideration only how many he won.

Feller's feat did little more than revive to old-timers the memory of the legendary Waddell, and the Iowa Farm Boy's frenzied pursuit of 344 strikeouts no doubt increased his admiration for the southpaw who was so eccentric that all left-handers since his day have been supposed to be more or less goofy.

Feller did not require an additional strikeout accomplishment to make him a more magnetic lucks office draw. He was already the top attraction in his profession.

The talk of the fans of today never had heard of Waddell, who blew the ball past 343 batters for the Athletics in 1904. All the knowledge the larger share of the remainder had of Waddell was garnered from books.

Waddell had no thought of establishing a record when he fanned 343. The Rube did it during the normal run of the season, attained the total naturally, wasn't pressing.

Certainly he had no idea that he was hanging up a mark that 42 years later someone would work overtime, pitch out of turn and otherwise go to extraordinary lengths to outstrip.

Feller's wildness has demanded that he be a work-horse. He has always thrown more balls than any other pitcher in the business.

Seller now plans to pitch parts of games five times a week over a 30-day stretch with his All-Stars.

At Yankee Stadium, Oct. 6, Feller and the veteran Negro, Satchel Paige, will attempt to set a new speed record when they fire fast balls past an improved chronograph. Feller's record of 98.6 miles an hour, or 145 feet a second, was established in Washington, August 20.

Pitching to a speed measuring device is little less ridiculous than the Feller tour—when a player is getting his kind of money. Many a player has ended his career by doing something much less foolish.

Tom Yawkey is reported to have given Ted Williams $10,000 not to go on the post-season jaunt, and The Kid patrols the outfield, where he is comparatively safe.

It is true that Feller lost four years while in the Navy, but while he is strappingly mature at 27 he isn't going to lengthen his brilliant career working overtime.

He is paid $50,000 a year, and income tax being what it is he can retain only a small fraction of what he makes on the junket.

Bob Feller is strappingly mature at 27, but there are just so many flips even in an arm as remarkable as the one that dangles from his shoulder.

WAGERING MARK AT FAIR GROUNDS OVER 13 MILLION

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—A new high mark in wagering—$13,269,496—for the 71 days of racing at the Fair Grounds here in the 1945-46 winter season, was reported today by the Louisiana State Racing commission.

The commission, in its annual report to the governor, said this figure represented a daily betting average of $186,894.30.

This as well as attendance figures "attested to the popularity of horse racing in the state," the commission stated. Paid attendance for the 71 days aggregated 203,147 or a daily average of 2,861, compared with 160,988 for the 65-day racing season in 1944, the last full season.

Of the total amount of wagering $11,355,112.60 was distributed to the betting public.

A total of $693,600.00 was distributed in purses during the season, striking a daily average of $9,679.00, with an additional $14,958.00 being distributed in bonuses to stable attendants.

PLAN TO ENLARGE TULANE STADIUM

Sugar Bowl Sellout Boosts Efforts To Increase Seating Capacity

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Sugar Bowl football game is sold out as usual—nearly two months before selection of the competing teams—and there was an official hint today that Tulane's 73,000 seat stadium might be enlarged for the 1948 classic.

"Applications exceed our seating capacity by many thousands," said Sam Corenswet, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association which present the Sugar Bowl events.

"It is our hope that a further enlargement of the stadium can be developed by January 1, 1948."

Following its established custom, the association offered first choice of seats to holders of bonds issued for previous stadium enlargements, and to guarantors who advanced cash to assure success of the first Sugar Bowl games. The rest of the tickets were sold by mail.

Corenswet said he could not estimate the total number of orders.

He explained that blocks of seats were being held for students and supporters of the competing teams, but added that enough orders were on hand to sell out these sections also.

Corenswet's expression on possible stadium enlargements was the first time a Sugar Bowl official had spoken in this vein since the last seats were added in 1939, although annual sellouts have caused the subject to be debated around town every season.

Wartime building shortages and restrictions—plus a remaining bonded indebtedness for the two previous stadium enlargements — made the bowlers understandably coy on the subject.

The Tulane stadium had a capacity of about 26,000 when the Sugar Bowl began leasing it for the New Year's Day games, first of which was played January 1, 1935. Under agreement with Tulane, the sports association has financed the new construction and the university takes care of maintenance.

RICHLAND GETS MIGHTY GASSER

The biggest gas well today in Richland parish, one that gauged fully 116 million cubic feet, daily open flow, has just been completed by the American Liberty Oil Co., Mengel Hubbard No. 24 in section 34-17-8E, at a depth of 3,258 feet. This company was in quest of oil but missed the sand and instead brought in a big gasser.

All the completions the past week also proved to be gassers, no oil wells being completed the past seven days. There are five of these gassers announced this week at the office of Duncan Cook, district manager in Monroe for the Louisiana Department of Conservation (minerals division). Also there are two abandonments listed.

The completions were as follows:

Union Parish

Southern Carbon Co. Grayling B-4 No. 2, section 25-23-3E. Gauged at 1,113,000 cubic feet gas; rock pressure 980 lbs., total depth 2,711 ft.(acidized).

Southern Carbon Co., Grayling B-8, section 6-22-4E. Gauged at 5,808,000 cubic feet; rock pressure 1,025; total depth 2,220 (acidized).

Richland Parish

LaSalle Parish

Franklin Parish

Wadley and Forgotson Co., Breece Lumber Co. No. 1, section 18-16-8E. Dry and abandoned at 3,682 feet.

Every 300 miles or so the generator bearings should be treated with a few drops of light oil. Small oil wells will be found at each end of the generator.

Oil And Gas News

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The state conservation department today announced in its weekly oil report the completion of ten wells with initial daily production of 2011 barrels, the abandonment of 11 dry holes, and the issuance of 31 permits to drill new wells.

M'NEESE COWBOYS CRUSH MERCHANT MARINES, 76-12

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—McNeese Junior College Cowboys rode roughshod over a U. S. Merchant Marine eleven from Mississippi here last night by a score of 76 to 12.

Coach Albert Ratcliff of the local branch of L. S. U. used his second stringers through most of the game but even these squadmen were much too brawny for the light Buccaneers. Eight of the 12 McNeese touchdowns were tallied by the reserves.

The victory gave the Cowboys same measure of revenge for the three one-touchdown triumphs scored over them by the mariners last season when the junior college was making its debut in football.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Stocks easy; leaders continue slow retreat Bonds lower; rails decline. Cotton irregular; trade buying and hedging.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Little enthusiasm accompanied the resumption of Saturday stock market sessions today and leading issues backed into losing territory on one of the smallest volumes of the past two years.

Sporadic attempts at recovery generally failed to follow through and declines of fractions to a point or more predominated near the close. Transfers dwindled to about 400,000 shares. Board-rooms were all but deserted as most customers elected to continue their five-day week.

Bonds were lower, led by rails. Commodities steadied.

New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Trade buying and hedging accounted for an irregular trend in the cotton futures market today. Prices moved over a wide range and were easily influenced by orders in either direction. Deferred contracts were the strongest, and buying in this section of the list again reflected trade ideas that the government report, which will be issued on Oct. 8, will be at least 200,000 bales below the government's September 1 estimate of 9,171,000 bales. Hedging in small volume depressed the nearby contracts, some of the selling was attributed to New Orleans dealers.

Futures closed 35 cents to $2.75 a bale higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—All grain futures advanced today, with nearby deliveries showing the largest upturn, on trade reports that the government would attempt to move 100,000,000 bushels of wheat out of the Northwest before navigation is closed on the Great Lakes.

In the spot market No. 1 yellow corn sold at $1.08 a bushel. Cash dealers said old corn was being purchased on a to-arrive basis at about $1.94 to $1.96 a bushel. Bookings totaled 240,000 bushels.

By Will Grimsley

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Vanderbilt's Commodores threw their strength into one tremendous blow in the second period but saved enough for a spectacular goal-line stand in the game's fading minutes today to conquer rugged University of Mississippi, 7 to 0, before 22,000 sweat-drenched fans.

It was the second victory of the year for the Commodores, returning to big time football after a period of wartime shadow-boxing, and the second Southeastern Conference defeat in three starts for Coach Red Drew's Rebels.

A piano-legged Chattanooga, Tenn., youngster, Harry Robinson, set up the only score of the day with a tricky flat pass good for 30 yards about midway of the second period and then plunged over from the five.

Bobby Berry, a sub fullback, raced in to split the uprights from placement for the conversion and that was the point-making for the day, although Ole Miss twice knocked at the door in the final period.

The touchdown opportunity came when Mississippi's Clayton Blount fumbled on the Ole Miss 30 and Vanderbilt's Wayne Cantrell, a sub tackle, recovered.

Robinson connected with end Jimmy Webb on a throw into the flat country and the fleet flankman raced from the 28 to the 5. Robinson was across in a jiffy.

Mississippi, its potent air attack throttled and its heavier line outcharged for three periods, came to life in the final chapter.

One of Ole Miss' sub backs, Bobby Oswalt, lobbed a 37-yard pass to Farley Salmon who pulled up to the Vandy ten and the crowd edged up in their seats.

But the threat died when Vanderbilt's Binks Bushmaier intercepted a pass on his own two and the Commodores booted out. But the Rebels charged back to the 15 before being stopped again.

Vanderbilt was on the Mississippi four-yard line—thanks to a recovered fumble—when the final whistle blew.

The Commodores had all the best of it in statistics, running up 205 yards by rushing to 82 for Ole Miss and registering 14 first downs to seven.

Mississippi's Charley Conerly and big Ray Poole—the crack passing combination — were marked men and couldn't get a sustained drive underway. Stalwarts in the Vanderbilt line that probably deserved main credit for the victory were Charley Hoover, 225-pound center, and John North, alert, rugged end.

The lineups:

Vanderbilt	Pos.	Mississippi
Hamilton	LT	Erickson
Cooper	LG	Blackwell
Hoover	C	Davis
Robertson	RG	Brown
Satterfield	RT	O. Poole
Owen	QB	Bennett
Robinson	LH	Conerly
McDavid	FB	Bowen

Score by quarters:

SOUTH MISSISSIPPI'S FOXHUNTERS TO MEET

LAUREL, Miss., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The South Mississippi Fox Hunters' Association will hold its annual field trials and bench show here next week with foxhunters and dogs from all Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Alabama participating. Trophies are to be awarded.

A parade through the Laurel business section, led by the Laurel High School band, will open the annual event at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Oct. 7 a number of horsemen and some of the dogs will participate. The bench show is scheduled for 7:30 Monday night in the agriculture building of the South Mississippi Fair Grounds here and between 200 and 250 dogs are expected to be entered, including some of the finest in the South. O. A. Wilson, New Orleans, will serve as judge and Fred Thrasher, Jackson, Miss., will be ringmaster. Mayor Carroll Gartin of Laurel will welcome the visitors.

Casting for the field trials will begin each morning at 6 o'clock Tuesday through Thursday in the DeSoto National Forest, scene of last year's trials. All hounds for the bench show must be registered by 7 o'clock Monday night. For the field trials midday Monday is the deadline.

CRIB GRUDGE

BATON ROUGE, La.—When Texas A. and M. and Louisiana State tangle here October 12, at least one old grad will be hoping against hope for a tiger one-sided, overwhelming score. He's Ray Mobley, now a public relations director, who played center on the 1914 L. S. U. eleven which dropped a 63-9 verdict to the Aggies, the worst defeat ever administered a Bengal eleven.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(NEA)—Robert William Andrew Feller was extremely unwise risking his million-dollar arm to break Rube Waddell's major league strikeout record. Any experienced manager would have advised the young man against it.

Rube Waddell

Bob Feller seemed to realize he was jeopardizing his future in early July when he said: "If everything hangs together, I believe I have a good chance."

I wonder what Feller thought he would do with the record.

When a pitcher is offered a contract, the front office doesn't ask him how many he struck out. It takes into consideration only how many he won.

Feller's feat did little more than revive to old-timers the memory of the legendary Waddell, and the Iowa Farm Boy's frenzied pursuit of 344 strikeouts no doubt increased his admiration for the southpaw who was so eccentric that all left-handers since his day have been supposed to be more or less goofy.

Feller did not require an additional strikeout accomplishment to make him a more magnetic bucks office draw. He was already the top attraction in his profession.

The bulk of the fans of today never had heard of Waddell, who blew the ball past 343 batters for the Athletics in 1904. All the knowledge the larger share of the remainder had of Waddell was garnered from books.

Waddell had no thought of establishing a record when he fanned 343. The Rube did it during the normal run of the season, attained the total naturally, wasn't pressing.

Certainly he had no idea that he was hanging up a mark that 42 years later someone would work overtime, pitch out of turn and otherwise go to extraordinary lengths to outstrip.

Feller's wildness has demanded that he be a work-horse. He has always thrown more balls than any other pitcher in the business.

Seller now plans to pitch parts of games five times a week over a 30-day stretch with his All-Stars.

At Yankee Stadium, Oct. 6, Feller and the veteran Negro, Satchel Paige, will attempt to set a new speed record when they fire fast balls past an improved chronograph. Feller's record of 98.6 miles an hour, or 145 feet a second, was established in Washington, August 20.

Pitching to a speed measuring device is little less ridiculous than the Feller tour—when a player is getting his kind of money. Many a player has ended his career by doing something much less foolish.

Tom Yawkey is reported to have given Ted Williams $10,000 not to go on the post-season jaunt, and The Kid patrols the outfield, where he is comparatively safe.

It is true that Feller lost four years while in the Navy, but while he is strappingly mature at 27 he isn't going to lengthen his brilliant career working overtime.

He is paid $50,000 a year, and income tax being what it is he can retain only a small fraction of what he makes on the junket.

Bob Feller is strappingly mature at 27, but there are just so many flips even in an arm as remarkable as the one that dangles from his shoulder.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—A new high mark in wagering—$13,269,496—for the 71 days of racing at the Fair Grounds here in the 1945-46 winter season, was reported today by the Louisiana State Racing commission.

The commission, in its annual report to the governor, said this figure represented a daily betting average of $186,894.30.

This as well as attendance figures "attested to the popularity of horse racing in the state," the commission stated. Paid attendance for the 71 days aggregated 203,147 or a daily average of 2,861, compared with 160,988 for the 65-day racing season in 1944, the last full season.

Revenues collected by the state from wagering admissions, licenses, and fines imposed by the stewards totalled $524,663.06.

Of the total amount of wagering $11,355,112.00 was distributed to the betting public.

A total of $693,600.00 was distributed in purses during the season, striking a daily average of $9,679.00, with an additional $14,958.00 being distributed in bonuses to stable attendants.

PLAN TO ENLARGE TULANE STADIUM

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Sugar Bowl football game is sold out as usual—nearly two months before selection of the competing teams—and there was an official hint today that Tulane's 73,000 seat stadium might be enlarged for the 1948 classic.

"Applications exceed our seating capacity by many thousands," said Sam Corenswet, president of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association which present the Sugar Bowl events.

"It is our hope that a further enlargement of the stadium can be developed by January 1, 1948."

Following its established custom, the association offered first choice of seats to holders of bonds issued for previous stadium enlargements, and to guarantors who advanced cash to assure success of the first Sugar Bowl games. The rest of the tickets were sold by mail.

Corenswet said he could not estimate the total number of orders.

He explained that blocks of seats were being held for students and supporters of the competing teams, but added that enough orders were on hand to sell out these sections also.

Corenswet's expression on possible stadium enlargements was the first time a Sugar Bowl official had spoken in this vein since the last seats were added in 1939, although annual sellouts have caused the subject to be debated around town every season.

Wartime building shortages and restrictions—plus a remaining bonded indebtedness for the two previous stadium enlargements — made the bowlers understandably coy on the subject.

The Tulane stadium had a capacity of about 26,000 when the Sugar Bowl began leasing it for the New Year's Day games, first of which was played January 1, 1935. Under agreement with Tulane, the sports association has financed the new construction and the university takes care of maintenance.

RICHLAND GETS MIGHTY GASSER

The biggest gas well today in Richland parish, one that gauged fully 116 million cubic feet, daily open flow, has just been completed by the American Liberty Oil Co., Mengel Hubbard No. 24 in section 34-17-8E, at a depth of 3,258 feet. This company was in quest of oil but missed the sand and instead brought in a big gasser.

All the completions the past week also proved to be gassers, no oil wells being completed the past seven days. There are five of these gassers announced this week at the office of Duncan Cook, district manager in Monroe for the Louisiana Department of Conservation (minerals division). Also there are two abandonments listed.

The completions were as follows:

Union Parish

Southern Carbon Co. Grayling B-4 No. 2, section 25-23-3E. Gauged at 1,113,000 cubic feet gas; rock pressure 980 lbs., total depth 2,714 ft.;(acidized).

Southern Carbon Co., Grayling B-8, section 6-22-4E. Gauged at 5,808,000 cubic feet; rock pressure 1,025; total depth 2,220 (acidized).

Richland Parish

LaSalle Parish

Franklin Parish

Wadley and Forgotson Co., Breece Lumber Co. No. 1, section 18-16-8E. Dry and abandoned at 3,662 feet.

Every 300 miles or so the generator bearings should be treated with a few drops of light oil. Small oil wells will be found at each end of the generator.

M'NEESE COWBOYS CRUSH MERCHANT MARINES, 76-12

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 5—(AP)—McNeese Junior College Cowboys rode roughshod over a U. S. Merchant Marine eleven from Mississippi here last night by a score of 76 to 12.

Coach Albert Ratcliff of the local branch of L. S. U. used his second stringers through most of the game but even these squadmen were much too brawny for the light Buccaneers. Eight of the 12 McNeese touchdowns were tallied by the reserves.

The victory gave the Cowboys some measure of revenge for the three one-touchdown triumphs scored over them by the mariners last season when the junior college was making its debut in football.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Stocks easy; leaders continue slow retreat Bonds lower; rails decline. Cotton irregular; trade buying and hedging.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Little enthusiasm accompanied the resumption of Saturday stock market sessions today and leading issues backed into losing territory on one of the smallest volumes of the past two years.

Sporadic attempts at recovery generally failed to follow through and declines of fractions to a point or more predominated near the close. Transfers dwindled to about 400,000 shares. Board-rooms were all but deserted as most customers elected to continue their five-day week.

Bonds were lower, led by rails. Commodities steadied.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated Southern spot markets was 75 cents a bale higher at 38.72 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 37.35. Middling 7/8ths-inch average 37.09.

New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Trade buying and hedging accounted for an irregular trend in the cotton futures market today. Prices moved over a wide range and were easily influenced by orders in either direction. Deferred contracts were the strongest, and buying in this section of the list again reflected trade ideas that the government report, which will be issued on Oct. 8, will be at least 200,000 bales below the government's September 1 estimate of 9,171,000 bales. Hedging in small volume depressed the nearby contracts, some of the selling was attributed to New Orleans dealers.

Futures closed 35 cents to $2.75 a bale higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—All grain futures advanced today, with nearby deliveries showing the largest upturn, on trade reports that the government would attempt to move 100,000,000 bushels of wheat out of the Northwest before navigation is closed on the Great Lakes.

In the spot market No. 1 yellow corn sold at $1.98 a bushel. Cash dealers said old corn was being purchased on a to-arrive basis at about $1.94 to $1.96 a bushel. Bookings totaled 240,000 bushels.

FARM LOANS
You can now secure the most attractive farm loan in history. Plenty of money to loan on delta farms in amounts of $2,500.00 and up at lowest rate of interest, long terms and with liberal prepayment privileges. No stock to buy, no application fee, no appraisal fee, no commission to pay and no payment, due until fall of 1947. A good time to finance or refinance while money is cheap. If in need of long term farm finances see

This property on market for first time. Monroe needs a high class modern tourist court and restaurant on beautiful Highway 80 to catch the heavy incoming and outgoing tourist and traveling trade that our hotels can't possibly take care of. I have the ideal spot 7 miles from the new traffic bridge, West Monroe, 100 acres bordering 1.2 mile on paved Highway 80. Gas, water, lights, gorgeous trees. All under good fence. 70 acres cleared, good fertile land. Has 2 houses, barn, out houses. Purchaser can retain a portion and resell acreage for truck farms, poultry farms, dairies, etc. Has fine spring water, grazing range and timber sections. A first class gravel road completely circles the 100 acres. This would be ideal for a country home or club house. $16,000. Can be financed. Write Box 500, Monroe, La., or phone 883 before church or after.

This property on market for first time. Monroe needs a high class modern tourist court and restaurant on beautiful Highway 80 to catch the heavy incoming and outgoing tourist and traveling trade that our hotels can't possibly take care of. I have the ideal spot 7 miles from the new traffic bridge, West Monroe. 100 acres bordering 1/2 mile on paved Highway 80. Gas, water, lights, gorgeous trees. All under good fence. 80 acres cleared, good fertile land. Has 2 houses, barn, out houses. Purchaser can retain a portion and resell acreage for truck farms, poultry farms, dairies, etc. Has fine spring water, grazing range and timber sections. A first class gravel road completely circles the 100 acres. This would be ideal for a country home or club house. $16,000. Can be financed. Write Box 800, Monroe, La., or phone 883 before church or after.

FAMOUS NAVAL BAND TO PLAY

Will Give Two Performances In Ruston On Tuesday

RUSTON, La., Oct. 5.—(Special)—Two performances by the United States navy band here on October 8 will open the second annual Louisiana Tech concert season.

The famous musicians, now touring the country by special act of Congress, will play at 2:15 p.m. and also at 8 p.m., both concerts to be staged in the football stadium at the college. In case of rain, both programs will be given in Howard auditorium at Tech.

Heralding the visit of the navy band, several high school bands are scheduled to participate in a marching contest at 1 p.m. on Tuesday. Among the competitors will be bands from Homer, Ouachita Parish, of Monroe, Ruston and El Dorado, Ark., it has been announced.

More than 1,200 season tickets have been sold to date for the concert programs, according to L. V. E. Irvine, chairman of the concert committee. In addition, Tech's record student enrollment of 2,316 will assure large attendance at all the concert numbers. The college students may be admitted to either the afternoon or night concert of the navy band upon presentation of their student tickets.

General admission to the band concert next Tuesday will be $1.20 for adults and 60 cents for high school pupils and children.

Loss of engine power is often due to loss of compression, and the motor should be checked for worn cylinders and rings, faulty ignition, improper carburetion, or deranged valve action.

BAPTIST LEADERS RALLY

Groups at the West Monroe First Baptist Church shown above assembled to give impetus to an educational roundup. They comprise the officers, teachers in Sunday school, Training Union, W. M. U., Brotherhood and deacons. It is stated that in a local church census there were found 1,200 who are prospects for this church and Sunday school. Efforts are to be exerted to reach these persons through an enlarged program. Teacher training, visitation, and evangelism are to be stressed.

JAMES L. WICK TO GIVE TALK

Noted Editor To Open Town Hall Fall Season In Monroe

Guest of honor at the next meeting of Monroe Town Hall, which will be held at Ouachita Parish School on Monday, October 14, will be James L. Wick, the noted editor of "What's Happening in Washington," which is published each week by the Prentice Hall Company and has a weekly circulation of more than 50,000 among leading American business men.

Mr. Wick, who knows most of the Washington leaders personally, is able to forecast with almost uncanny insight the trends of international and national events and interpret them in such a way as to make such information very valuable to local business leaders throughout the country.

However, Mr. Wick's lecture is far from being dry or stereotyped. Due to his ever fresh information, he is forced to change bits of his material from week to week as he goes along though his view is a long-term one on the whole and his major ideas and predictions are based on that sort of a viewpoint.

Mr. Wick is possessed of considerable charm, is blessed with a fine sense of humor, and though his lecture contains a lot of real food for reflection he is able to say what is necessary in a charming and delightful manner.

Recently he has been in Europe and he has interviewed most of the men who really count in the nations of that great continent; the men who are in power now or who are about to assume the power with the result that, as an American expressing the American viewpoint, he knows thoroughly what is going on and what is likely to develop in Europe as that unhappy continent strives manfully to keep the peace.

THE NATION TODAY
By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—AP.—Here's an ABC on the Palestine problem.

President Truman has shoved it into the headlines with his suggestion that Britain let a "substantial" number of Jews immigrate into Palestine now.

Jews and Arabs both claim Palestine as their homeland. The Jews had a kingdom there before Christ. It fell. The Jews were dispersed. Through the centuries they continued to look upon Palestine as their homeland.

Some Jews remained in Palestine. But the Arabs, a Semitic people like the Jews, lived there in greater numbers. Palestine was the heart of the Arab world.

Many nations held Palestine after the Jews' kingdom disappeared. Turkey had it at the time of World War I. Britain took it from her. The League of Nations gave it to Britain as a mandate.

Which means Britain was to run it until some plan was found for letting the people living there run it themselves. The British began to let Jews immigrate there.

This, ever since Britain took over the country, has been a sore point with the Arabs.

They were in the majority in Palestine and they wanted to stay in the majority. They feared that continued Jewish immigration would put the Jews in the majority.

From the time the British took over, there have been many proposals for settling the Palestine problem. No solution has been found yet.

The Arabs say they have a greater claim on Palestine than the Jews because they've lived there longer. They want Palestine to be an Arab state. They don't want it broken up into Arab and Jewish states.

If it's an Arab state, they say they'll let Jews have full citizenship.

They argue that if a Jewish state were set up, soon the Jews would flow over into the neighborhood Arab states, eventually outnumbering the Arabs.

The Jews, on the other hand, want a home in Palestine. They want it to be a state, even if it means dividing Palestine up into Jewish and Arab states.

And they want the British to let thousands upon thousands of homeless Jews in Europe immigrate there to safety and a home. Because of Arab opposition, the British have been holding down such immigration.

So the story which has been going on since 1917, when Britain took Palestine from Turkey, is still going on, still unsettled.

President Truman asked the British to let 100,000 homeless Jews of Europe go to Palestine. The British didn't.

Instead, a couple of joint American-British committees were set up to study the problem. Even these committees couldn't see eye to eye.

One said Palestine should not be permitted at all to become a Jewish or Arab state. The other suggested that zones—one Jewish, one Arab—be created.

Under this zone idea, the Jews could accept as many Jewish immigrants as they wished. The Arabs wouldn't have to let any into their zone.

So the British then asked the Jews and Arabs to go to London to discuss the problem. No Jew or Arab from Palestine would go. In fact, no Jew would go.

But a delegation of Arabs from Arab states around Palestine went. This conference didn't find a solution and the British decided to adjourn it until mid-December.

At this point Mr. Truman steps in again and asks the British to let "substantial" numbers of Jews from Europe immigrate into Palestine. This is his second request in a year.

The British may have to turn the whole problem over to the United Nations since it received its mandate from the League of Nations, which no longer exists, and Arabs question Britain's right to continue the mandate.

Three Act Play To Be Presented

Brilliant Little Theatre Season Will Be Launched Later In October

When "Claudia," three-act comedy drama, is presented by the Little Theatre, the latter part of October, it will be like home-coming week for the Monroe Little Theatre. For members, back from the four corners of the earth, will be cast in roles of "Claudia."

The play is being directed by Kay Crandall, new director, fresh from a summer season in New York, with the Dramatic Play House.

Anne Sue Miller will play the leading feminine role of "Claudia," the child wife of David Norton, played by Bid Causey. Miss Miller majored in speech at Louisiana Northwestern State College, where she took a prominent part in college dramatics. She was vice-president of the Davis players and student sponsor for the Junior Drama club.

Bid Causey, in the leading male role of David Horton, has a B A degree from L. S. U., where he studied radio technique and speech. He was overseas for two and a half years in the European Theater of Operations.

The role of Jerry Seymour, the Englishman, will be played by Paul Duet, French instructor at N. J. C. Mr. Duet was active in Little Theatre plays before the war. He spent two years with the Ninth Air Force in England, France and Belgium.

Elizabeth N. P. Whitfield will be cast in the role of Julia Norton, the sister-in-law of David Norton. Miss Whitfield, who, before coming to Monroe, lived in England, studied dramatics at West of Scotland University, in Glasgow, Scotland. She was a junior member of the Pantheon Dramatic club in Glasgow and took an active part during the war in the Royal Air Force shows, presented in London and Cambridgeshire, England. Miss Whitfield has resided in Monroe for twenty-one months.

Frank Breese, a veteran Little Theatre member, who helped organize the Little Theatre in Monroe, will play the part of the butler, Fritz. He has recently returned from five years service in the armed forces, with the headquarters of the old First Army in Hawaii and Guam—also with the Western Pacific headquarters in Alabang and Luzon.

Judy Caraway, well-known to Little Theatre fans, will be cast in the role of Bertha. Miss Caraway has appeared in many Little Theatre plays and has also been active in back stage activities including make-up, costumes and props.

Mrs. R. O. Watson will play the part of Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother. Mrs. Brown studied speech at the University of Arkansas, and was formerly a member of the Texarkana Little Theatre and has given many book reviews and lectures on psychology in Dallas, Texas.

Jerry Juneman, who graduated in speech at L. S. U., will play the part of Daruschka, the temperamental opera singer. Miss Juneman has had considerable experience with back stage operations with the L. S. U. opera. She was in "Guest in the House" last winter and was in charge of lighting and technical directing in "My Sister Eileen."

The membership campaign of the Little Theatre, and all persons are invited to become members during the campaign. Phone Joe Kern, 969 for a program of diversified subject which includes sociology, philosophy, current events, travelogue, book dramatization and personal culture.

The 1946-47 program was inaugurated September 9th by Mrs. Annie C. Cook, and on September 23rd, the second program was given by Dr. Mary Timms of the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge, whose topic was "Look Forward and Grow."

Mrs. J. R White, honorary member of Delta Rho Delta, and prominent Monroe clubwoman, will be the guest of Sigma Chapter, at which time she will speak to the group, having chosen as her topic, "Portraits in Poetry." The second October speaker will be Dr. Rodney Cline, dean of Northeastern Junior College, whose topic will be, "Where There Is No Vision."

Mrs. Julia Morrow Gilmer, brilliant and widely known book reviewer of Shreveport, will present a dramatization of a current best seller on November 11th; and on November 25th, another Shreveport speaker, Dr. John J. Entrikin, chemurgist of Centenary College, will give a talk which he entitles, "Plastics Unlimited."

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, well known Monroe clubwoman and honorary member of Delta Rho Delta will speak to Sigma Chapter on "A Woman Looks at the News.' A book review during the Christmas season will be presented by Mrs. C. U. Johnson on December 16th.

Mrs. Helen A. Giese, National Counselor of Delta Rho Delta, widely known for her work with cultural clubs and as a human-relationships advisor, is active in the field of social service and is prominently known for her specialized lectures on sociology. She appears regularly on the programs of the various chapters of the sorority, and has chosen for her two lectures to the Monroe chapter this year, "Let's Refuse Limitations" which will be presented on January 13th, 1947, and "Life Is a Great Experiment' which is the topic of her lecture scheduled for May 12th, 1947.

On January 27th, Dr. A. M. Serex, pastor of the First Methodist Church will speak and has selected as his subject, "Are You One of These?"

"Atomic Teen-Agers" will be the subject of a talk on February 10th, by Judge Chris Barnette, of the Shreveport Juvenile Court. The second February speaker is to be Dr. A Scott Hamilton, orthopedist whose topic will be "Surgery and Our Crippled Children."

Mrs. Ava C. Wheat, who is an honorary member of Delta Rho Delta and widely traveled and popular book reviewer, will be the guest of Sigma Chapter on March 10th at which time she will present a specialized book review.

Dr. Albert Venting, A. B. University of London, world traveler and member of the American Research society, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cleburne, Texas, and national vacational director of the sorority, has chosen as the subject of a travel-talk he will present on March 24th, "Cults of Asia."

Another honorary member of Delta Rho Delta, Mrs. James A Noe, will be the guest speaker on April 14th, and her topic will be "Spotlight on Louisiana Cities." The second lecture during April will be Dr. H. J. Sachs Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, Louisiana who will give a strategic talk, "To Understand the Russians."

From Centenary College, Shreveport, Louisiana, Dr. E. L. Ford will visit Sigma Chapter on May 26th, when he will entitle his talk, "Burden-Bearers Are the Winners."

On June 9th, Dr. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the Presbyterian Church will speak to the group, and his subject is to be, "The Great Cure" To close the program for the summer months, Mrs. George Welch, wife of the superintendent of schools of Ouachita parish, will be presented in a book review of a current best seller.

Three Act Play To Be Presented

Brilliant Little Theatre Season Will Be Launched Later In October

When "Claudia," three-act comedy drama, is presented by the Little Theatre, the latter part of October, it will be like home-coming week for the Monroe Little Theatre. For members, back from the four corners of the earth, will be cast in roles of "Claudia."

The play is being directed by Kay Crandall, new director, fresh from a summer season in New York, with the Dramatic Play House.

Annie Sue Miller will play the leading feminine role of "Claudia," the child wife of David Norton, played by Bid Causey. Miss Miller majored in speech at Louisiana Northwestern State College, where she took a prominent part in college dramatics. She was vice-president of the Davis players and student sponsor for the Junior Drama club.

Bid Causey, in the leading male role of David Horton, has a B. A. degree from L. S. U., where he studied radio technique and speech. He was overseas for two and a half years in the European Theater of Operations.

The role of Jerry Seymour, the Englishman, will be played by Paul Duet, French instructor at N. J. C. Mr. Duet was active in Little Theatre plays before the war. He spent two years with the Ninth Air Force in England, France and Belgium.

Elizabeth N. P. Whitfield will be cast in the role of Julia Norton, the sister-in-law of David Norton. Miss Whitfield, who, before coming to Monroe, lived in England, studied dramatics at West of Scotland University, in Glasgow, Scotland. She was a junior member of the Pantheon Dramatic club in Glasgow and took an active part during the war, in the Royal Air Force shows, presented in London and Cambridgeshire, England. Miss Whitfield has resided in Monroe for twenty-one months.

Frank Breese, a veteran Little Theatre member, who helped organize the Little Theatre in Monroe, will play the part of the butler, Fritz. He has recently returned from five years service in the armed forces, with the headquarters of the old First Army in Hawaii and Guam—also with the Western Pacific headquarters in Alabang and Luzon.

Judy Caraway, well-known to Little Theatre fans, will be cast in the role of Bertha. Miss Caraway has appeared in many Little Theatre plays and has also been active in back stage activities including make-up, costumes and props.

Mrs. R. O. Watson will play the part of Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother. Mrs. Brown studied speech at the University of Arkansas, and was formerly a member of the Texarkana Little Theatre and has given many book reviews and lectures on phychology in Dallas, Texas.

Jerry Juneman, who graduated in speech at L. S. U., will play the part of Daruschka, the temperamental opera singer. Miss Juneman has had considerable experience with back stage operations with the L. S. U. opera. She was in "Guest in the House" last winter and was in charge of lighting and technical directing in "My Sister Eileen."

Members of the Sigma Chapter of the Delta Rho Delta sorority are this year anticipating one of the most worth while programs since the society was organized in this city.

Arrangements have been completed by the headquarters office of Delta Rho Delta National sorority for the annual series of twenty lectures and cultural features which comprise the educational program of each chapter of the sorority, an organization of business and professional women of which Sigma Chapter of Monroe is now in its third year of organization. Prominent local and southwestern lecturers are presented semi-monthly in a program of diversified subject matter which includes sociology, philosophy, current events, travelogue, book dramatization and personal culture.

The 1946-47 program was inaugurated September 9th by Mrs. Aimee C. Cook, and on September 23rd, the second program was given by Dr. Mary Mimms of the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge, whose topic was "Look Forward and Grow."

BOOK REVIEW IS PIECE DE RESISTANCE OF BOOK CLUB MEETING WITH MRS. HOLLAND

Mrs. G. D. Holland, assisted by Mrs. A. S. Gunter, entertained the members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club, Wednesday at her home on Forsythe Avenue, when the club met for the second meeting of the year.

Mrs. G. D. Holland led members in the salute to the flag, which is always introductory to each business session of the club.

Mrs. A. S. Gunter, president, presided during the business period, and presented several matters of importance for the consideration of members.

Mrs. A. R. Doughty, corresponding secretary, read a communication from Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of Louisiana Federated Woman's Clubs, concerning highlights of the recent National Convention of General Federation of Women's Clubs, held in Chicago. Main points of interest stressed by Mrs. Tisdale were the timely addresses of Captain Harold Stassen, who used for his topic "Don't Give Up The Peace," and the renowned writer, Fannie Hurst, who spoke on "Politics and the Sleeping Beauty," in which she expressed her belief that women are stagnating today in regards to their activities in politics and world affairs.

Mrs. Zell Smith, chairman of "The Clubwoman," appealed to members for one hundred per cent support of this magazine, inasmuch as all clubwomen should keep informed in regards to General Federation and National affairs.

Highlights of the business meeting was the naming of delegates to be sent to the State Convention at Alexandria, which will convene at Hotel Bentley, November 7, 8, and 9. They were as follows: first delegate, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, alternate, Mrs. E. A. Porter, second delegate, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, alternate, Mrs. G. D. Holland, third delegate, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, alternate, Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Mrs. F. E. Black, acting program chairman, presented the afternoon's topic relating to American citizenship, and introduced Mrs. E. C. Gibson, who gave an inspiring talk on the subject, "What Is Required of Me As A Clubwoman." She said in part, "I am one person in all this vast world of people, facing a new club year whose passing may hold my destiny. When this one year has gone, shall I look upward to clear, starlit skies, and outward, where peace has come to renew and enrich the scarred land? Or, do I see my destiny mirrored in the tortured faces of millions, now slaves? What part shall I play? Shall I admit defeat because one, alone, can find no way to help, and I am that one? Millions are wondering, just as I am—alone. But we are the millions—together! Together we hold the power to make the world free. And so, I see my place. To follow the course of duty to myself and my country. To see clearly my individual responsibility. There will be no rest for me until peace and justice return. I must present, work out, and establish certain ideas and ideals that are good for all colors, races and creeds. I must 'love mercy, do justly, and walk humbly with my God'."

Mrs. T. H. Scott gave the first book review of the new club year, "Autobiography," by William Allen White. In interesting manner, she gave the life of this typical American citizen, who participated in the making of much of the history of his era. She said in part: "This is the personal story of an outstanding figure and of a way of life, both of which typify an America now past. Memories of boyhood in a middle-class Kansas community during the seventies and eighties vividly show our country when the Middle West was a frontier. Brilliant descriptions of local boss politics and the party machine, working hand in glove with big industrial interests, form many pictures, and chapters. Leaders like Mark Hanna and Theodore Roosevelt, are characterized, and his editorship of leading Kansas newspapers account for America in the throes of its greatest period of growth and change. The whole story offers human footnotes of history."

"His was a successful life in worldly goods," Mrs. Scott continued. "He enjoyed being a moderately rich man, and did not care for more than that. His wealth lay in his influence, experiences in human relations, and his friendships, and in achievement for the common welfare. He was a happy man. He was, in fact, an example of American life at its best," Mrs. Scott concluded.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. B. Hausherr, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. H. D. Holmes, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst, and Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Guests: Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson, Mrs. C. T. Shaw, Mrs. H. S. Wasson, Mrs. Alice Reed and Mrs. Lillian Steele, of British Columbia.

Mrs. E. Everett Lawson,
Reporter.

Miss Blackwell Is The Bride Of Mr. W. N. Stracener

An impressive double ring ceremony performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, united in marriage Miss Ruth Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Blackwell and Mr. William N. Stracener, son of Mrs. Jenny Stracener of Alexandria, La., on September 22. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of a few intimate friends and immediate relatives.

Miss Meredith Snell of Alexandria served as maid of honor. She wore a light wool model of aqua blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and tuberoses.

Mr. Murphy Blackwell, Jr., the bride's brother, served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, were a lovely fall model of poudre blue lightweight wool with brown off-the-face hat trimmed in gold sequins. Her corsage was of orchids.

The cake, a three-tiered confection, centered the lace covered table in the dining room where punch was served from a crystal bowl presided over by Mrs. Dupree.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Stracener will be at home to their friends in Alexandria.

Let foods cool before placing in refrigerator. Remove pickles, jellies and unopened cans that need no cold.

Mrs. Zell Smith, chairman of "The Clubwoman," appealed to members for one hundred per cent support of this magazine, inasmuch as all clubwomen should keep informed in regards to General Federation and National affairs.

Highlights of the business meeting was the naming of delegates to be sent to the State Convention at Alexandria, which will convene at Hotel Bentley, November 7, 8, and 9. They were as follows: first delegate, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, alternate, Mrs. E. A. Porter, second delegate, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, alternate, Mrs. G. D. Holland, third delegate, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, alternate, Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Mrs. F. E. Black, acting program chairman, presented the afternoon's topic relating to American citizenship, and introduced Mrs. E. C. Gibson, who gave an inspiring talk on the subject, "What Is Required of Me As A Clubwoman." She said in part, "I am one person in all this vast world of people, facing a new club year whose passing may hold my destiny. When this one year has gone, shall I look upward to clear, starlit skies, and outward, where peace has come to renew and enrich the scarred land? Or, do I see my destiny mirrored in the tortured faces of millions, now slaves? What part shall I play? Shall I admit defeat because one, alone, can find no way to help, and I am that one? Millions are wondering, just as I am—alone. But we are the millions—together! Together we hold the power to make the world free. And so, I see my place. To follow the course of duty to myself and my country. To see clearly my individual responsibility. There will be no rest for me until peace and justice return. I must present, work out, and establish certain ideas and ideals that are good for all colors, races and creeds. I must 'love mercy, do justly, and walk humbly with my God'."

Mrs. T. H. Scott gave the first book review of the new club year, "Autobiography," by William Allen White. In interesting manner, she gave the life of this typical American citizen, who participated in the making of much of the history of his era. She said in part: "This is the personal story of an outstanding figure and of a way of life, both of which typify an America now past. Memories of boyhood in a middle-class Kansas community during the seventies and eighties vividly show our country when the Middle West was a frontier. Brilliant descriptions of local boss politics and the party machine, working hand in glove with big industrial interests, form many pictures, and chapters. Leaders like Mark Hanna and Theodore Roosevelt, are characterized, and his editorship of leading Kansas newspapers account for America in the throes of its greatest period of growth and change. The whole story offers human footnotes of history."

"His was a successful life in worldly goods," Mrs. Scott continued. "He enjoyed being a moderately rich man, and did not care for more than that. His wealth lay in his influence, experiences in human relations, and his friendships, and in achievement for the common welfare. He was a happy man. He was, in fact, an example of American life at its best," Mrs. Scott concluded.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. H. D. Holmes, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. C. S. Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst, and Mrs. E. J. Whitman.

Miss Johns Is The Bride Of Anthony Traina

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Johns of Dodson, La., announce the marriage of their daughter, Elenor Glynn, to Anthony J. Traina of Jonesboro, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Traina of Monroe, La., on September 16. The wedding vows were exchanged at the First Methodist church in Beaumont, Texas, with the Rev. Howard T. Fort officiating.

The bride wore a lovely Camellia pink model with black accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Traina will be at home in Jonesboro, where Mr. Traina is in business. He received his discharge from the service several months ago after serving for four years in the armed forces.

Mrs. Traina is a graduate of the Dodson High School and at the time of her marriage was employed in Jonesboro.

Grasse Haven Is The Scene Of Supper Party

Typical southern hospitality was extended by Mr. William Grasse at his country home to members of Delta Rho Delta sorority and their escorts Friday night.

Harvest season was charmingly portrayed in the colors of the flowers adorning the long supper table and in the delicious refreshments served to: Miss Violet DeCuir, Miss Eva Gae Penton, Miss Lela Fields, Miss Annie Mae Well, Mrs. Ruby McLaughlin, Mrs. Gretchen Burno, Mrs. Gladys Watkins, Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Miss Nell McCormick, Mrs. Ann Adama, Miss Opal Baker Miss Margaret Mason, Mr. Tut Martin, Miss Marjorie Ewing, Miss Anna Lee Bedwell, Mr. Marvin DuBos, Miss Marjorie Wink, Miss Evelyn Evans, Mr. Ralph Bird, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Foster, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Holdsworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Domingues, and Mrs Paul Mortensen.

An impressive double ring ceremony performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, united in marriage Miss Ruth Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Blackwell and Mr. William N. Stracener, son of Mrs. Jenny Stracener of Alexandria, La., on September 22. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of a few intimate friends and immediate relatives.

Miss Meredith Snell of Alexandria served as maid of honor. She wore a light wool model of aqua blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and tuberoses.

Mr. Murphy Blackwell, Jr., the bride's brother, served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely fall model of poudre blue lightweight wool with brown off-the-face hat trimmed in gold sequins. Her corsage was of orchids.

The cake, a three-tiered confection, centered the lace covered table in the dining room where punch was served from a crystal bowl presided over by Mrs. Dupree.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Stracener will be at home to their friends in Alexandria.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY UNITES MISS LAURA LOUISE PATTON AND MR. THEODORE CROWELL

The marriage of Miss Laura Louise Patton, daughter of Mr. William F Patton of Tallulah, La., and the late Mrs. Laura Fluker Patton of Monroe, and Theadore Crowell, son of Mrs Evelyn Crowell, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, September 21, at 4 o'clock in the Sexton Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist Church, with Dr. Dana Dawson officiating.

On either side of the entrance to the altar were floor baskets of white gladioli and fern. A low arrangement of white gladioli was placed beneath the cross. Tapers in floor candelabra were lighted by Mr. Deen McCormack.

The nuptial music was rendered by Mrs H L. Booth, organist who played "Clair de Lune" and "Always." She accompanied Mrs. Dana Dawson who sang "I Love Thee," Grieg and "Because" D'Hardelot. The traditional wedding marches were used and during the ceremony "Till the End of Time" was played.

Miss Florence Fluker, of Monroe, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a dress of aqua wool with sequin trim and accessories of black. She carried a semi-colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Gordon L. Wright of Tulsa, Okla., served as best man, and the ushers were Gordon Surgume, of Monroe and Richard T. Treaver.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T Treavor, uncle and aunt of the bride. The reception room was decorated with pink gladioli and rose of Montana. Guests were received by Mrs Richard T. Treavor, Mrs. Evelyn Crowell, Mrs. William F. Patton.

Miss Patrician Dwyer was in charge of the bride's book.

The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and was centered with branched silver candelabra holding white tapers intertwined with fern and tuberoses. At one end of the table was the three tiered wedding cake placed in a reflector encircled with white malme and fern, and at the other end of the table was a crystal punch bowl.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Gordon Surgume and Miss Sara Robinett of Monroe, La., Mrs. Clint Brailey, Mrs. Charles Jerdon, and Miss Margaret Vaughan.

Following their honeymoon in New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Crowell will be at home in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Miss Patton is the maternal granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kendrick Fluker of Monroe, and her paternal grandparents are Mrs. William F. Patton of Shreveport and the late Mr. Patton of Monroe. She is a graduate of Neville High School and Northeast Junior College in Monroe, and received her B. A. degree from Polytechnic Institute. Miss Patton has resided with her aunt, Mrs. Richard T. Treavor and Mr. Treavor of Shreveport, since her graduation from college in 1944.

Mr. Crowell is descended on the maternal side from the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Dooley of Grand Island, Neb., and his paternal grandparents are Mrs. Frank Marion Crowell of Glendale, Calif., and the late Mr. Crowell. He is a graduate of Tulsa University and a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Mr. Crowell was recently discharged from the Army Air Corps where he held the rank of lieutenant.

The out of town guests included Mrs. Frank McCormick, Mrs. Edgar McCormick, Miss Nancy McCormick, and Mr. D. McCormick of Oak Grove, La., Miss Sara Robinett, Mrs. Gordon Surgume, Mrs. Cecile Parker, and Mr. Gordon Surgume of Monroe, La., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Purely Personal

In the grand ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, on the night of October 25, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of this city, president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will represent this state at the United Nations dinner honoring Mr. Paul Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations Assembly, Mr. Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations and the Honorable Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative of the Security Council of United Nations. The invitation extended Mrs. Tisdale was a distinct honor and came as a climax to her splendid work for the United Nations charter.

Feminine readers will be interested in the gown Mrs. Tisdale will wear at this brilliant affair. It's a black crepe dinner gown with a deep yoke of pink sequins the exact color of her pink ostrich feather hat. She will wear long black suede gloves. At the tea at the Museum of Art given by the International Assembly of Women Mrs. Tisdale will wear a black crepe dinner gown elaborately trimmed in cerise and green sequins. A tull length coat heavily embroidered in sequins will be worn. Her hat will be a small black one. Mrs. Tisdale has been asked to serve as one of the hostesses at this tea attended by women from all over the world.

Mrs. Tisdale's attendance at the Defense Forums in January 1942 at the Mayflower hotel, Washington, D. C., was the beginning of a vigorous campaign for an international organization to maintain peace, develop friendly relations among nations, achieve international cooperation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural or humanitarian character.

On Oct. 28, 29, 30th following the board of directors meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Waldorf-Astoria, Mrs. Tisdale will also have the privilege of attending the Herald-Tribune Forum. This forum has become an institution in the United States. Since the tickets are in great demand and are given to only a few people in each state, the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs is honored to have their president represent them at this forum.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Christmas for instance seems just around the corner for members of the Reader's Clique. They are collecting toys for children who might otherwise be overlooked by Santa Claus and realize that the time has come to make requests for toys that have been cast aside. Mothers are requested to take inventory of their children's toys that have been discarded and donate them to the Reader's Clique for their toy project. Mrs. Ivy Jordan, telephone 3153 or Mrs. Joe Bennett, telephone 6740, will gladly collect the toys if mothers will take the trouble to contact them.

Mrs. Cahrles Mitchell, in attendance at the National American Legion Auxiliary convention in San Francisco writes of the brilliant social events held in connection with the three-day session. She quoted a social editor of the San Francisco Chronicle who said: "Members of the American Legion Auxiliary are, barring none, the best dressed convention crowd San Francisco has seen for many a year. With their new fall modes—smart tailleurs, gowns and feathered hats, they look more like a fashionable audience at a symphony concert than convention delegates. Tea at the Palace Hotel gave delegates an opportunioty to wear the most beautiful gowns, of their convention trousseaux."

Delegates attending the convention from Monroe in addition to Mrs. Mitchell are Mrs. Flood Madison, Jr., the state president and Mrs. Sam Rubin. Mrs. Mitchell's visit in California is being highlighted by visits to the historic old Spanish missions and the quaint little towns along the coast.

Mangham

Rev. Ira H. Peak, pastor of the Queensboro Baptist church, Shreveport, was the visiting minister doing the preaching for the revival in progress at the Mangham Baptist church. Rev. C. W. Jones is the resident pastor.

The Sunbeam Band of the Mangham Baptist church rendered a splendid program to an appreciative audience on Friday night. The program, under the direction of Mrs. C. W. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Ed Barfield, was in commemeration of the 60th birthday of the Sunbeam organization. The content of the program was a pageant with the Sunbeam in costume, of the early years of Woman's Missionary Society endeavors. Following this scene, songs and scriptural quotations were rendered by the children. A solo by Sandra Randall. The birthday cake topped with 60 candles was in evidence. The lighting of the candles was participated in by the Sunbeams, the pastor, Rev. C. W. Jones and others. At the close of the program every one was invited to remain for the social hour when the Sunbeams served iced punch and cookies.

Mrs. Adams Childress was hostess to Circle 1 of the W. S. C. S. Present were Mrs. M. K. McConnell, Mrs. A. M. Wynn, Mrs. Mable Wilson, Mrs. F. D. Childress, Mrs. Carl Underwood, and Mrs. Kenneth Gallaway.

Claiming prominence among the many pre-nuptial courtesies extended Miss Dolly Nolan Lohmann, bride-elect, was the beautifully appointed dinner party at the Hollywood with Mrs. W. C. Singley, hostess.

The table was candlelit and banked with flowers. The place reserved for Miss Lohmann was favored with a pair of exquisite crystal candlesticks with silver filigree presented to her by her hostess.

Purely Personal

In the grand ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, on the night of October 25, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of this city, president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs will represent this state at the United Nations dinner honoring Mr. Paul Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations Assembly, Mr. Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations and the Honorable Warren R. Austin, U. S. representative of the Security Council of United Nations. The invitation extended Mrs. Tisdale was a distinct honor and came as a climax to her splendid work for the United Nations charter.

Feminine readers will be interested in the gown Mrs. Tisdale will wear at this brilliant affair. It's a black crepe dinner gown with a deep yoke of pink sequins the exact color of her pink ostrich feather hat. She will wear long black suede gloves. At the tea at the Museum of Art given by the International Assembly of Women Mrs. Tisdale will wear a black crepe dinner gown elaborately trimmed in cerise and green sequins. A full length coat heavily embroidered in sequins will be worn. Her hat will be a small black one. Mrs. Tisdale has been asked to serve as one of the hostesses at this tea attended by women from all over the world.

Mrs. Tisdale's attendance at the Defense Forums in January 1942 at the Mayflower hotel, Washington, D. C., was the beginning of a vigorous campaign for an international organization to maintain peace, develop friendly relations among nations, achieve international cooperation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural or humanitarian character.

On Oct. 28, 29, 30th following the board of directors meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the Waldorf-Astoria, Mrs. Tisdale will also have the privilege of attending the Herald-Tribune Forum. This forum has become an institution in the United States. Since the tickets are in great demand and are given to only a few people in each state, the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs is honored to have their president represent them at this forum.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Christmas for instance seems just around the corner for members of the Reader's Clique. They are collecting toys for children who might otherwise be overlooked by Santa Claus and realize that the time has come to make requests for toys that have been cast aside. Mothers are requested to take inventory of their children's toys that have been discarded and donate them to the Reader's Clique for their toy project. Mrs. Ivy Jordan, telephone 3153 or Mrs. Joe Bennett, telephone 6740, will gladly collect the toys if mothers will take the trouble to contact them.

Mrs. Cahrles Mitchell, in attendance at the National American Legion Auxiliary convention in San Francisco writes of the brilliant social events held in connection with the three-day session. She quoted a social editor of the San Francisco Chronicle who said: "Members of the American Legion Auxiliary are, barring none, the best dressed convention crowd San Francisco has seen for many a year. With their new fall modes—smart tailleurs, gowns and feathered hats, they look more like a fashionable audience at a symphony concert than convention delegates. Tea at the Palace Hotel gave delegates an opportunioty to wear the most beautiful gowns, of their convention trousseaux."

Delegates attending the convention from Monroe in addition to Mrs. Mitchell are Mrs. Flood Madison, Jr., the state president and Mrs. Sam Rubin. Mrs. Mitchell's visit in California is being highlighted by visits to the historic old Spanish missions and the quaint little towns along the coast.

Mangham

Rev. Ira H. Peak, pastor of the Queensboro Baptist church, Shreveport, was the visiting minister doing the preaching for the revival in progress at the Mangham Baptist church. Rev. C. W. Jones is the resident pastor.

The Sunbeam Band of the Mangham Baptist church rendered a splendid program to an appreciative audience on Friday night. The program, under the direction of Mrs. C. W. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Ed Barfield, was in commemoration of the 60th birthday of the Sunbeam organization. The content of the program was a pageant with the Sunbeam in costume, of the early years of Woman's Missionary Society endeavors. Following this scene, songs and scriptural quotations were rendered by the children. A solo by Sandra Randall. The birthday cake topped with 60 candles was in evidence. The lighting of the candles was participated in by the Sunbeams, the pastor, Rev. C. W. Jones and others. At the close of the program every one was invited to remain for the social hour when the Sunbeams served iced punch and cookies.

Mrs. Adams Childress was hostess to Circle 1 of the W. S. C. S. Present were Mrs. M. K. McConnell, Mrs. A. M. Wynn, Mrs. Mable Wilson, Mrs. F. D. Childress, Mrs. Carl Underwood, and Mrs. Kenneth Gallaway.

Claiming prominence among the many pre-nuptial courtesies extended Miss Dolly Nolan Lohmann, bride-elect, was the beautifully appointed dinner party at the Hollywood with Mrs. W. C. Singley, hostess.

The table was candlelit and banked with flowers. The place reserved for Miss Lohmann was favored with a pair of exquisite crystal candlesticks with silver filigree presented to her by her hostess.

A delicious four course dinner was served to the hostess and her guest of honor and Mrs. Ray Henderson, Mrs. W. C. Tucker, Mrs. Reba Wilson, Mrs. Branch Isbell, and Mrs. S. C. Simpson.

Mrs. Reba Wilson's compliment to Miss Lohmann was a dinner party in the main dining room of the Virginia hotel The table was beautifully serviced and a delicious four course dinner served. Miss Lohmann wore an attractive fall ensemble of pheasant brown with harmonizing accessories.

Mrs. J. B. Isbell's compliment to Miss Lohmann was a conversational hour at her home on Columbia Drive. Still another courtesy was Miss Ray Henderson's linen shower. Miss Lohmann wore on this occasion a charming Hattie Carnegie model of mulberry crepe with grey accessories and a corsage of orchid asters presented to her by her hostess.

Dodson

The faculty of the Dodson High School and a large number of others attended the health workshop in Winnfield elementary school auditorium on September 26 and 27. Among the several speakers were State Superintendent John E. Cox. The workshop was directed by Miss Leone Langford, health educator, Northwestern State College at Natchitoches.

The W. S. C. S., of the First Methodist church met Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Gear. After the program led by the president, Mrs. L. L. Stewart, a social hour was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Wiley Ammous, aged 2 1/2 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Ammous of Winnsboro and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gates of Dodson, died Saturday in a hospital in Winnsboro. Interment was at Fellowship cemetery, Sunday.

Mrs. D. W. White left Monday for St Louis, Mo., where she is receiving treatment at a hospital there.

News was received here Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Decia Anders, 94, of Winnsboro. Mrs. Anders and her husband, the late N. H. Anders, for a number of years made their home in Winn and Jackson parishes. Mrs. Anders was an aunt of W. S. Terrell and Mrs. W. A. Murphy of Dodson.

WORTHWHILE PROJECT ADOPTED BY READERS' CLIQUE MEMBERS HAS NOW BEEN SET IN MOTION

During the business meeting plans were completed for the annual luncheon which will be held October 31st. A report was made by the toy committee that all toys on hand have been repaired. These toys will be used to spread cheer among children who might be overlooked by Santa Clause at Christmas. The request is made that anyone having damaged toys on hand which they would like to donate to this worthy cause, please call Mrs. Ivy Jordan at telephone 3153 or Mrs. Joe Bennett at 6740 and someone will collect the toys. The president authorized the treasurer to mail a check to the Community Chest as a contribution from the Readers' Clique.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. A. E. Montgomery who reviewed Paul Hazard's "Books, Children and Men."

"Paul Hazard was born in 1878 in a small village near the Belgium frontier. He became a teacher of literature and was a member of the faculty of numerous outstanding universities including Lyons, Sarbonne, French Academy, Harvard and Columbia. He is the author of several outstanding volumes. In 1941 he left Columbia to assist France in the war. It was made known that he died a prisoner of war in a German concentration camp.

"Books, Children and Men," was translated from French for the Horn Book by Margaret Mitchell. It was one of a number of books sent to a Boston book shop for boys and girls in 1933 by Ester Averiee. The book proved valuable to those interested in the combination of child and book, and was a step in bringing Paul Hazard's work the recognition it should have in this country where he had long been a beloved and honored visitor

"The first chapter is entitled, "Men Have Always Oppressed Children." Children and grownups belong to different worlds! When they learn to read, a new world opens to them and here begins the history of a long misunderstanding, as few people understand the language of children. During the Renaissance era, children were offered books that "oozed" boredom, silly, empty or pedantic. When everyone was freed, and printing was invented, even then all the children had was the Bible, Ten Commandments, the alphabet and the works of the Latin authors. They reasoned that since this delighted the grownups the little ones also would enjoy it.

"In 1697 Charles Perrault, who was a member of the French Academy, dared to publish Tales of Mother Goose. Those weary of glamour welcomed these stories of Little Red Riding Hood, Hop O' My Thump and Puss in Boots. Perrault is as fresh as the dawn, but his fairies retreated in 1757 when Madame Leprince de Beaumont published the Children's Magazine. Next there was a Madame de Genlis who decided there were no worth while books for children, so she flourished for a while with stories of rich lords and ladies in which she stressed the idea that only the rich were good and the poor should be grateful to them. These were not good years for the young of France.

"Let us cross the Channel and see what is happening in England. John Newbury's book shop was opened in 1750. This was as new in England as the atom bomb. For a long time there had been horn books, Chop books and childish rhymes prevalent in England. Newbury understood that he could make something new from these old things. He made books beautiful with pictures, good paper with gilt edges and fine bindings. In his shop at 65 St. Paul, churchyard children found Tommy Tripp, a hero of Tom Thumb's size, Babes in the Woods and numerous pretty poems for children.

"Then in 1765 as a New Year's gift to his young public, Newbury published Little Goody Two Shoes, the story of a little girl who had only one shoe at a time. Newbury declared the story was printed from an original manuscript found in the Vatican and illustrated by Michelangelo. His book shop for children was a triumph.

"One generation after the death of Newbury, Good Two Shoes had disappeared from the shelves of his shop and two English women, Mrs. Barbould and Mrs. Trimmer, were engulfing children with lessons on morals as they felt that juvenile literature had gone astray.

"We need not worry, children will not let themselves be oppressed and even though we wish to dominate, they wish to be free. No force in the world can compel them to read what bores them. They reject books that do not treat them as equals. Works that they single out and like are possessed immediately by them. They all want it, they sieze it, hold it, put their mark on it and make it their own. Swift published Gulliver's Travels in 1726 with the idea of showing his puffed up fellowmen how uncertain life is. Children recognized themselves in Gulliver's encounter with giants and dwarfs and they took the book as their own.

"Children today continue to defend themselves by refusing books that bore them and by doing so they have acquired a place in the libraries, newspapers and in the theaters."

At the conclusion of the program, which was enjoyed by everyone present, the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. Ed Crowley, Mrs. J. S. Harbuck, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr., Mrs. Ray Updegraff, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. R. E. Ethridge, Mrs. H. C. Menuet, Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, Mrs. Douglas Murray, Mrs. Ray Rhymes, and Mrs. T. B. Godfrey.

MARIE WAMSLEY is back from New York with a bag full of new beauty tricks . . . one in particular does wonders with a weather-beaten skin. A dazzling pink and white skin will be yours after a few treatments. Then there is the famous Parker-Herbex treatment for dandruff and falling hair. MARIE WAMSLEY spent days in this studio learning how to make hair grow and to make it gleam and glisten. Really it's wonderful. . . . MARIE WAMSLEY also has a wonderful new creme wave . . . It leaves the hair a glistening mass of waves.

SUBTLE AND ARDENT and excitingly provocative is that wonderful new perfume, D'ORSAY'S INTOXICATION, now on sale at the perfume bar at the FRANCES HOTEL PHARMACY. Ask Mr. Williams, the proprietor, to show you a bottle of this perfume that has captured the hearts of discriminating women. One drop of INTOXICATION lingers on the skin like a caress. There are many hard-to-find toiletries at the FRANCES HOTEL PHARMACY. . . . Yardley's for instance. You'll love April Violet.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL days mean more work for mother . . . meals on prompt schedule and good, wholesome food on hand at all times. That's why I heartily endorse MEL-O-TOAST bread for growing children. With a loaf of vitamin, mineral-packed bread on hand, there's no need to worry. For the after-school snack and for the school lunch box, nothing can compare with MEL-O-TOAST from the CITY BAKERY. Don't take a substitute . . . insist on MEL-O-TOAST.

WHY NOT FLATTEN a bulging stomach contour and take inches off your waistline with a CHARMODE girdle? You will find one of these miracle garments at SEARS ROEBUCK COMPANY. There is one for every figure and the corsetiere will select one for you in the privacy of a booth on the balcony. The CHARMODE, designed for the mature figure, has taken feminine Monroe by storm. . . . They have discovered that a CHARMODE girdle keeps a firm reign on sagging stomach muscles and flattens bulk and bulges.

NIGHTS WHEN THE winds howl and Jack Frost's a-prowl, a warm welcome awaits you at the RAINBOW INN. If your appetite is whetted by the cold air, then a thick, juicy steak or good old ham and eggs, cooked expertly by a renowned chef, will be something to smack your lips over. Your meal can be enjoyed in grand manner to the strains of that "peppy" all-girl orchestra or in the privacy of a comfortable little booth in the main lounge. If you insist on good food, motor out to the RAINBOW INN.

THE SMART HOUSEWIFE no longer serves dinner at home . . . the whole family dines at the HOLLYWOOD where the prices are reasonable, the food excellent and the surroundings congenial. The HOLLYWOOD, however, is the most popular with the lonely twosome . . . with sons and daughters off to college a big dinner shouldn't be cooked at home. THE HOLLYWOOD has solved the problem. Why don't you plan to eat your dinner at the HOLLYWOOD tonight. The menu is so varied you can pick and choose.

A DRAMATIC TOUCH OF elegance demands a piece of superb jewelry these days. For that touch of drama there's nothing to compare with the sparkling diamond sunburst now on display at the R & A JEWELRY SHOP. It's not just for a season, it's for life-time, and grows more valuable with each passing year. Let me suggest a piece of antique jewelry from the R & A for a Christmas gift for that very special person. The lay-away plan will appeal to you . . . the payment method is another pleasant factor.

SOCIABLE DAYS are here again and the most sociable place in town is the CASCADE where the doors open at eleven in the morning and gay crowds gather until 12 midnight. The gayest time, however, is four o'clock . . . the cocktail hour, when friends meet and order their favorite drink to enjoy the touch of hospitality found at the CASCADE. It's almost time for that famous hot Tom and Jerry drink, made famous by the CASCADE, and served to patrons year after year.

WORTHWHILE PROJECT ADOPTED BY READERS' CLIQUE MEMBERS HAS NOW BEEN SET IN MOTION

During the business meeting plans were completed for the annual luncheon which will be held October 31st. A report was made by the toy committee that all toys on hand have been repaired. These toys will be used to spread cheer among children who might be overlooked by Santa Clause at Christmas. The request is made that anyone having damaged toys on hand which they would like to donate to this worthy cause, please call Mrs. Ivy Jordan at telephone 3153 or Mrs. Joe Bennett at 6740 and someone will collect the toys. The president authorized the treasurer to mail a check to the Community Chest as a contribution from the Readers' Clique.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. A. E. Montgomery who reviewed Paul Hazard's "Books, Children and Men."

"Paul Hazard was born in 1878 in a small village near the Belgium frontier. He became a teacher of literature and was a member of the faculty of numerous outstanding universities including Lyons, Sarbonne, French Academy, Harvard and Columbia. He is the author of several outstanding volumes. In 1941 he left Columbia to assist France in the war. It was made known that he died a prisoner of war in a German concentration camp.

"Books, Children and Men," was translated from French for the Horn Book by Margaret Mitchell. It was one of a number of books sent to a Boston book shop for boys and girls in 1933 by Ester Averiee. The book proved valuable to those interested in the combination of child and book, and was a step in bringing Paul Hazard's work the recognition it should have in this country where he had long been a beloved and honored visitor

"The first chapter is entitled, "Men Have Always Oppressed Children." Children and grownups belong to different worlds! When they learn to read, a new world opens to them and here begins the history of a long misunderstanding, as few people understand the language of children. During the Renaissance era, children were offered books that "oozed" boredom, silly, empty or pedantic. When everyone was freed, and printing was invented, even then all the children had was the Bible. Ten Commandments, the alphabet and the works of the Latin authors. They reasoned that since this delighted the grownups the little ones also would enjoy it.

"In 1697 Charles Perrault, who was a member of the French Academy, dared to publish Tales of Mother Goose. Those weary of glamour welcomed these stories of Little Red Riding Hood, Hop O' My Thump and Puss in Boots. Perrault is as fresh as the dawn, but his fairies retreated in 1757 when Madame Leprince de Beaumont published the Children's Magazine. Next there was a Madame de Genlis who decided there were no worth while books for children, so she flourished for a while with stories of rich lords and ladies in which she stressed the idea that only the rich were good and the poor should be grateful to them. These were not good years for the young of France.

"Let us cross the Channel and see what is happening in England. John Newbury's book shop was opened in 1750. This was as new in England as the atom bomb. For a long time there had been horn books, Chop books and childish rhymes prevalent in England. Newbury understood that he could make something new from these old things. He made books beautiful with pictures, good paper with gilt edges and fine bindings. In his shop at 65 St. Paul, churchyard children found Tommy Tripp, a hero of Tom Thumb's size, Babes in the Woods and numerous pretty poems for children.

"Then in 1765 as a New Year's gift to his young public, Newbury published Little Goody Two Shoes, the story of a little girl who had only one shoe at a time. Newbury declared the story was printed from an original manuscript found in the Vatican and illustrated by Michelangelo. His book shop for children was a triumph.

"One generation after the death of Newbury, Good Two Shoes had disappeared from the shelves of his shop and two English women, Mrs. Barbould and Mrs. Trimmer, were engulfing children with lessons on morals as they felt that juvenile literature had gone astray.

"We need not worry, children will not let themselves be oppressed and even though we wish to dominate, they wish to be free. No force in the world can compel them to read what bores them. They reject books that do not treat them as equals. Works that they single out and like are possessed immediately by them. They all want it, they sieze it, hold it, put their mark on it and make it their own. Swift published Gulliver's Travels in 1726 with the idea of showing his puffed up fellowmen how uncertain life is. Children recognized themselves in Gulliver's encounter with giants and dwarfs and they took the book as their own.

"Children today continue to defend themselves by refusing books that bore them and by doing so they have acquired a place in the libraries, newspapers and in the theaters."

"SHOPPING THE TOWN" WITH Camille

WELCOME TO LA CASA . . . Monroe's swanky new tea room at 1405 South Grand. How wonderful to have a place where you can drop in for a sandwich and a cup of coffee in the afternoon. How wonderful to have a private dining room at your disposal for a dinner party and still more wonderful to have a beautiful living room for club meetings followed by delicious refreshments. Southern cooking is featured . . . you can order a turkey or chicken dinner or regular party food. You'll simply love the privacy afforded. Telephone the hostesses, Mrs. Minnie Boughton and Mrs. Roberta Bondy for reservations.

MARIE WAMSLEY is back from New York with a bag full of new beauty tricks . . . one in particular does wonders with a weather-beaten skin. A dazzling pink and white skin will be yours after a few treatments. Then there is the famous Parker-Herbex treatment for dandruff and falling hair. MARIE WAMSLEY spent days in this studio learning how to make hair grow and to make it gleam and glisten. Really it's wonderful. . . . MARIE WAMSLEY also has a wonderful new creme wave . . . it leaves the hair a glistening mass of waves.

WAELDER RITES SET FOR TODAY

Funeral For Former Insurance Executive In Grace Church

The funeral of Bradley Waelder, 66, retired Monroe insurance man, who died at his home near West Monroe on Highway 80 late Friday, will be held in Grace Episcopal church this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The body will be in state at the church from 1 p. m., until time for the services which will be conducted by the rector, Rev Edward F. Hayward. Interment, directed by the Mulhearn Funeral Home, will be in Hasley cemetery.

Mr. Waelder was born in San Antonio, Tex., January 6, 1880. He was in early life a close friend of the late Victor Barringer who also resided in San Antonio. Through this friendship Mr. Waelder was persuaded to come to Monroe and become connected with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, and he succeeded Mr. Barringer as this company's local representative. Because of ill health, Mr. Waelder retired in 1932 and has not been physically able to resume active business responsibilities since that time.

Mr. Waelder was member of Western Star lodge of Masons in Monroe, member of the Monroe chapter No. 18, Monroe Council No. 8, Monroe Commandery No. 7, and Teflis Grotto. He was the Grand High Priest of Royal Arch Masons in 1931. Also was Most Illustrious Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters in 1930; and was Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Louisiana in 1935. He served locally all these bodies before he became the head of them in the state.

He was for years an outstanding member of Western Star lodge No. 24 F. and A. M. and advanced through the ranks until he achieved the honor of heading Masonry in the state.

Mr. Waelder leaves his wife, to whom he was married Dec. 25, 1912 and who was formerly Miss Byrnie C. Handy, three sisters, Mrs. J. Fry, Houston, Tex; Mrs. Annie W. J. Johnston, San Antonio, Tex; and Mrs. H. R. Smith, New York City, two brothers, F. J. Waelder, Gloucester, Mass., and Palm Beach, Fla.; Carl Waelder, Glendale, Calif., and a nephew and two nieces.

Western Star Lodge No. 24 will meet at the Masonic Temple, this afternoon at 2:45 o'clock and will proceed in a body to Grace Episcopal church to attend the funeral. At the grave in Hasley cemetery they will have a Masonic ritual service.

LITTLE THEATRE HAS REHEARSALS

Rehearsals for "Claudia," three-act comedy drama, are being held nightly at the Little Theatre workshop, Neville High School, under the direction of Miss Kay Crandal, new Little Theatre director.

Members of the cast are: Annie Sue Miller, in the leading feminine role of Claudia, child wife of David Norton. Bid Causey will play the part of David Norton, leading male role.

Other members of the cast are: Elizabeth N. P. Whitfield as Julia Norton, sister-in-law of David Norton; Frank Breese as Fritz, Judy Caraway as Bertha; Jerry Juneman as Dariushka, the temperamental opera singer; Mrs. R. O. Watson as Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother; Paul Duet as Jerry Seymour, the Englishman.

The play will be given the latter part of October, according to Miss Crandall. The membership campaign of the Little Theatre is now in progress and membership cards may be secured from Joe Kern, phone 920.

AUTO-LEC PLANS NEW DEPARTMENT

Auto-Lec Stores is proud to announce that in addition to the new remodeling job just completed, they will now have a modern, up-to-the-minute major appliance department.

Bill Williams, supervisor and Fred Gilbert, manager of the appliance department for Interstate Electric Companies, are in Monroe for an extended stay for the purpose of setting up and inaugurating this newest addition to the local Auto-Lec Store. This new department will include all appliances of every type, from electric irons to complete kitchens.

The British and American governments are divided over Palestine as they have not been divided since the war debt debate of many years ago. But instead of a direct collision between individual interests, the new disagreement revolves around methods of arriving at a mutually-desired goal.

The British, accustomed to recent years to establishing a common front with the United States and then facing the world, are piqued that President Truman should step out alone in what has been considered a primarily British matter. But it is hardly a situation in which pique lingers long enough to really interfere with an international relationship.

Whether the president's statement will have the adverse affect on Palestine negotiations which the British profess to fear remains to be seen. The water already is so roiled that the tossing of another pebble would hardly seem likely to produce any great splash. It might, on the other hand, point up to the principal disputants the need for some agreement, if only an interim one, to alleviate the distress of Europe's Jews, moving as they are, hungry and ill-fed, through the underground toward Palestine, the only star they can see.

To oversimplify, the Jews want to make a Jewish state out of Palestine. The Arabs, fat in the majority, want to create a Democratic state with guarantees of Jewish minority rights. The British want to get out of the middle into which they stepped after World War I, but not at the expense of their military position in the Levant. President Truman apparently puts the plight of Europe's Jews, against whose immigration into Palestine the Arabs are adamant, ahead of all the rest.

That a permanent solution will be found quickly seems doubtful. But the United States proposal of economic aid for the area in connection with increased Jewish immigration may contain the germ of a possible long range solution.

President Roosevelt, after his trips to Africa and the Middle East, was greatly impressed by the possibilities of developing the area. He thought that irrigation, with development of natural resources, could change the entire political and economic face of this ancient part of the world.

Now, in connection with the various proposals for dividing the Jews and Arabs, it must be remembered that Palestine is the metropolitan area, the business center, the built-up section of a great area inhabited mostly by Arabs. This development, it is true, has been due to the Jews under British supervision and support. But it is understandable that the Arabs should not wish to move out, nor yet remain under either minority or alien control.

With some expansion of the idea of economic aid, looking toward development of an area for the Arabs which would compare with Palestine in desirability, they might be induced to yield sufficient room for the Jews. When the Arabs say, as some do repeatedly, that they are not interested in economic development and merely want to be left alone, they mostly mean they are not interested at the expense of Jewish or foreign control. And for self-development might take an entirely different chord.

WAELDER RITES SET FOR TODAY

Funeral For Former Insurance Executive In Grace Church

The funeral of Bradley Waelder, 66, retired Monroe insurance man, who died at his home near West Monroe on Highway 80, late Friday, will be held in Grace Episcopal church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The body will lie in state at the church from 1 p. m., until time for the services which will be conducted by the rector, Rev. Edward F. Hayward. Interment, directed by the Mulhearn Funeral Home, will be in Hasley cemetery.

Mr. Waelder was born in San Antonio, Tex., January 6, 1880. He was in early life a close friend of the late Victor Barringer who also resided in San Antonio. Through this friendship, Mr. Waelder was persuaded to come to Monroe and become connected with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, and he succeeded Mr. Barringer as this company's local representative. Because of ill health, Mr. Waelder retired in 1932 and had not been physically able to resume active business responsibilities since that time.

Mr. Waelder was member of Western Star lodge of Masons in Monroe; member of the Monroe chapter No. 18, Monroe Council No. 8, Monroe Commandery No. 7, and Teffis Grotto. He was the Grand High Priest of Royal Arch Masons in 1931. MOUK AND JACKSON TO ATTEND MEET

H. A. Mouk and W. B. Jackson of the McKenzie & Mouk, Inc., Insurance Agency, local representatives of The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, will attend an educational conference at the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans on October 7.

Leading Aetna agents from this section of the country have been invited to attend this conference in recognition of their outstanding records.

The conference is one of a number being held by Aetna throughout the country in order that its representatives may have a full, "up-to-the-minute" knowledge of their business and, consequently, may prove of greater service to their clients. Speakers at the conference will describe many different forms of insurance and bonding protection.

HURLEY GIVES NEW MEXICO COLORFUL POLITICAL WHIRL

Confident Democrats Predict Chavez To Get Majority Of Votes

Editor's note: Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, is visiting states with major campaigns underway. Here is the second of several reports on political conditions as he finds them.

By Jack Bell
(Associated Press Political Reporter)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Bronco-riding Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley is giving New Mexico the kind of colorful political whirl it enjoys, but confident Democrats predicted today Senator Dennis Chavez will corral a majority of the votes in the November 5 senatorial election.

Hurley, whose fiery exit as an ambassador was marked several months ago by his denunciation of state department underlings for alleged interference with his policies in China, heads a GI-packed ticket the Republicans are throwing at the opposition in this normally-Democratic state.

Described glowingly by his own party's campaign literature as being "as decorated as a Christmas tree" with war medals, the silvery-haired 63-year-old former diplomat and ex-secretary of war is burning up the stage trail in an effort to convince enough deep-dyed Democrats "it's time for a change" to oust Chavez from the Senate seat he has held 10 years.

Chavez, whose hold on the state's slightly-preponderant Spanish-American vote seems outwardly a little shakey, has struck back forcefully by allusions to Hurley as a "newly-made" resident of New Mexico and a follower of the policies of former President Herbert Hoover.

To this latter count, Hurley's sharp reply at public meetings has been: "I'll show that muckraker (Chavez) that he is running against me and not Herbert Hoover."

Despite his inability to speak the Spanish that rolls so fluently off Chaves' tongue, Hurley has been into every New Mexico county twice on a whirlwind campaign that has seen him ride a bronco at the Springer fair and receive with Mrs. Hurley at scores of informal teas. An interpreter acts for Hurley in Spanish-speaking counties, but New Mexicans are used to that for Senator Carl Hatch has campaigned that way for years.

Hatch, who has turned down pleas by the Democratic National Committee to speak elsewhere, plans to stay home and help Chavez, told this reporter information he has received indicates New Mexico is "safely Democratic."

"Right now," he said, "only one thing could upset it and that would be for a general trend that seems to be shaping up elsewhere against the 'ins' to become a landslide."

Hurley contended vigorously that "there is a tergeral upheaval" in the making that gives him a good chance to overcome the Democrats' ordinary margin in the vote count. Asserting that Chavez had declined to join the issue with him on foreign policy, Hurley declared:

"This administration isn't capable of controlling foreign policy, it can't even control the price of meat."

New Mexico bears few surface indications however, of the irritations politicians say have been raised in some other Southwestern states by food shortages and government controls of various kinds.

Hatch said the so-called "native" counties always have raised and butchered their own meat. But Larry Bynum, publicity chief for the G. O. P. state campaign committee, contended the pinch is being felt in the "Anglo" Eastern counties, also known as "Little Texas." He said it seemed clear to him that in this area, where the Republicans have always had the spearhead of their campaign, that some Democrats were going to support the G. O. P. ticket and others stay at home because of dissatisfaction with the national administration.

The democrats are troubled, too, by the strained relations between Gov. John J. "Jack" Dempsey and Chavez, who defeated him for the senatorial nomination. Dempsey is democratic national committeeman for the state, but Hatch and Chavez are determined that the retiring governor shan't have his hand on the state's delegation at the 1948 presidential nominating convention.

Dempsy, resigned in this loss of authority, told this reporter he remains a democrat and will vote for Chavez, an announcement he had failed conspicuously to make formerly.

Hatch and Chavez are supporters of President Truman and it appeared that the state's 19 votes will go to him in the 1948 democratic convention.

President Truman's policies haven't figured prominently in the race thus far but there was controversy over the effect of his dismissal of Henry Wallace from the cabinet.

Hatch said this strengthened the democrats in the eastern counties where many of the voters follow a conservative line.

But John E. Baker, editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican, which is supporting Hurley, said he thought democratic candidates had been hurt, rather than helped, because Mr. Truman had "fumbled the ball" by the way in which he pushed Wallace back into private life.

"Nobody in New Mexico hated to see Wallace go," Baker said. "But Mr. Truman didn't help himself by indorsing Wallace's speech and then fumbling around with an explanation."

OUACHITA VALLEY FAIR WILL OPEN

Plans are complete for the opening of the Ouachita Valley Fair in West Monroe, October 9-12. There will be hundreds of cash prizes in a wide variety of contests which range from the best canned figs to the best displays of corn and sweet potatoes.

The West Monroe Lions Club is sponsor of the sweet potato show and to this end has arranged to give prizes that total $250. The corn show will also be of interest and successful ones will receive in premium prize that will aggregate $1.00.

Exhibits will be received on October 7 and 8 and all displays must be in place by 5 p.m., October 8.

MOUK AND JACKSON TO ATTEND MEET

H. A. Mouk and W. B. Jackson of the McKenzie & Mouk, Inc., Insurance Agency, local representatives of The Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, will attend an educational conference at the St. Charles Hotel in New Orleans on October 7.

Leading Aetna agents from this section of the country have been invited to attend this conference in recognition of their outstanding records.

The conference is one of a number being held by Aetna throughout the country in order that its representatives may have a full, "up-to-the-minute" knowledge of their business and, consequently, may prove of greater service to their clients. Speakers at the conference will describe many different forms of insurance and bonding protection.

(Editor's note: Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, is visiting states with major campaigns underway. Here is the second of several reports on political conditions as he finds them.)

By Jack Bell
(Associated Press Political Reporter)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Bronc-riding Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley is giving New Mexico the kind of colorful political whirl it enjoys, but confident Democrats predicted today Senator Dennis Chavez will corral a majority of the votes in the November 5 senatorial election.

Hurley, whose fiery exit as an ambassador was marked several months ago by his denunciation of state department underlings for alleged interference with his policies in China, heads a GI-packed ticket the Republicans are throwing at the opposition in this normally-Democratic state.

Described glowingly by his own party's campaign literature as being "as decorated as a Christmas tree" with war medals, the silvery-haired 63-year-old former diplomat and ex-secretary of war is burning up the sage brush in an effort to convince enough deep-dyed Democrats "it's time for a change" to oust Chavez from the Senate seat he has held 11 years.

Chavez, whose hold on the state's slightly-preponderant Spanish-American vote seems outwardly a little shakey, has struck back forcefully by allusions to Hurley as a "week-end" resident of New Mexico and a follower of the policies of former President Herbert Hoover.

To this latter count, Hurley's sharp reply at public meetings has been: "I'll show that muckraker (Chavez) that he is running against me and not Herbert Hoover."

Despite his inability to speak the Spanish that rolls so fluently off Chavez' tongue, Hurley has been into every New Mexico county twice on a whirlwind campaign that has seen him ride a bronco at the Springer fair and receive with Mrs. Hurley at scores of informal teas. An interpreter acts for Hurley in Spanish-speaking counties, but New Mexicans are used to that for Senator Carl Hatch has campaigned that way for years.

Hatch, who has turned down pleas by the Democratic National Committee to speak elsewhere in order to stay home and help Chavez, told this reporter information he has received indicates New Mexico is "safely Democratic."

"Right now," he said, "only one thing could upset it and that would be for a general trend that seems to be shaping up elsewhere against the 'ins' to become a landslide."

Hurley contended vigorously that "there is a lengeral upheaval" in the making that gives him a good chance to overcome the Democrats' ordinary margin in the vote count. Asserting that Chavez had declined to join the issue with him on foreign policy, Hurley declared:

"This administration isn't capable of controlling foreign policy, it can't even control the price of meat."

New Mexico bears few surface indications however, of the irritations politicians say have been raised in some other Southwestern states by food shortages and government controls of various kinds.

Hatch said the so-called "native" counties always have raised and butchered their own meat. But Larry Bynon, publicity chief for the G. O. P. state campaign committee, contended the pinch is being felt in the "Anglo" Eastern counties, also known as "Little Texas." He said it seemed clear to him that in this area, where the Republicans have aimed the spearhead of their campaign, that some Democrats were going to support the G. O. P. ticket and others stay at home because of dissatisfaction with the national administration.

The democrats are troubled, too, by the strained relations between Gov. John J. "Jack" Dempsey and Chavez, who defeated him for the senatorial nomination. Dempsey is democratic national committeeman for the state, but Hatch and Chavez are determined that the retiring governor shan't have his hand on the state's delegation at the 1948 presidential nominating convention.

Dempsey, resigned to this loss of authority, told this reporter he remains a democrat and will vote for Chavez, an announcement he had failed conspiciously to make formerly.

Hatch and Chavez are supporters of President Truman and it appeared that the state's 10 votes will go to him in the 1948 democratic convention.

President Truman's policies haven't figured prominently in the race thus far but there was controversy over the effect of his dismissal of Henry Wallace from the cabinet.

Hatch said this strengthened the democrats in the eastern counties where many of the voters follow a conservative line.

But John E. Baker, editor of the Santa Fe New Mexican, which is supporting Hurley, said he thought democratic candidates had been hurt, rather than helped, because Mr. Truman had "fumbled the ball" by the way in which he pushed Wallace back into private life.

"Nobody in New Mexico hated to see Wallace go," Baker said. "But Mr. Truman didn't help himself by indorsing Wallace's speech and then fumbling around with an explanation."

OUR BELIEFS:

WHAT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, MONROE, BELIEVES

THE BIBLE: We believe that the Bible, the Old and New Testaments, is the very word of God, and that He so superintended its production as a whole and in every part as to make the original autographs an errorless record of such matters as He designed to communicate to men.

THE TRINITY: We believe in the mystery of the Holy Trinity, one God, existing in three persons, the Father, Son and Holy Spirit, these three being the same in substance, equal in power and glory.

JESUS CHRIST: We believe that Jesus Christ is the second person of the Holy Trinity, the eternal son of God; that He was born of the Virgin Mary, conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit; that after living a sinless life he died as a substitute for sinful men, thereby making it possible for a just God to pardon all who accept Him as their Lord and Saviour; that He arose from the dead and ascended in His resurrected body to the right hand of God, where He makes intercession for believers; that He will return to the earth again as He plainly declared to His disciples.

MAN: We believe that, after God had made all other creatures, He created man, male and female; endowed them with living, reasonable and immortal souls; made them after His own image, in knowledge, righteousness and holiness; having the law of God written in their hearts, and power to fulfill it; with dominion over the creatures; yet subject to fall; that man, being left to the freedom of his own will, sinned by disobedience; that thereby sin entered into the world and death through sin; and so death passed unto all men, for all men have sinned.

SALVATION: We believe that men are saved on the ground of the sacrificial death of Christ, on condition of their faith in Him; which faith is the gift of God and is evidenced before men by sincere repentance, acknowledgment and profession.

ETERNAL LIFE: We believe that the souls of believers at their death are made perfect in holiness, and do immediately pass into the presence of God; and that their bodies, being still united to Christ, do rest in their graves till the resurrection. At the resurrection believers, being raised up in glory, shall be openly acknowledged, and acquitted in the day of judgment, and made perfectly blessed in the full enjoying of God to all eternity; but the wicked shall depart into everlasting punishment.

THE CHURCH: We believe that the Church is God's commissioned representative in the present world, and that its mission is the proclamation of redemption in the name of the risen Lord.

Miss Haile Is The Bride Of Mr. W. E. Boehmer

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends took place at St. Matthew's church when Miss Frances Cornelia Haile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Haile of this city became the bride of Mr. Warren Edward Boehmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boehmer of Rochester, N. Y. The nuptial mass was performed at nine o'clock in the morning by Father Hubley in the presence of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Darwin Nichols, the soloist, rendered "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," and "Ave Maria."

Mr. John Collier served as best man.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Boehmer will be at home in Rochester, N. Y., where he is associated with the Velope Motor Co. Mr. Boehmer is a graduate of the Aquinas Institute, Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Boehmer is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and until her marriage was associated with the Woman's Shop.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Faulkner of El Dorado, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Faulkner of Longview, and Miss Adele Koop of Jersey City, N. J.

Miss Nellie Parks became the bride of Mr. Millard Megison in an impressive double ring ceremony September 29, in the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Evans of West Monroe with Rev. Evans officiating. The bride was beautifully attired in a blue wool suit with black accessories. The couple left for a few days visit with Mr. Megison's parents who live near Winnfield, La., after which they will return to West Monroe to make their home. Mr. Megison is associated with the Slumberger Co., and Mrs. Megison is an employee of Montgomery Ward & Co. Friends attending the wedding were: J. P. Moore, Leon Megison, Christeen Fallin, Eloise Hebert, Hugh Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Neyland, and granddaughter, Barbara Ann, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Evans, Gloria and Glen Evans.

There are classes and teachers for all ages. Parents come to the services and bring your children. There are many members of the church in the city who do not attend the services. Will you not say to yourself and family, we will go to the services and live closer to God. Remember there is nothing sure and certain except living for God. No one has ever worked in vain if he worked for God. May we see you at church Sunday? You will be glad you came. Let each member bring someone else to the services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
224 Auburn Avenue

"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 6, 1946.

The Golden Text is: "Al that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (I John 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can save thee in the time of thy trouble" (Jer. 2:28).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' which may be rendered: Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal; thou shalt not know evil, for there is one life,—even God, good" (p. 19).

If a man die, shall he live again? There is a time appointed that all shall come forth from the dead; they who have done good in the resurrection of the just, and they who have done evil in the resurrection of the unjust. He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies. In addition to these scriptures, we have this promise given us in the words of the Savior: "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." How can mankind ignore that glorious promise?

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music, and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 1397, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Miss Haile Is The Bride Of Mr. W. E. Boehmer

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends took place at St. Matthew's church when Miss Frances Cornelia Haile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Haile of this city became the bride of Mr. Warren Edward Boehmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boehmer of Rochester, N. Y. The nuptial mass was performed at nine o'clock in the morning by Father Hubley in the presence of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Darwin Nichols, the soloist, rendered "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," and "Ave Maria."

Mr. John Collier served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful light grey Dressmaker suit and carried a white ivory bound prayer book marked with a spray of gardenias and liberoses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Boehmer will be at home in Rochester, N. Y., where he is associated with the Velope Moter Co. Mr. Boehmer is a graduate of the Aquinas Institute, Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Boehmer is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and until her marriage was associated with the Woman's Shop.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Faulkner of El Dorado, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Faulkner of Longview, and Miss Adele Koop of Jersey City, N. J.

Miss Nellie Parks became the bride of Mr. Millard Megison in an impressive double ring ceremony September 29, in the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Evans of West Monroe with Rev. Evans officiating. The bride was beautifully attired in a blue wool suit with black accessories. The couple left for a few days visit with Mr. Megison's parents who live near Winnfield, La., after which they will return to West Monroe to make their home. Mr. Megison is associated with the Slumberger Co., and Mrs. Megison is an employee of Montgomery Ward & Co. Friends attending the wedding were: J. P. Moore, Leon Megison, Christeen Fallin, Eloise Hebert, Hugh Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Neyland, and granddaughter, Barbara Ann, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Evans, Gloria and Glen Evans.

Will you not say to yourself and family, we will go to the services and live closer to God. Remember there is nothing sure and certain except living for God. No one has ever worked in vain if he worked for God. May we see you at church Sunday? You will be glad you came. Let each member bring someone else to the services.

221 Auburn Avenue

"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 6, 1946.

The Golden Text is: "Al that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (I John 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can save thee in the time of thy trouble" (Jer. 2:28).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' which may be rendered: Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal; thou shalt not know evil, for there is one life,—even God, good" (p. 19).

If a man die, shall he live again? There is a time appointed that all shall come forth from the dead; they who have done good in the resurrection of the just, and they who have done evil in the resurrection of the unjust. He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies. In addition to these scriptures, we have this promise given us in the words of the Savior: "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." How can mankind ignore that glorious promise?

Expecting a Baby?

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Mother's Friend

Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music, and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 1397, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. We Are Marking Time While Other Cities Are Building

In 1945 the Industrial Committee of our Chamber of Commerce developed eight industrial prospects, and lost them all to other cities. A paper bag plant, a linoleum plant, furniture factory, potter plant, etc. While we were stepping up to bat and striking out with regularity like the country amateur, Natchez put $100,000 in a 200 acre site and gave it free to the Johns-Manville Corporation which is now building a $6,000,000 plant in that city. While we were twiddling our thumbs last year, as we are doing now, Tyler, Texas, which has an industrial foundation created in 1943 with paid in capital stock of $243,000, closed a deal with the Payne Floor Furnace Company to build a building for the company at a cost of $390,000. The Company will pay for the building, one twentieth each year for a period of twenty years. The Tyler Industrial Foundation put up only one-third of the cost of the building and borrowed two-thirds of the cost from a life insurance company. Tyler's Industrial Foundation has brought four large industries to that Texas city, while we were marking time in Monroe-West Monroe.

Opportunity Knocks

In the next few years there is going to be a tremendous economic readjustment and industrial upheaval in this country. Industry is coming South in droves—this is happening all around us. Cities which are getting this new industry are exercising self help. They are hustling. In doing so, these cities are creating competition for industry which is unprecedented in American Industrial history.

Let's Get On the Beam, Folks

For once, while opportunity knocks, let's all get on the beam, pull together, work together, and build the Twin Cities into that fine community which Destiny intends our community to be. Let's all of us, every single mother's son of us, buy this stock in our Industrial Foundation. Let's. It's an investment in our future development.

KNOW THE FACTS about our Industrial Foundation Here They Are . . .

The purpose of the Twin City Industrial Foundation is to provide financial assistance to worthy industries in locating in the Twin City area, and to provide aid to existing enterprises in expanding their operations.

Without a doubt, Monroe-West Monroe have been two of the most fortunate communities of the nation since 1920. Since that date a beneficent Nature has given us natural gas, which provided the Twin Cities with their population gains of the twenties, pine trees and our pulp and paper industries, and also our Delhi oil field. During the quarter century since 1920 the Twin Cities have grown because Nature willed it so, and without any leadership or self-help of any consequence among the citizens of these communities.

Now that postwar has arrived, with the South entering the threshold of extensive industrial expansion, the communities of Monroe-West Monroe are faced with unprecedented competition for industrial development in the neighboring states of Texas, Arkansas and especially Mississippi. The experience of the past two years of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which has been in contact with numerous prospects which chose other cities for location instead of the Twin Cities, is convincing evidence that the Twin Cities are not meeting current industrial competition. The lessons learned during the past two years through the loss of these industrial prospects is the reason why the Twin Cities Industrial Foundation has been organized.

Many towns and many cities in Arkansas have, within the past few years, subsidized industry through the erection of buildings which are, in most cases, amortized on a long time lease-purchase plan. Numerous Texas cities, notably Tyler, Texas, have located industries on this same basis. Many Mississippi cities have under special laws of that State voted bond issues for the purpose of erecting buildings and otherwise subsidizing industries in that State, with the result that Mississippi is expanding at a most remarkable rate at the present. These trends in Mississippi and adjacent States have created an unprecedented competition for industry which the Twin Cities cannot meet by merely sitting tamely by, engaging in wishful thinking and waiting for industry to come to our community.

The Twin Cities Industrial Foundation, under guidance and direction of a Board of Directors chosen for their recognized and proven ability and integrity, will use wisely and efficiently the funds of the foundation to assist in financing industrial projects of the Twin Cities. Of the numerous corporations which have expressed an intention to remove their factories from the North and East to the Southwest, or to establish branch factories in this section, most of them expect to pay their own way and are not demanding bonuses or outright contributions from the community in which they located. However, in all cases they do expect assistance of the local community to evidence a positive interest in their coming and our willingness to cooperate in setting up the new establishment. In many cases the local community has been called upon to provide factory sites and buildings and to lease them to the new establishment on a moderate rental basis or on a rental-purchase plan at reasonable interest rates. In other instances the local communities have been asked to assist in financing a portion of the initial outlay in setting up new industries by lending money at a low rate of interest repayable over an extended period. Furthermore, there are occasions when industries already established may desire financial assistance for expansion purposes upon terms that are more liberal than can be expected in ordinary commercial banking transactions.

It is to meet demands of these numerous types that the Twin Cities Industrial Foundation has been organized.

ORGANIZATION SET-UP

The authority for the proposed Charter of the Twin Cities Industrial Foundation is Act 254 of 1914, Legislature of Louisiana, and the Foundation will be a non-profit corporation for the purpose of assisting and encouraging the advancement of the material prosperity and progress of the Cities of Monroe and West Monroe and Ouachita Parish.

The Foundation will be incorporated for $250,000. Stock in the Foundation will be issued in $50 shares par value and multiples thereof. Purchasers of this stock will sign a statement agreeing to purchase so many shares of this $50 par value stock and to pay for such shares in cash on demand of the Treasurer as soon as the stock is printed and delivered to said purchaser. The stock will be non-dividend bearing, since all profits made by the corporation will be retained in the Treasury of the Foundation. Hence purchases of stock will be deductible as a proper business expense on income tax returns. Such is the effect of the holding of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit in "Commission v. The Hub, Inc." 68 Fed (2d) 349, in a case which involved a subscription to the capital stock of a corporation of identical nature in Wheeling, West Virginia. In many instances this feature of the income tax law will materially reduce the ultimate outlay of many subscribers in the Foundation. It is of interest to note that other similar corporations are legally authorized to subscribe for stock in a corporation such as is contemplated in the formation of the Twin Cities Industrial Foundation. Notably among them is the Louisville Industrial Foundation of Louisville, Kentucky, which was organized in 1916. The experience of this enterprise has been successful and has contributed greatly to the upbuilding of Louisville.

Indisputably, industry is moving to the South and the Southwest in this immediate postwar period. The past year has demonstrated that industry is locating only in those communities that evidence a favorable and helpful attitude. Monroe-West Monroe have an opportunity in this good year of 1946 which should not be overlooked. Business men, professional men and property owners should invest a portion of their income or savings in this Industrial Foundation in order to assist in the Industrial development of the Twin Cities. They can and will do so, it is believed, in the full confidence and assurance that this Foundation will be intelligently, carefully and judiciously administered in order that it may produce the maximum industrial benefit to the Twin Cities, and will provide additional payrolls, more business and a higher living standard for the citizens of this area.

We Are Marking Time While Other Cities Are Building

In 1945 the Industrial Committee of our Chamber of Commerce developed eight industrial prospects, and lost them all to other cities. A paper bag plant, a linoleum plant, furniture factory, potter plant, etc. While we were stepping up to bat and striking out with regularity like the country amateur, Natchez put $100,000 in a 200 acre site and gave it free to the Johns-Manville Corporation which is now building a $6,000,000 plant in that city. While we were twiddling our thumbs last year, as we are doing now, Tyler, Texas, which has an industrial foundation created in 1943 with paid in capital stock of $243,000, closed a deal with the Payne Floor Furnace Company to build a building for the company at a cost of $390,000. The Company will pay for the building, one twentieth each year for a period of twenty years. The Tyler Industrial Foundation put up only one-third of the cost of the building and borrowed two-thirds of the cost from a life insurance company. Tyler's Industrial Foundation has brought four large industries to that Texas city, while we were marking time in Monroe-West Monroe.

Opportunity Knocks

In the next few years there is going to be a tremendous economic readjustment and industrial upheaval in this country. Industry is coming South in droves—this is happening all around us. Cities which are getting this new industry are exercising self help. They are hustling. In doing so, these cities are creating competition for industry which is unprecedented in American Industrial history.

Let's Get On the Beam, Folks

For once, while opportunity knocks, let's all get on the beam, pull together, work together, and build the Twin Cities into that fine community which Destiny intends our community to be. Let's all of us, every single mother's son of us, buy this stock in our Industrial Foundation. Let's. It's an investment in our future development.

KNOW THE FACTS about our Industrial Foundation Here They Are . . .

The purpose of the Twin City Industrial Foundation is to provide financial assistance to worthy industries in locating in the Twin City area, and to provide aid to existing enterprises in expanding their operations.

Without a doubt Monroe-West Monroe have been two of the most fortunate communities of the nation since 1920. Since that date a beneficent Nature has given us natural gas, which provided the Twin Cities with their population gains of the twenties, pine trees and our pulp and paper industries, and also our Delhi oil field. During the quarter century since 1921 the Twin Cities have grown because Nature willed it so, and without any leadership or self-help of any consequence among the citizens of these communities.

OUACHITA PARISH LIBRARY IS ONE OF THE BUSIEST PLACES IN MONROE AT THIS TIME

Nothing so delights Miss Frances Flanders, librarian at the Ouachita Parish Public Library than to assist the scholarly in their search for certain types of books and to answer daily by patrons of the library.

However the type of questions asked would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer. Here's a few Miss Flanders has been called upon to answer recently:

"What do you feed a pet skunk?"

"How is flour manufactured?"

"How can I convince a customer of the need to buy a piano?"

"Where can I find a list of the early steamboats on the Ouachita River?"

"What are the traffic laws in Monroe?"

"Where can I find information about the social life in New Orleans in the pre-Civil War period?"

"What can I read to make me a better insurance salesman?"

Miss Flanders is constantly assisting club women to prepare papers or book reviews. She especially likes to help those who are writing on books recently acquired by the library. This month Miss Flanders has been helping with a chapter on the fundamentals; continues with two chapters entitled "Background for Reviewing" and "The Technique of Reviewing." Then the author considers the various types of books to be reviewed: biography, history, contemporary thought, travel and adventure, fiction and poetry and gives samples of the work of some of the better known reviewers.

Miss Flanders knows where to put her hand on every book in the library and can tell you accurately how many books were circulated each month. The October meeting of the Parish Public Library Board will be held at the library on Wednesday, October 2nd. The members of the board were interested in hearing the report of the progress of the library for the month of September, given by Miss Flanders as follows:

In September, 5,837 books were circulated in Monroe and 1,613 in West Monroe, making a total circulation of 7,450 for the parish. During the month 155 new borrowers were added to the library and register as soon as possible.

During the month of September 260 special requests for information and books were filled. Ninety books were borrowed from the Louisiana State Library for this purpose, while 170 requests were filled by using books in the local collection. One hundred and thirty books were added to the library collection during the month of September. In this group are books to appeal to every type of reader. The readers of mystery stories will enjoy Leslie Ford's "Mystery Story," written in Hawaii. Another book for this group is Rufus King's "Museum Piece No. 12." Earle Stanley Gardner fans will welcome his latest story, "The Case of the Backward Mule." Ruth Fenisong's "Desperate Cure" is a crime club selection of exceptional merit. Elisabet M. Stone's "Poison, Poker and Pistols" has a special appeal, because of its New Orleans setting. Van Siller's "One Alone" is quite a thriller. Agatha Christie's latest book "The Hollow" is one of her best. Hercule Poirot stories.

Readers of non-fiction will find a number of books on many subjects. Among titles are "The Case of Mrs. Clark Gaines" by Nolan B. Harmon, Jr., is of leading appeal because it is a Louisiana story. Myra Clark Gaines sued to gain possession of the property of her father, Daniel Clark, in the courts of New Orleans and in the Supreme Court of the United States for a period of more than 50 years. Students of Louisiana law will find it fascinating. It is a very unusual combination of the story of Myra Clark Gaines and the history of Louisiana in the minds of Mrs. Leo Ritter, room mother chairman and Mrs. Tom Mathews's P. T. A., when they called a special meeting of all the room mothers of St. Matthew's school on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Stanley Hodges, president, presiding over the meeting asked for the united cooperation of each room mother on this year's membership drive. She also announced that the P. T. A. district meeting will be held Wednesday October 9th.

Mrs. Ritter distributed lists to the following room mothers, Mrs. W. J. Miller; Mrs. Ralph Norcutt; Mrs. Vincent Marsala, Mrs. C. C. Burkett, Mrs. Ed Pohlman, Mrs. Lawrence McCarthy, Mrs. Kermit Youngblood, Mrs. R. L. Duran, Mrs. Tony Cobran, Mrs. Leo Esdorn, Mrs. A. Petrus, Mrs. Fred Hancock, Mrs. Nick Jongina, Mrs. Eugene Brussato, Mrs. Anthony Embarato, Mrs. Tony Folsom, Mrs. George Tonore, Mrs. F. Tichenor, Mrs. Sylvester Spadaro, Mrs. Joe Maggio, and Mrs. High Bigger.

On Tuesday afternoon the "Y-Teens" met at the "Y". The following officers were elected: Adviser, Mrs. Miss Marness Lester; President, Theresa Bolton; Vice President, Margaret Pounds; Secretary, Ann Merriman; Treasurer, Alice Montgomery; Inter-Club Council Representative, Margie Massey; Sergeant at arms, Violet Redding; Reporter and Historian, Ethel Myers; Devotional Chairman, Charlotte Black; Program Chairman, Mary Gertrude Rodriquez; Membership drive Chairman, Martha Ball. The Board of Directors, securing a membership drive. All girls in the eighth grade are invited to come to the next meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the "Y".

On Wednesday afternoon the 7th Grade Club of Y-Teens held their regular meeting at the "Y" and elected the following officers: Adviser, Mrs. C. McCoy; President, Bennie Albritton; Vice President, Fern Griffin; Secretary, Sally Elliott; Treasurer, Patricia Mosley; Reporter and Historian, Mary Alice Carlton; Inter-Club Council Representative, Donna Faye Montgomery. Afternoon the Blue Circle Club of Y-Teens met at the "Y" with their president, Clay Dell March, presiding. Ann Todd devotional chairman read a "Thought for Today," Nancy Golson and Ann Strohm read verses of scripture from the Bible and Claudette Schroeder led the group in prayer. Plans for the year's project was discussed and the group voted to have a party on November 1st. Lillie Ann Strohm and Carolyn Thornhill will present the party plans at the next meeting.

St. Matthew's P.-T. A. Holds Special Meeting

"United Effort is the Key to Achievement" join the P. T. A. was the theme chairman and Mrs. Tom Mathews's P. T. A. when they called a special meeting of all the room mothers of St. Matthew's school on Monday afternoon.

"Where can I find information about the social life in New Orleans in the pre-Civil War period?"

"What can I read to make me a better insurance salesman?"

Miss Flanders is constantly assisting club women to prepare papers and book reviews. Of special interest to this group is the book written by John Drewry "Book Reviewing" recently acquired by the library. This begins with a chapter on the fundamentals; continues with two chapters entitled "Background for Reviewing" and "The Technique of Reviewing." Then the author considers the various types of books to be reviewed: biography, history, contemporary thought, travel and adventure, fiction and poetry and gives samples of the work of some of the better known reviewers.

Miss Flanders knows where to put her hand on every book in the library and can tell you accurately how many books were circulated each month, and the number of borrowers.

The October meeting of the Board of Control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library took place on Wednesday, October 2nd. The members of the board were interested in hearing the report of the progress of the library for the month of September, given by Miss Flanders as follows:

In September 5,837 books were circulated in Monroe and 1,613 in West Monroe, making a total circulation of 7,450 for the parish. During the month 155 new borrowers were added in Monroe and 30 in West Monroe. There are now 11,343 registered borrowers in Ouachita parish, but there should be many more. New borrowers are enrolling each day. If you have not taken advantage of the library service available to every resident of Ouachita parish, go to the library and register as soon as possible.

During the month of September 260 special requests for information and books were filled. Ninety books were borrowed from the Louisiana State Library for this purpose, while 170 requests were filled by using books in the local collection. One hundred and thirty books were added to the library collection during the month of September. In this group are books to appeal to every type of reader. The readers of mystery stories will enjoy Leslie Ford's "Honolulu Story," an exciting novel with the setting in wartime Hawaii. Another book for this group is Rufus King's "Museum Piece No. 13." Earle Stanley Gardner fans will welcome his latest story "The Case of the Backward Mule." Ruth Fennisong's "Desperate Cure" is a crime club selection of exceptional merit. Elisabet M. Myra Clark Gaines sued to gain possession of the property of her father, Daniel Clark, in the courts of New Orleans and in the Supreme Court of the United States for a period of more than 50 years. Students of Louisiana law will find it fascinating. It is a very unusual coincidence that Nolan Harmon's true account of the story of Myra Clark Gaines should appear in September, while Harnett Kane's first novel, "New Orleans Woman," also based on her life, is to be released on October 22nd.

Flower lovers will be interested in a group of books, which were given to the library this month. The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities presented the following group: "The World Was My Garden" by David Fairchild; "What Happens in My Garden" by Louise Wilder; "A Guide to Wild Flowers" by Norman Taylor; "The Complete Book of Garden Magic" by Roy E. Biles; "Plants in the House" by Frank K. Balthis; "Trees of the South" by Charlotte Green; "Flower Arrangements in Color" by Rockwell and Grayson; and "The New Garden Encyclopedia" by Edward L. Seymour. Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn presented two lovely and unusual books on camellia culture to the library in memory of departed friends. They are: "Practical Camellia Culture" by Robert J. Halliday" and "The New Iconography of the Camellia" written by Alexander Verschaffelt and translated by A. E. McIlhenny of Avery Island in South Louisiana.

Other non-fiction books of current interest are: "The Scarlet Tree" by Sir Osbert Sitwell, "70,000 to One" by Quentin Reynolds; "The Best Years" by Walter Pitkin; "The Challenge of Polio" by Roland H. Berg; and "Hugh Young, Surgeon," the autobiography of one of our outstanding modern physicians.

Fiction titles added to the collection this month are: "The Sudden Guest" by Christopher La Farge; "House Above the River" by Michael Foster "The Dark Wood" by Christine Weston; "The Beloved Stranger" by Leonhard Frank; "Singing Waters" by Ann Bridge; "The Road From Olivet" by Edward F. Murphy; "The Assassins" by H. E. Teilhet; "For One Sweet Grape" by Kate O'Brien; "Through Purple Glass" by Letitia Osborne; "Double Wedding Ring" by Josephine Lawrence; "Chloe Marr" by A. A. Milne; "Woman on her Way" by Faith Baldwin; "Over At the Crowleys" by Kathleen Norris; and last, but most interesting to people who lived in Louisiana during the Huey Long era is Robert Penn Warren's "All the King's Men."

HEAR THIS GREAT OPENING ADDRESS TONIGHT!

CAN STALIN SUCCEED WHERE HITLER FAILED?

Hear the answer to this important question read from an amazing 2,500-year-old Bible prediction in this dramatic address by Hoffman, international traveler and Bible lecturer.

TONIGHT--SUNDAY, OCT. 6---5:30 and 7:30 P. M.

Over and over the speaker has been obliged to give the same address twice to accommodate a great overflow crowd. Plan definitely now to attend this great opening night and you will know why auditoriums are packed at these Bible prophecy lectures. Remember you can hear this message and attend the home church the same evening. The 5:30 and 7:30 services are identical.

SAME ADDRESS TO BE GIVEN TWICE TO ACCOMMODATE A LARGE OVERFLOW CROWD

EVERY SEAT FREE!

BIBLE AUDITORIUM

Mr. Hoffman has lived and seen INSIDE EUROPE during his time on the Continent before the outbreak of World War II. For almost a year, Mr. Hoffman lived within sight of the United Nations Peace Palace of Luxembourg. The Bible alone explains the troubled past and the strange future of Europe. His first-hand information, backed by dynamic Bible prophecy proofs, make this a never-to-be-forgotten address.

Mr. A. Petrus

West Monroe, La.

Dear Mr. Petrus:

I am glad to be informed that the Lions Club of West Monroe will sponsor the Sweet Potato Show to be held at the Ouachita Valley fair grounds October 9-12.

Your organization sponsoring the Sweet Potato Show in 1945, created an interest in sweet potatoes by farmers putting on the markets in Monroe and West Monroe a higher quality of potatoes for the consuming public.

It helped to arouse interest in farmers planting better seed potatoes and better care in harvesting. It also increased the acreage. To an extent, a commercial buyer is locating at Calhoun, La., to buy No. 1 and 2 sweet potatoes and will dehydrate the culls.

I wish to thank you again for sponsoring the Sweet Potato Show.

Sincerely,
J. J. JOYCE, JR.
County Agent.

THEY'RE TATTERED AND TORN AND RAGGED AND FRAYED AND WE'VE HAD THEM TEN YEARS

BUT THEY LOOK OKAY TO ME!

I'M TIRED OF THEM AND WANT NEW DRAPES -- UNDERSTAND? NEW DRAPES!

YOU LOST, POP

THE REASON I LOST IS THAT YOUR MOTHER CAN LEAN OVER FARTHER THAN I CAN

IT'S NOT WHAT YOU SAY IN THESE HUSBAND AND WIFE ARGUMENTS -- THE ONE WHO CAN OUTLEAN THE OTHER WINS

CALL MAMA BACK, AFTER I GET MY SHOES NAILED TO THE FLOOR, AND I'LL SHOW YOU WHAT I MEAN

ARE YOU GOING TO START THIS ALL OVER AGAIN? I TELL YOU THE MATTER IS SETTLED

SETTLED, NOTHING -- I SAY WE'RE NOT GOING TO BUY NEW DRAPES

WE ARE, TOO

WE ARE NOT -- WE'RE GOING TO MAKE THE OLD DRAPES LAST ANOTHER YEAR AND THAT'S THAT -- UNDERSTAND? THAT'S THAT!

OKAY! OKAY! YOU WIN!

I WAS GONNA FIX THE LOOSE BOARD IN THE FLOOR!!

I'M GOIN' TO FIX UP THE OLD DOG HOUSE-I SHOULD HAVE DONE IT LONG AGO!!

OH-YOU CAN'T DO IT-YOUR WIFE BOUGHT A NEW ONE JUST THE OTHER DAY!!

BUT-DADDY-YOU CAN'T PAINT IN HERE TODAY-I'M EXPECTING MY GIRL FRIENDS ANY MINUTE NOW !!!

OH-VERY WELL-I'LL CLEAN OUT TH' CELLAR!!

SORRY-THE WATER DOESN'T NEED ANY DUSTING-GIT YOUR BATHING SUIT ON-TH' WATER'S FINE !!!

BUT I WUZ JUST GONNA DO IT TO PLEASE YOU-

WELL-THERE'S NOTHIN' I KIN DO-SO I'LL JUST SIT AROUND AN' TAKE IT EASY !!!

GET UP OUT OF THAT CHAIR-YOU LOAFER-IS THAT ALL YOU'VE GOT TO DO WHEN THERE'S SO MUCH TO BE DONE AROUND THE HOUSE?

WE OPEN THE FOOTBALL SEASON

I'M SORRY TO DISTURB YOU, SLUG, BUT I'D LIKE TO LOOK UNDER THESE CUSHIONS

AND I PAID A GUY FOUR BUCKS FOR THAT TICKET RIGHT ON THE FIFTY-YARD LINE — AND YOU SAID, LET ME PUT THAT AWAY, SO YOU CAN FIND IT WHEN THE TIME COMES. WELL, THE TIME HAS COME!

AND I DISTINCTLY REMEMBER EITHER PUTTING IT UNDER THE CLOCK OR IN THE TOP DRAWER OF YOUR DRESSER AND THEN I THOUGHT THAT WASN'T SUCH A GOOD PLACE, SO I TOOK IT OUT AND PUT IT SOMEPLACE ELSE; AND I'M SURE, IF WE LOOK THERE, WE'LL FIND IT!

DID YOU LOOK IN THE COFFEE POT? THE COFFEE'S BEEN TASTING SORT OF QUEER LATELY!

ARNOLD! IT COULDN'T POSSIBLY BE IN THAT DOWN SPOUT, SO GET RIGHT UP OFF THAT DAMP GROUND!

SHALL I GET MY INFRA-RED CAMERA?

DID YOU LOOK THROUGH ALL THESE MAGAZINES? MY WIFE IS ALWAYS SLIPPING THINGS INTO MAGAZINES.

LOOK, FREDDIE! I FOUND YOUR TICKET AND YOU'LL NEVER GUESS WHERE IT WAS!

AND THERE GOES THE GUN! ANOTHER FOOTBALL CLASSIC IS OVER AND THE CROWD HERE IN THE STADIUM GOES WILD!

THAT MUST HAVE BEEN A FOOTBALL YOU SAW, ALICE! I'M SURE WE HAVE NO OSTRICHES AROUND HERE!

HE WILL, IF HE CAN GET HIS ARM OUT OF THAT PIPE

MAMA SAYS SHE'S GOING TO TALK YOU INTO BUYING NEW DRAPES FOR THE LIVING ROOM

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE OLD DRAPES?

THEY'RE TATTERED AND TORN AND RAGGED AND FRAYED AND WE'VE HAD THEM TEN YEARS

BUT THEY LOOK OKAY TO ME!

I'M TIRED OF THEM AND WANT NEW DRAPES -- UNDERSTAND? NEW DRAPES!

YOU LOST, POP

THE REASON I LOST IS THAT YOUR MOTHER CAN LEAN OVER FARTHER THAN I CAN

IT'S NOT WHAT YOU SAY IN THESE HUSBAND AND WIFE ARGUMENTS -- THE ONE WHO CAN OUTLEAN THE OTHER WINS

CALL MAMA BACK, AFTER I GET MY SHOES NAILED TO THE FLOOR, AND I'LL SHOW YOU WHAT I MEAN

ARE YOU GOING TO START THIS ALL OVER AGAIN? I TELL YOU THE MATTER IS SETTLED

SETTLED, NOTHING -- I SAY WE'RE NOT GOING TO BUY NEW DRAPES

WE ARE, TOO

WE ARE NOT -- WE'RE GOING TO MAKE THE OLD DRAPES LAST ANOTHER YEAR AND THAT'S THAT -- UNDERSTAND? THAT'S THAT!

OKAY! OKAY! YOU WIN!

SOON A CROWD GATHERED, LAUGHING AND JEERING AT THE STRANGE, TAILLESS ONE AND THE HAIRY WAZ-DON. ARMED SOLDIERS CAME TO INVESTIGATE THE DISTURBANCE.

"TAKE ME TO THE PALACE OF JA-DON, THE KING," TARZAN SAID PROUDLY. "I AM HIS FRIEND, TARZAN-JAD-GURU AND THIS IS OM-AT, CHIEF OF THE WAZ-DON.

A SOLDIER ANSWERED: "JA-DON HAS NO FRIENDS--BECAUSE HE IS DEAD! AND PRINCE TA-DEN HAS FLED THE CITY. JATO-LUR, THE JADE PRIESTESS, RULES HERE!"

"JATO-LUR, THE JADE PRIESTESS, QUEEN OF THE HO-DON, DETESTS STRANGERS. SHE HAS ORDERED THAT ANY WHO ENTER A-LUR ARE TO BE SLAIN UPON SIGHT!"

AT THE SUDDEN TURN OF EVENTS, TARZAN MUTTERED A WORD TO OM-AT. IT WAS A SIGNAL FOR ACTION---

---A MOMENT LATER THE TWO SOLDIERS LAY SILENT IN THE STREET.

QUICKLY THEY SWUNG TO SAFETY ON A ROOF-TOP, AND THE HOSTILE CROWD TREMBLED WITH AWE AS THE AWFUL ROAR OF THE BULL-APE'S VICTORY CRY ECHOED THROUGH THE CITY.

LOOK, FRED! I KNEW HE'D COME! I TOLD YOU! IT'S DOCTOR MEDULLA, WHO USED TO BE "DADDY" WARBUCKS' DOCTOR!

OF COURSE, SIR, FOLKS, ANNIE IS A GIRL WITH A PAST--BUT IT'S A PAST FILLED WITH LOYAL FRIENDS---THE SORT WHO RALLY 'ROUND IN THE PINCHES--

IT'S NOT A GAG! WHATEVER ANNIE SAYS IS TRUE! YOU'VE GOT TO BELIEVE HER!

BUT THIS DOCTOR MEDULLA! SHE SAYS SHE PHONED HIM AND HE'S COME THOUSANDS OF MILES BY PLANE, JUST TO SEE ME! IS THAT REASONABLE?

YES!

BUT THE EXPENSE! AND HE'LL NOT BE ABLE TO DO A THING ANYWAY! NO DOCTOR CAN EVER MAKE MY LEGS WORK!

DON'T SAY THAT, FRED! YOU WILL WALK! YOU WILL!

GEE, DOC! IT WAS SWELL O' YOU TO COME! GUESS I HAD A LOT O' NERVE TO ASK YOU TO MAKE SUCH A LONG TRIP---

IT WAS ANNIE'S CRAZY IDEA, DOCTOR--I'M SORRY--BUT NO MATTER HOW GOOD YOU ARE THERE'S NOTHING CAN BE DONE--

HE WILL WALK AGAIN, DOCTOR--WON'T HE?

YOU, MY FRIEND, SHOULD HAVE THE FAITH AND HOPE OF THIS YOUNG LADY--BUT NOW LET US SEE WHAT THE FACTS ARE!

EXACTLY! ONE FACT I'D LIKE--WERE YOU REALLY THE OLIVER WARBUCKS' DOCTOR, THE WAY ANNIE SAYS?

YES! AND HIS FRIEND FOR MANY YEARS! AH! WE WILL TURN YOU, SO---

BUT, DOCTOR! MY BACK'S O. K.--IT'S MY LEGS--YOU'VE HARDLY LOOKED AT MY LEGS!

HM-M--YES--AH--THERE--DO YOU FEEL THAT, FRED?

HEY! YES! I--I FELT A TWITCH THEN--IN--IN MY LEFT FOOT! I DON'T GET IT!

BUT WHERE ARE WE? I STILL CAN NEVER USE MY LEGS--I KNOW THAT--

POSSIBLY NOT! WE WILL NOT GIVE UP SO EASILY, YOU AND I, EH, HONEY?

OH, I'LL NEVER GIVE UP! AND NOW--NOW I'M SURE--

AFTER YO-YO AND EMBER GOT THEIR BEARINGS, THEY HEADED ON TO THE SIERRA MADRE MOUNTAINS, SOUTH OF MONTERREY, MEXICO.

SMILIN JACK

HE DARED NOT LAND AT ANY AIRPORT FOR FEAR OF BEING CAUGHT!

LATER: YO-YO SPOTTED THE TOWERING PEAK THAT WAS THE LANDMARK FOR HIS GOLD CACHE!

SHUT UP--- I PROBABLY COULDN'T LAND IT IN AN AIRPORT, EITHER!

LATER, WE SEE RIPSAW REGAN, THE CARPENTER WHO HAS COME TO WORK ON JACK'S NEW EX-G.I. FLYING SCHOOL HANGAR.

RIPSAW, I HEAR YOU SAW A RECONVERTED C-47 MILLING AROUND DOWN IN SOUTH TEXAS, AS IF IT WERE LOST!

WELL, SIR, I DIDN'T THINK IT WAS IMPORTANT UNTIL I ARRIVED HERE AND HEARD THAT THERE'D BEEN A JAIL BREAK---

---AND THAT A C-47 WAS MISSING! I TOLD MR. JACK MARTIN ABOUT WHAT I'D SEEN!

I DIDN'T GET IT'S NC-NUMBER--- BUT I DID NOTICE SOME WORDS ON TH' NOSE WITH TWO BIG Y'S!

MR. MARTIN SAID THAT THE MISSING PLANE WAS NAMED MISS YO-YO!

---HE RUSHED OUT TO INFORM THE AUTHORITIES--- THE LAST I SAW OF THE PLANE IT WAS HEADING FOR THE BORDER!

YO-YO, HAS MY SISTER EMBER AND AN ACCUSED MURDERESS ABOARD!

MR. MARTIN SAID THAT THE MISSING PLANE WAS NAMED MISS YO-YO!

---HE RUSHED OUT TO INFORM THE AUTHORITIES--- THE LAST I SAW OF THE PLANE IT WAS HEADING FOR THE BORDER!

YO-YO HAS MY SISTER, EMBER AND AN ACCUSED MURDERESS ABOARD!
